Nixon Gets Model Bill On Crime

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate approved today and sent to the White House a model anticrime package for the nation's capital.

Alhough the bill's provisions would immediately affect only the District of Columbia, it was recommended to Congress by President Nixon as a possible model for state legislatures.

The most controversial sections of the bill were the "no-knock" and "preventive detention" sections, both of which had been recommended by President Nixon.

PROVOKE DEBATE

These two provisions, in addition to some less celebrated ones, provoked a week-long debate as a coalition of liberals and constitutional conservatives sought to stop the measure.

The "no knock" provision provides police can enter homes and buildings without notice, after obtaining a special warrant from a judge if they believe that evidence, primarily drugs, would otherwise be destroyed.

The pretrial detention provision permits a judge to hold for up to 60 days without bail pending trial a defendant accused of a violent crime if the judge thinks he might commit another violent offense if released.

Opponents also fought a section which permits court-ordered wiretapping in the investigation of major crimes, and another which transfers to adult court 16 and 17-year-olds, accused of crimes such as murder, armed robbery and forceable rape.

OTHER PROVISIONS

Other provisions never in question were a reorganization of the local courts, including the addition of 17 judges; the creation of a Washington, D.C. bail agency for people released pending trial; and a new public defender service system for the poor.

Sen. Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., floor manager of the bill, said the "no knock" provision only codified existing law and conformed to a Supreme Court decision allowing no-knock entry if a police officer feels his life would be endangered or evidence destroyed if his presence was made known.

Tydings also called the pretrial detention provision fully constitutional. He said the Eighth Amendment of the Constitution, concerning bail, is taken from the British bill of rights which he said "has always been interpreted in that country to authorize pretrial detention of dangerous persons."

He was challenged mainly by Sens. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., and Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., who termed both provisions unconstitutional.

NOT FOR THE DINING TABLE

Candlemaker Maxine De St. Aubin of San Rafael lights up her latest creation—a multicolored, 400-pound candle intended for display at the Trident Restaurant in Sausalito. The candle, three feet high and two feet wide, required 45 gallons of wax and took three weeks to make.

13 Radicals Indicted In Bombings

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A federal grand jury handed down indictments Thursday against 13 members of the radical Weatherman group on charges of conspiracy to commit bombings in four cities.

Attorney General John N. Mitchell said the indictment stemmed from an investigation begun after an explosion last March 6 destroyed a brownstone town house in New York City. The bombings cited in the indictments occurred in Chicago, New York, Detroit and Berkeley, Calif.

The indictment was returned by a grand jury in Detroit.

IN NEW YORK

According to the indictment, several of the 13 defendants were in the house in New York City when the explosion occurred. "Dynamite bombs were assembled" on the premises, the grand jury said. Three persons were killed in the explosion with only two positively identified.

A federal grand jury in Chicago indicted 12 members of Weathermen in April on charges of conspiracy and interstate travel to incite riots in that city last October. Only one of them, Linda Evans, has been apprehended. Miss Evans, 23, of Ft. Dodge, Iowa, and several of the Weatherman members indicted in April also were named in the Detroit indictment.

The 13 accused and 15 other persons named as co-conspirators, the indictment said, intended to "use bombs, destructive devices and explosives to destroy police installations and other civic, business and educational buildings throughout the country and to kill and injure persons therein."

The group was charged with agreeing to organize a central committee to direct bombing operations with members being assigned to Chicago, New York City, Detroit and Berkeley.

In addition, the indictment said, the group decided to establish "clandestine and underground 'locals,' consisting of three or four persons" which would be under the command of the "central committee" and which would carry out the actual bombing of police stations and other buildings.

DEFENDANTS NAMED

Named in the indictment were:

Miss Evans; Mark Rudd, 23, a leader in the Columbia University riots whose last known address was New York City; Bernadine Rae Dohrn, 28, lately of Oak Park, Ill.; William Charles Ayres, 25, lately of Chicago; Kathie Boudin, 27, lately of Chicago; Cathlyn Platt Wilkerson, 25, lately of Chicago.

Dianne Maria Donghi, 21, lately of New York City; Russell Todd Neufeld, 23, lately of Hempstad, New York; Jane Spielman, 23, of the Bronx, New York; Ronald David Fliegelman, 26, lately of Wyncote, Pa.; Naomi Ester Jaffe, 27, New York City; Robert Gaylord Burlingham, 24, of Suffern, New York, and Larry David Grathwohl, 23, whose last known address was Cincinnati.

Cong Seeking U.S. Coalition Support

First Real Break In Paris Talks

PARIS (UPI)—The Viet Cong, with Hanoi's approval appealed today for U.S. backing of a new coalition government in Saigon. And in a formal statement the Viet Cong said any other problem in the Vietnamese war can be settled if Washington withdraws its support of the present Saigon regime.

It was the most optimistic development in the deadlocked talks since they began on Jan. 19, 1969. Diplomatic observers said it appeared the Communist negotiators had assigned overall priority to negotiating with the United States on the possibility of forming a coalition from all factions.

President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam has always ruled out any possibility of cooperation with the Viet Cong. Diplomatic observers said Saigon has had the upper hand on Allied negotiating decisions concerning political matters since the talks began.

BACKS COALITION

Mme. Nruyen Thi Binh, Viet Cong foreign minister and chief negotiator in Paris, said in New Delhi Wednesday her movement would agree to a coalition that would include some members of the current Saigon government — specifically excluding Thieu, Vice President Nguyen Coa Ky and premier Thkan Thien Kheim.

Emerging from today's 76th Vietnam peace talks session, Viet Cong delegate Dinh Ba Thi said in a formal statement:

"The urgent question presently is the one which demands that the United States give up its support for the dictatorial and warlike administration of Theiu-Ky-Khiem in order to allow the South Vietnamese population to decide itself its own destiny without outside interference, and that it (the United States) puts an end to the inhuman penitentiary regime and to the barbarian acts of the American puppets in South Vietnam.

"CAN BE SETTLED".

"These urgent and basic problems having been resolved, any other problem relating to the stoppage of war in South Vietnam can be settled."

Before Thi read the formal statement the Communists had appealed for U.S. backing for a coalition government and said in private the issue was negotiable.

At the same time, Hanoi accused the United States of bombing and shelling North Vietnam for three days and said Washington must "assume all the consequences." This could include a new boycott of the peace talks if the attacks continue, observers said.

North Vietnamese delegate Nguyem Minh Vy called on U. S. acting delegation chief Philip CM Habib to discuss the Viet Cong's 10-point program, which includes the new coalition cabinet in Saigon.

FBI REPORT

Kent Guardsmen May Be Charged

AKRON, Ohio (UPI)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation has concluded the killing of four Kent State University students was "not necessary" and six National Guardsmen who fired the fatal shots could face criminal charges, the Akron Beacon Journal said today in a copyrighted article.

The FBI report, the newspaper said, also concluded that the shootings were "not in order" and the crowd of some 200 students could have been dispersed by more tear gas or would have broken up if the Guard had started making arrests.

The newspaper said the FBI reported the guardsmen would be charged if it is determined the confrontation was not a riot.

The Beacon Journal said the FBI findings suggest that because there was no immediate threat to life or property, the demonstrators would not be considered rioters.

The newspaper said the FBI has the names, addresses and ranks of the six Guardsmen whom it claims fired the fatal shots.

However, the Beacon Journal said if it was determined riot conditions existed, the Guardsmen could not be prosecuted.

The Justice Department will determine if charges will be filed.

The FBI report said the firing lasted 11 seconds and a total of 13 persons were struck by bullets. Four were hit in the front and the other nine in the side or back, the Beacon Journal said.

The newspaper said the report is signed by Jerris Leonard, Chief Of The Civil rights division in the Justice Department.

Demo Asks Ouster Of Two Pentagon Aides

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. William Moorhead, D-Pa., accused two high-level Pentagon officials today of breaches of security and called for their resignations.

The congressman also charged that the administration was seeking to "discredit, intimidate and silence" advocates of economy in defense spending.

The officials named by Moorhead were Jerry W. Friedheim, deputy assistant secretary of defense for public affairs, and Richard G. Capen Jr., assistant for congressional relations to Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird.

Moorhead's demands made at a news conference and in a speech prepared for delivery to the House, were the latest round in a dispute between the Defense Department and an informal group known as Members of Congress for Peace Through Law.

Last week, the department claimed that a report by 28 members recommending cutbacks in 14 major weapons systems contained classified material and that the group's leaders refused to submit it to the Pentagon in advance so that security details could be deleted.

Moorhead said he had learned that copies of a draft of the report somehow obtained by the Defense Department were distributed to selected members of the House and Senate Armed Services Committee, so that they could be ready to rebut it.

The copies sent to Capitol Hill, Moorhead said were not double wrapped, nor did they carry any classification stamp, both required by security regulations.

"I charge that this is an irresponsible manner in which to handle a situation if it were

Russians Plan Settlement Before Israeli Withdrawal

LONDON (UPI)—Authoritative Communist diplomatic sources said Thursday the new Soviet plan for a Middle East settlement contains large chunks of the American plan plus a revised version of the plan first offered by the Russians last January.

The Russians called for a detailed package plan, to be accepted by the Arabs and Israel, signed and sealed by them and guaranteed by the big powers before full Israeli withdrawal from occupied territory. Previously Russia asked for withdrawal first.

Although the American plan calls for a 90-day cease-fire, the Russian plan sets no time limit. It also calls for the creation of demilitarized zones and the use of the Suez Canal and the Tiran Strait by Israel, provisions of an earlier plan.

The diplomats said the Russian plan was worked out during the three-week visit to Moscow of Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser, who, they said, approved the plan. They said the Russians were "flexible" since failure to reach a settlement could bring a confrontation betwten the United States and Russia.

The sources said Russia would apply presure to Syria, which never recognized the 1967 U.N. resolution, and the Arab guerrillas who are intent on fighting their own battle. The guerrillas are expected to

Tear Gas Bombs Thrown From Gallery Into House Of Commons

LONDON (UPI) — A man shouting "Belfast, see how you like it," threw two tear gas bombs from the public gallery on to the floor of the House of Commons today.

Lawmakers, choking and coughing, fled from the chamber filled with billowing smoke and gas fumes.

The first bomb bounced across the floor of the chamber and rolled under the crowded opposition Labor Party front bench filled with Labor Party leaders. One of them, Mrs. Barbara Castle, secretary for employment and productivity in the former Labor government, was helped from the chamber.

The second bomb landed near the government front bench.

The speaker, Dr. Horace King, still wearing his robes and wig, was helped from the chamber by attendants and officials.

The bombs burned two holes in the green carpet to the right of the table in the center of the chamber.

A youngish man in the third row of the public gallery, wearing a brick colored pullover sweater was grabbed by attendants as he raised his arms and shouted.

Some witnesses understood him to shout "how do you like that, you bastards."

The man later was led away by police. He was not identified immediately.

It was the first known bombing of the House of Commons.

Spectators sitting in the gallery near the man pulled away from him as attendants rushed in to grab him.

Billowing clouds of smoke and gas filled the crowded chamber. Reporters who remained in the press gallery to see what was happening finally had to rush out with streaming eyes, burning throats and smarting lungs.

Most of the smoke and fumes rose to the press gallery. The visitors' gallery escaped most of the smoke clouds.

The explosions occurred just at the end of the daily Commons question period. Prime Minister Edward Heath was among those who had just finished answering questions. But he already had left the chamber.

The session was suspended indefinitely.

Two policemen at the main entrance refused to allow anyone who had not been in the building at the time of the explosions to enter it, even with police passes.

U.S. Paratroopers Abandon Base

SAIGON (UPI)—The U.S. Command announced today that American paratroopers had abandoned base camp Ripcord under fire and in the face of three months of heavy Communist pressure, a costly ambush on Wednesday and the loss of two giant helicopters.

The Wednesday ambush killed 12 paratroopers and wounded six in the costliest single battle for U.S. troops in three months. It was announced as the U.S. Command reported the loss of 66 Americans in combat last week had pushed the 10-year U.S. death toll in Indochina past the 43,000 mark.

At least 32 Americans of the U.S. 101st Airborne's 3rd Brigade have been killed and 148 wounded in ground action around the Ripcord outpost since July 1, and an unknown number of others have been killed or wounded in shelling attacks. The post is 25 miles west of Hue and near the Laotian border.

The command said evacuation of the base began Tuesday and was completed today with the aid of CH47 Chinook and UH1 troop-carrying helicopters under mortar, automatic weapons and small arms fire.

The U.S. Command said one of the Chinooks was shot down today with no loss of life but that the giant craft was destroyed by mortar fire.

The CH47 crash triggered an explosion of ammunition and there was "moderate to heavy damage," but the only injuries were aboard the helicopter.

Spokesmen said the Communists near the base on a hilltop seven miles east of the fog-shrouded A Shau Valley took "very heavy casualties and material losses" from U.S. air and artillery strikes but that it was decided to close it down.

"Ripcord's closing will provide additional troop units for offensive operations against the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese in Thua Thien province," a spokesman said.

In the ambush about a mile and a half from Ripcord, Communist infantry attacked a company-sized force with mortar, rocket grenades, and small arms fire, touching off a six-hour battle. The Americans called in artillery and repeated strikes by Air Force Super-sabre and Phantom fighter-bombers. Communist losses were unknown.

The weekly casualty report said a "continued decrease" in the level of Communist attacks appeared the main factor as South Vietnamese losses dropped slightly to 321 dead and 792 wounded, with guerrilla deaths put at 1,338.

Three Vietnamese civilians were reported killed and seven wounded Tuesday when they walked into a U.S. mine field north of Saigon and detonated one of the explosive devices. The incident is under investigation.

There were two Cambodian —Guerrilla troops blew up a bridge between Phnom Penh and Kompong Som, Cambodia's only deepwater port, during the night, blocking the flow of trucks carrying oil and supplies from the port to the capital.

—Prime Minister Lon Nol of Cambodia, concluding two days of talks with Thai officials in Bangkok, announced Thailand had agreed to send troops to Cambodia. He said he did not ask them how many or where they would be sent.

FACES QUESTIONING — A Cambodian soldier leads a Viet Cong prisoner into district headquarters at Kompong Speu for questioning. He was wounded and captured. Meanwhile in South Vietnam, U.S. paratroopers abandoned their base camp near Hue due to a new ambush and heavy Communist build-ups. (UPI Radiophoto)

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

India Pilgrims Drown

NEW DELHI (UPI)—A wall of water from an overflowing river in the Himalaya Mountains has drowned more than 200 persons, sweeping away a caravan of buses and other vehicles carrying them home from a religious pilgrimage.

Villagers near the Hindu shrine of Badrinath said it was the worst flooding on the Alaknanda River in 50 years.

Indian press reports said the motorcade, carrying 600 pilgrims from Badrinath, was halted by rising waters 40 miles south of the city Tuesday night. Nearly 400 persons scrambled up a hillside to safety before the surging waters swept away 15 buses, five taxicabs and two trucks.

Tour Bus Overturns

BRISBANE, Australia (UPI)—A bus loaded with tourists overturned today on Fraser Island, off the coast of the state of Queensland, killing seven persons and injuring 39 others.

Dawn Wilson of Melbourne, one of the injured passengers, said the bus was descending a steep hill when the driver tried to shift into low gear but failed. She said the bus gathered speed, hit a tree and overturned.

She said the bus broke in two, spilling the 45 passengers and driver into brush on either side of the roadway.

Agnew Won't Swap

WASHINGTAN (UPI) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew won't substitute for ABC commentator Paul Harvey.

Harvey suggested in a recent broadcast Agnew swap jobs with him for a day. Agnew didn't comment, but ABC News president Elmer Lower said Agnew wouldn't be allowed to be a commentator on ABC.

"Actually, under long-standing ABC news policy, news broadcasts and commentary are written and presented on the air only by professional newsmen, such as Paul Harvey, who are under contract to ABC," Lower said in a statement.

He said Harvey's suggestion was made in a light-heated manner."

Kentucky Jetport

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—The Louisville-Jefferson County Air Board has recommended six sites for a porposed $230 million intercontinental jetport to the Federal Aviation Administration. Airport director Foster V. Jones said none of the six sites are located in Jefferson County but are within 35 miles of downtown Louisville.

Crime Campaign Set

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Attorney General John N. Mitchell says the Nixon administration will try to wipe out organized crime in the United States before the country's 200th brithday in 1976.

"We hope the nation's bicentennial celebration can receive as a present the elimination of organized crime," Mitchell said Wednesday after presiding over the first session of the National Council on Organized Crime.

Mitchell said one-fourth of the estimated 5,000 Mafia leaders had already either been jailed or forced into retirement.

"We're making quite a dent," he said. "Some are retiring to Florida; others are incarcerated in jails. The top management is involved and you just can't replace top management."

Derailment Kills Six

GIOIA TAURO, Italy (UPI)—A passenger train jumped the tracks Wednesday near this Southern Italian seaside resort. Police said six persons were killed and 60 injured.

The dead included Franca Sardina, 21, of San Diego, Calif.

Flood Warnings Up

ATLANTA (UPI)—Remnants of tropical storm Becky dumped heavy rains on much of the Southeast and the Weather Bureau warned today of possible flash flooding in five states.

The Washington Weather Bureau issued flash flood watches for portions of northern Georgia, western South and North Carolina, southwestern Virginia and southeastern West Virginia.

The squally center of Becky, with maximum winds of 15 to 25 miles per hour, was near the northern Alabama-Georgia border early today, moving slowly north.

Goldwater Applauds

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Barry Goldwater says there wouldn't be any Vietnam war now if he had been elected president in 1964, or if more presidents had shown the courage of President Nixon when he invaded Cambodia.

"There might not be much of North Vietnam left, but we wouldn't have a war going on over there," Goldwater said Wednesday.

Goldwater made his remarks on the CBS radio show, Capitol Cloakroom.

Testimony Reveals Military Weapons Stolen, Then Sold

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Everything from bazookas to bomb components are being pilfered from West Coast military arsenals and bartered on the militants' black market, often in a straight swap for drugs, congressional testimony has revealed.

California officials, describing the "astonishing" disappearance of the iVetnam-bound weapons from guarded compounds, told a Senate subcommittee Wednesday even some police-confiscated weapons entrusted to the Army for safekeeping have vanished in recent months.

"I think it came as a great shock to the armed forces (to find out) just how much they were losing," said Charles A. O'Brien, California's chief deputy attorney general. "I don't think they had any notion there was such a demand for munitions."

In the fifth day of hearings on domestic terrorism, O'Brien told the Senate Investigations subcommittee how some stolen arms were eventually recovered by police in raids or through outright purchase by undercover agents.

One recent haul, he said, netted 94 pounds of plastic explosives, 39 grenades and 10 bazookas, all stolen from Fort Ord, Calif. He said agents "bought" it for $4,000.

"I found it astonishing that weapons in this amount could disappear from a military base," O'Brien said.

So, apparently, did subcommittee chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark. He ordered his staff to begin an "immediaee inquiry" into the theft, beginning at the Pentagon.

"This is more distressing than I thought it would be when I started these hearings," McClellan said.

Overpass Plunge Kills Father, Girl

LIVERMORE (UPI)—A station wagon plunged off a 40-foot high overpass Wednesday, killing Herman L. Guidry, 45, of Oakland and his daughter, Faye Etta, 13.

A California Highway Patrol officer said Guidry's car was hit from the rear by a car that was trying to pass him.

Guidry had been sandblaster at the Mare Island Naval Shipyard in Vallejo.

Ex-Mayor Of Newark, Four Others Guilty

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI)—Former Newark Mayor Hugh J. Addonizio and four others were convicted Wednesday on charges of extortion and conspiracy which the government called "cold-blooded, calculated" corruption in the state's largest city.

The Federal Court jury found all five defendants guilty on all counts in the 64-count indictment arising from a kickback scheme from which the defendants allegedly netted $1.4 million from companies doing business with the city of Newark.

The convictions carry maximum sentences of 1,280 years in jail and $640,000 in fines for each defendant. U.S. District Court Judge George H. Barlow set no date for sentencing.

Convicted with Addonizio were former city attorney Philip Gordon, former Public Works Director Anthony LaMorte and reputed Mafia figures Joseph Biancone and Ralph Vicaro.

The case for the defense was badly damaged by the testimony of key prosecution witness Paul Rigo, head of Constrad Inc., an engineering firm handling Newark city projects.

Rigo, an engineer, swore he personally handed over $225,000 on 63 different occasions to city officials, including one time when he handed $4,000 to Addonizio in the mayor's office at City Hall.

Cereals Under Attack On Nutrition Counts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Senate subcommittee was told today most brands of dry cereal provide little nutrition and many of the least nutritious brands cost the most and are advertised heavily on children's television shows.

Robert B. Choate, a civilian engineer who has worked on a number of government nutrition projects, said poor children particularly suffer as a result of misleading commercials equating strength and athletic prowess with a brand of breakfast cereal.

"The worst cereals are huckstered to the children on a totally antinutritional basis equating sweetness with health and ability, while the very few good cereals are sold to adults in a manner all but defying nutrient cost analysis," Choate said in testimony prepared for the Senate Consumers subcommittee.

Choate gave the subcommittee a study of 60 cereals. Forty of them, he said, have so little protein, iron, calcium, and vitamins that "they fatten but do little to prevent malnutrition."

Of the 60 brands, he said, "clearly the best from a nutrient standpoint" were Kellogg's Product 19, General Mills' Kaboom and General Mills' Total. He rated six others "nutritionally meritorious." They were Nabisco 100 Per Cent Bran; Quaker Oats Life; General Foods (Post) Fortified Oat Flakes; Kellogg's Special K; General Foods (Post) Super Sugar Crisp; and Kellogg's Sugar Smacks.

Some of the least nutritious brands, according to Choate's chart, were Nabisco Shredded Wheat; Quaker Oats shredded wheat; Kellogg's Sugar Frosted Flakes; General Foods (Post) Honeycomb; Ralston Purina Sugar Frosted Chex; Ralston Purina Corn Chex; General Foods Post Toasties; General Foods Post Krinkles, and Kellogg's Shredded Wheat.

Brief Recovery

SALEM, Ore. (UPI)—Police quickly recovered a bicycle a Willamette University student said had been stolen. But while police had it parked outside the station house it was stolen again.

Arab Willingness Aids Peace Effort

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Egypt's avowed willingness to stop shooting and start talking peace in the Middle East lent new emphasis today to the U.S. attempt to get the Arabs and Israelis headed toward a settlement.

President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt was expected to elaborate on his nation's response to the American plan this afternoon (noon EDT) in a major policy address marking the 18th anniversary of his rise to power.

Cairo delivered its initial reply Wednesday, asserting it was willing to accept the U.S. proposal for a temporary cease-fire along the Suez Canal while informal talks get under way with the Israelis under the supervision of the U.N. mediator, Ambassador Gunnar V. Jarring.

Egypt at the same time said it was standing firm on its demand for the withdrawal of all Israeli troops from territory captured in the 1967 war — something Tel Aviv has refused to do.

Official sources in both Cairo and Washington termed the Egyptian reply "positive" and Nixon Administration officials went ahead with plans to discuss it with the Israelis and Soviets. Israeli officials have said they cannot accept a temporary cease-fire along the canal without some guarantee the Egyptions and Soviets will not use the respite to build additional antiaircraft missile sites along the waterway.

A leading Israeli newspaper, Maariv, said in its morning edition the government already has decided to reject the plan but has not yet told the Nixon Administration. Government spokesmen denied it.

Yitzhak Rabin, the Israeli ambassador to Washington, was to return to Tel Aviv at the weekend for discussions on the U.S. plan. Israel said Wednesday it will have no reply until after Nasser's speech today. The Soviets, too, have withheld their response to the American plan even though they were said to have urged Nasser when he was in Moscow earlier this month to seek a political settlement.

Nasser returned to Egypt from the Soviet capital Friday, consulted with his aides and came up with the reply delivered Wednesday to Donald Bergus, the U.S. representative in Cairo, by foreign minister Mahoud Riad.

Riad later conferred separately with the Soviet and French ambassadors to Cairo on the response. His undersecretary, Salah jgohar, went to Amman and Damascus to tell Jordan and Syria about it.

Even as Cairo was asserting its willingness to enter indirect negotiations, its war minister, Gen. Mohamed Fawsi, warned the "enemy will not give up occupied territory until he is forced to do so."

"The enemy," he said, "thinks by those fierce raids (along the Suez Canal) and by the tons of bombs dropped that he can impose surrender on us."

The Egyptian general said in a message to his troops that the daily, Israeli air raids "have surpassed in intensity the worst battles of World War II."

Pot Count Dismissed, Search Ruled Illegal

A charge of possessing about eight plastic bags of marijuana and a small amount of hashish against Jacqueline Sabes, 23, of Gate 6½, Waldo Point, has been dismissed in Marin Municipal Court after Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. ruled the search of her houseboat was illegal.

Miss Sabes was arrested April 27 after drug agents armed with a search warrant went through the boat. They said they found marijuana throughout the boat and in her purse.

Greek Jet Hijackers In Custody In Cairo

CAIRO (UPI)—Egyptian officials have taken into custody six Arab guerrillas, including a blonde girl, who seized an Olympic Airways jet and held its passengers hostage in Athens until the Greek government promised to free seven Arabs from jail there.

The Olympic 727 jetliner flew back to Athens from Cairo early today with the five-member Greek crew aboard. The guerrillas had forced the plane to Cairo Wednesday night after releasing 53 passengers they held in the jet on the ground in Athens during nearly eight hours of negotiations with Greek officials.

The guerrillas got the promise Greece will release the seven jailed Arab commandos Aug. 22. Two of them are charged with killing a 2-year-old child in a grenade attack against the Athens office of El Al Israeli Airlines in November.

The Middle East News Agency (MENA) said the guerrillas were under guard as they left Cairo Airport but made no mention of whether they were jailed or whether charges were filed against them. Egyptian officials were questioning them.

New Trails Council Will Meet Tonight

Marin Trails Council, a newly formed organization to promote riding and hiking trails throughout Marin, will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the Edward K. Wachsman residence, 50 Palm Drive, San Rafael.

About 90 per cent of car thefts in the United States are committed by amateurs, says the National Automobile Club.

Army Approves Vaccine Against Meningitis Form

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army has approved general use of a vaccine against a sometimes-deadly form of meningtis that plagues military bases and kills children, the Army Surgeon General's office said today.

The vaccine has proved so effective in experiments with more than 30,000 volunteer recriuts that it has become an accepted Army vaccine and will be used during this winter's meningitis season, a spokesman said.

The caccine was tested on Army recruits beginning in January, 1969 at Ft. Dix, N.J.; Ft. Polk, La.; Ft. Knox, Ky.; Ft. Bragg, N.C., and Ft. Lewis, Wash. It is being used this week for the first time as an officially approved Army vaccine to stem an unusual summertime outbreak of meningitis at Ft. Dix, where about a dozen men were stricken with the disease that attacks the brain and nervous system.

From January 1967 to February 1970, Indian customs officials seized 251 reels of pornographic films being smuggled into the country, according to an official statement.

Reed Schools Ask Volunteers For Four Committees

Citizens interested in serving on any of the Reed School District's four standing committees have been asked to submit their names to Interim Supt. Stanley H. Friese.

Appointments to the committees expired June 30 and new members now are being sought to fill the vacancies on the finance, research and instructional assessment, school facility and transportation and drug abuse committees, Friese said.

Names will be submitted to the board of trustees for final selection, Friese said. He described the function of each committee:

Finance — Analyze the financial affairs of the district; Facilities — analyze the needs and maintenance of schools, grounds, equipment and transportation; Research — Analyze methods of evaluating instructional programs and evaluate existing programs; Drug Abuse — Study ways of combating drug abuse.

Here's A Burglar Who Was Thirsty

A burglar in San Anselmo stole the makings for a whale of a cocktail, police reported today.

Taken from the American Legion Log Cabin at Sonoma Avenue and Los Angeles Boulevard were 11 quarts of scotch whisky, 12 quarts of bourbon, 10 quarts of vodka, three quarts of gin, two quarts of brandy, two quarts of vermouth, two quarts of creme de menthe — and a blender.

The thief, who broke into the building between 10:30 p.m. Tuesday and 10 a.m. yesterday, also took two $10 checks and a supply of souvenir helmets, guns and knives.

Search Fails To Find Missing Man

An extensive search of the Green Gulch Ranch area yesterday by more than a dozen sheriff's deputies as well as bloodhounds failed to produce any trace of a 24-year-old Mill Valley man missing since Monday afternoon.

Duncan Greene was last seen when he left the Marin Community Mental Health Center at noon. His car was found Monday night on the ranch property, which is near Muir Beach.

Doctors at the mental health center said that Greene has been depressed for several months and described him as suicidal. Sheriff's officers said the search would continue today on a less intensive basis.

Officer Arrests Suspect At Dam

An 18-year-old Tamalpais Valley man was arrested today on suspicion of possessing marijuana after a Mill Valley policeman reportedly caught him smoking a pot cigarette at Cascade Reservoir.

Booked into county jail and held on $315 bail to appear in Marin Municipal Court today was Daniel Martin Klopf of 239 Green Street.

Police said an officer was checking the dam area for illegal campers at 7:20 a.m. when he saw Klopf sitting by the trail smoking a suspected pot cigarette. Two plastic bags containing a small amount of suspected marijuana were found in Klopf's pockets, police said.

TALKS

key to peace lies," Vy said. "One must say that it is now—as it always has been in the past—in the hands of the United States."

Diplomatic observers with access to Hanoi and Viet Cong delegations said their readiness to make concessions over the issue of a new administration in Saigon might lead to concessions from the opposite side of other points of the tangled military and political situation.

Habib called on the Communists to agree to an "impartial outside inspection" of prisoners of war camps and supply a complete list of prisoners. "This need is especially urgent in regard to those prisoners you hold in South Vietnam, whom you have not only refused to identify at all, but who have never been allowed to correspond with their families, despite the statements by your own representatives that they are permitted to do so," Habib said.

The Communists, however, ignored Habib's plea and pressed on with their coalition proposals and accusations of U. S. shelling in North Vietnam.

Vy said, "A certain number of communes have been shelled and bombed in the Democratic Republic of (North) Vietnam by planes and artillery based south of the 17th parallel for three days.

"The Nixon administration must assume full responsibility for the consequences arising from these grave acts," Vy said.

Thi said the South Vietnamese government has stepped up what he called "ferocious acts of terror" against the civilian population of the country. He did not elaborate.

His attacks on Washington's and Saigon's refusal to consider the Communist demand for a new coalition government in South Vietnam was taken by observers as indicating formation of such a coalition was a priority aim of the Hanoi and Viet Cong negotiators at this time.

Arrest Leads To Drug Probe

An 18-year-old San Anselmo girl was arrested yesterday on suspicion of possessing marijuana when her purse was searched after a suspected shoplift, San Rafael police reported today.

She was later cleared of the shoplift.

Marion Griffith Sproul of 251 Crescent Road, San Anselmo, was booked into Marin County Jail after a security agent of J.C. Penney Co., San Rafael, found the can of suspected pot, police reported.

Miss Sproul later gave a police officer more suspected marijuana from her purse, police said.

She was released on her own recognizance to appear in Marin Municipal Court tomorrow.

Marine's Appeal In Killings Denied

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Pfc. Samuel Green, 18, Cleveland, one of four Marines charged with the shooting deaths of 16 South Vietnamese women and children last February, has failed to win a temporary injunction blocking his court martial.

U. S. District Court Judge William K. Thomas ruled Wednesday that he could not grant the injunction until other legal action such as appealing the court martial verdict, has been taken.

The Cleveland Marine's attorney, James Chiara, claimed in the suit that Green acted on military orders and that no war had been declared by Congress. He also raised the question of the constitutional right of a trial by Green's peers.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)- The population of Alcatraz Island has increased by one, a papoose born to Mr. and Mrs. John Trundell and named "Wovoka" after a Paiute medicine man.

Sentencing Date Set In LSD Case

A sentencing date of Sept. 21 has been set in Marin Superior Court for Frank Joseph Bonomolo, 23, of Novato, who has pleaded guilty to a charge of selling LSD last year.

Bonomolo and his younger brother, George Tipton, 20, had been arrested in May, 1969, after drug agents said they had been running a drive-in style narcotic and drug sales business at their father's Novato service station.

Novato police said that the brothers offered a variety of drugs to young users and did a large amount of business in selling small amounts of illicit drugs to drive-up trade.

The younger brother, who pleaded guilty to selling marijuana, is serving a term in the Marin County Jail.

MIDEAST

comply with a truce if not actually agreeing to it.

At the same time, the Communist diplomats said Russia agreed to give Nasser more "defensive" MIG21s and SAM3 missiles but not offensive weapons since that could lead to a direct U.S.-Russian confrontation.

Broadly, the sources said the Russians call for this procedure:

—A truce of undefined length.

—Both the Arabs and Israel commit themselves "from the outset" to accept the U.N. Mideast resolution with calls for Israeli withdrawal from occupied Arab territory.

—The United States and Russia, and possibly Britain and France, to approve a detailed peace plan and procedure, to get U.N. mediator Gunnar V. Jarring to start negotiations as soon as possible with the two sides, on the Rhodes-type pattern of separate talks with each side and with very detailed outlines from the big powers;

—The Israelis to stand committed to withdraw from all occupied Arab lands, but negotiations on the future of some lands.

—The Gaza Strip, Sinai with the Canal Zone and, Shar El Sheikh which dominates the straits of Tiran to be demilitarized outright;

—The Golan Heights to be returned to Syria, not to be demilitarized, but "supervised" by a big power or U.N. force, while Jerusalem be returned to Jordan, apparently with some international safeguards for free access to holy places:

—The Palestinians to be given the west bank of the Jordan and aid in resettlement as well as readmission to Israel of some of them;

—Declarations of intent to be deposited with the United Nations and the big powers to guarantee the arrangements;

—They would include in effect the recognition of Israel and of agreed borders;

—Withdrawal would be phased. For instance, in the Canal Zone, the first phase under the Soviet plan provides for a pull back on either side by about 10 miles, the next by about the same distance etc.

Shop Is Given Sign Approval

The San Anselmo Design Review Committee last night approved plans submitted by Kaufman's Specialty Shop, 540 San Anselmo Avenue, for a canopy and portable sign on the store's frontage on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Also approved was a request by Senor Alfredo restaurant, 115 San Anselmo Avenue, to add a dracaena palm to a planting area.

The commission recommended approval of plans submitted for a Coinette Laundry at 11 Madrone Avenue, but ordered a roof sign structure removed from the building and a permanent irrigation plan submitted for planting areas.

MIAMI (UPI) — Police arrested a Miami cab driver early today on charges of killing two women in a tomato field Monday after the daylight robbery of the Coral Gables Western Union office.

The suspect, Milton Niport, 37, was arrested after he stepped off an airliner from Los Angeles at Miami's International Airport shortly after midnight.

A dozen officers were waiting at the debarking ramp when Niport stepped off the plane. He struggled briefly with the officers, but quickly was subdued.

Theft Conspiracy Count Admitted

Walter W. Daly, 37, San Francisco bartender, has pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of conspiring to commit burglary at the former Tiburon home of William Penn Patrick, cosmetics magnate.

A second charge of burglary against Daly was dismissed.

He is to appear in Superior Court Aug. 10 for setting a sentencing date.

Sheriff's deputies said two men entered the home at 5 Audrey Court on May 1 apparently looking for a safe kept there when Patrick lived in the house.

They forced the occupant, Bonnie Lee Hart, and a maid into a bedroom at gunpoint, according to deputies, and after failing to find a safe, left in a car stolen in Alto. Two other men waited in the car, officers said.

Daly was arrested after witnesses saw the men change cars and gave a description of the car registered to Daly. The other three men are still being sought.

critical to the national security," Moorhead declared. He said the two "appear to be guilty of breaches of security."

He also challenged the Pentagon to back up its charges by bringing legal action against himself and others who allegedly violated security laws.

Novato Mayor Douglas M. Merrill has asked all civic organizations interested in having a representative on the Novato Beautification Committee to contact City Mgr. Charles A. Brown. There are three vacancies on the committee.

Tiburon Panel Approves Red Hill Plan

Preliminary plans for a 95-unit townhouse development on Tiburon's Red Hill have been examined by the city's board of design review, planning director Wayne E. Moody has reported.

The townhouses would sell for about $70,000 and would be located on the top of the hill, board members were told Tuesday. A two-story parking garage would be built at the base of the hill and would serve to hold a portion of the slide-prone hill in place.

Moody said the plans call for funiculars to carry residents from the parking garage to the units.

The board members gave the project "their enthusiastic approval" and asked the applicant, Leonard Cahn, to work on details and bring the plans back when they are complete, Moody said.

The Tiburon design review board also:

OAKS — Approved plans for a six-unit apartment project in Mariner Oaks on the condition that the 35-foot-high roofs be lowered to 30 feet and that they be shingle.

PIZZA — Approved a three-square-foot sign for Biagio's Pizza, 15 Main Street, conditional on the city council's approval of an encroachment permit to allow the sign to extend over the sidewalk.

MOBIL — Denied Mobil Oil Co. permission for three signs to be placed on service islands at a station at Beach Road and Tiburon Boulevard.

ELECTION — Chose Allan Thompson as chairman to replace Peter MacGowan.

ORIGINAL AMERICAN

Prince Lighfoot Works Hard As Yurok Tribe Representative

By FRANCIS DOZIER JR.

Timm Williams of Fairfax is 46. But in a more profound sense he has been around for many more years than that.

He is an original American — a Yurok Indian.

In many ways Williams — widely know as Prince Lightfoot — is a living symbol of his people. He is the official spokesman for his tribe, which numbers approximately 36,000 and is scattered around the Hoopa Valley Reservation above Eureka in Del Norte County near the Trinity and Klamath rivers.

Williams has been employed by the Matson Navigation Co. in San Francisco for 15 years and is now chief documentation clerk in the records department of the export division.

But, unselfishly, he devotes his time toward the betterment of his people in every manner that is available to him.

Among his outside activities is as president of the California Reservation Indians Health Board, which is centered in Berkeley, a body which is endeavoring "in vain," he says, to contract with the federal government to have funds that are allotted for the health needs of the reservation Indian turned over to Indians.

"So far," he said, "we've only gotten one fourth of what we've asked for because they feel as they always have that Indians are not capable of managing their own affairs."

He also serves on the Marin County Human Rights Commission and formerly, served as that group's representative to the county youth commission.

Williams has been known as Prince Lightfoot to thousands of Stanford University football fans since 1951. He is the official mascot of the team, nicknamed the Indians.

An intensely proud man, he is loquacious but soft-spoken. Lately he has spoken out on one of the many problems that is bothering him and his people — hippie-types who imitate Indians.

"I like everyone else, call them hippies for want of a better word, but I generally like to stay clear of labels. These people are wearing their hair as long as they can, wearing beads and are quick to say that they are living like Indians and are put down by society for that reason.

"Well, I call them 'shoppers' who are 'shopping' for causes. This year it has been the Indian's cause; next year it might be something else. The black man's cause is pretty old to them, so who knows what cause they might take up next."

Williams says he tells groups in his travels and lecturers that imitation Indians can go home and cut their hair and take a good bath and then be accepted by society. But, the Indian, he says, can cut his hair and scrub his skin as hard as he can and he is still not accepted by the whole of America's society.

Yet, Williams said, imitators have, for the most part, been alienated from their families, whereas the Indian family is the most closely-knit social unit that you will find.

"The first regard of the Indian child was to pattern his life in the traditional tribal way so that his parents could be proud of him because he was proud of his parents," said Williams.

As to the future, Williams plans to continue his efforts to aid his people and expose their burdens.

"I am quite religious in my belief — I let God direct all my efforts," he said. "Each man was put on earth for a specific reason. You can look at my life's work and tell very well what my calling has been."

PREPARING FOR WINTER DOWNPOURS

Two Fairfax School District workmen, Fred Deneau and James E. Campbell, labor in Fairfax Creek at White Hill School to correct past erosion in advance of this winter's rains. San Anselmo City Councilman Warren R. Perry said Tuesday the creek bed had been enlarged to twice its original size and would dump tons of debris into Corte Madera Creek in San Anselmo. Fairfax Supt. H. Reginald Hammond, however, said yesterday riprap was installed and the creek realigned without increasing its size to "stabliize the situation." He predicted less erosion than in the past and said the tree at right and another might be saved by the $3,000 job. "There's no question in my mind that it (the creek) is in much better condition now," he said. (Independent-Journal photo)

Panel Studies Delinquency, Drug Curbs

School, probation and police officials have their roles in combatting juvenile delinquency and drug problems, but the key is to convince the juvenile himself.

This was the consensus of six members of the Juvenile Delinquency Prevention Commission who met yesterday in the Hall of Justice with Youth Coordinator Gwen M. Monroe.

Commissioners agreed that too often, each agency isolates itself from the others in dealing with delinquency and blames the others for not following through.

"Everybody seems to blame probation," said Gerald Green. "But look at the insurmountable problem. When parents, schools and police can't do anything more, they shove the problem onto probation and tell them, 'Okay, cure him'."

Rev. James Upshaw said the problem may appear insurmountable, but the commission must proceed on the assumption that some solution is possible.

Commissioners said they recognize that home environment and parents are major factors in delinquency, but in most cases, not much can be done about these.

They recounted experiences they had encountered during interviews they conducted with school, police, judicial and probation officials from April through June in an effort to pinpoint the juvenile delinquency problems and try to find solutions.

Chairman Gary Giacomini announced that yesterday's discussion will be continued at 4 p.m. Aug. 12 in Room 254 of the Hall of Justice. He said new officers for the next 12 months also will be nominated.

College District Trustees Discuss Tax-Bond Proposal

Marin Junior College District trustees last night discussed a tax-bond proposal that would finance the first stage of construction on a North Marin campus without increasing the present tax rate.

The plan was proposed by Thomas C. Place, mathematics instructor and president of the college cabinet. He said it has the unanimous approval of the cabinet, which includes deans and department heads.

It calls for two measures to be put before voters of the district Nov. 1:

1. A $17 million dollar bond issue to complete construction at the Kentfield campus to capacity of 5,000 students and build the Novato campus to capacity of 2,000 to 2,200. This would be amortized through a tax rate of about 17 cents.

2. Replacement of the present 35-cent construction tax with a 25-cent increase in the general operating tax rate (now at the statutory 35 cents per $100 assessed valuation).

The district last year levied an additional 7.8 cents under new legislation permitting an override, without voter approval, to produce matching funds for building projects financed in part by the state. The cabinet plan calls for dropping this.

Three of the four district trustees present at a discussion meeting is the college testing center seemed to favor the proposal. The fourth, Harry J. Moore of Novato, questioned the amounts and was unconvinced the program had been worked out for greatest benefit to the North Marin campus at least cost.

Dale A. Fleming, the college's director of planning, pointed out the $17 million would not be the total outlak for construction at the two campuses. That would be $27.5 million, but the additional funds would come from the state and federal governments.

Moore said he understood from previous discussions that 75 per cent of construction would be at Novato. Fleming said the program shows 57.4 per cent for the north campus and 42.6 per cent for Kentfield.

"We have spent many millions of dollars on the Kentfield campus and now we're talking about 42.6 per cent of $27 million more," objected Moore. "If we have to spend $11.5 million more down here, then let's provide more for the north campus."

Trustee Robert E. Rogers wondered whether the ballot measure could specify how much would be spent on each campus. Trustee Theodore C. Wellman proposed a board resolution setting forth what will be done with the money — similar to the resolution which accompanied the 35-cent tax increase proposal in 1962, binding the district to spend that money only on construction.

To iron out such proposals, and give the figures another close look, the board scheduled another session for Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the testing center. It will follow a session on equipment in the same room Monday at 8 p.m. There will be no regular board meeting next week, pointed out chairman Elizabeth M. Deedy.

Novato Council Plans Park Bond Election Third Time, No Date Set

(Ed. Note: this report of Tuesday' night's meeting of the Novato City Council did not appear in all copies of yesterday's Independent-Journal, and is therefore here reprinted.)

The Novato City Council urged on by citizens and special interest groups, decided last night to attempt a third bond issue election for park purchase and development.

The $850,000 issue proposed is for purchase of 67 acres of the O'Hair property at the corner of Novato Boulevard and Sutro Avenue, initial development of the property for use as a park and completion of Pioneer Memorial Park.

Voters defeated a $2.5 million park bond issue in January 1968, and a $2.3 million proposal to buy the same land and develop it failed in June after getting 53 per cent of the vote, with two-thirds voter approval needed.

The council made no decision as to whether to try to hold a special election on the bond issue in September or to place the issue on the November general election ballot.

City Mgr. Charles A. Brown told the council that a supreme court hearing set for October on a Massachusetts case could reduce the vote requirement for passage to 50 per cent plus one vote.

Councilman Wayne Womack said that he felt the issue could hurt the chances of a street bond issue urgently needed by the city, but he voted with the other council members to direct the city manager and staff to begin paperwork necessary to bring the bond issue to the polls.

"I don't want to be the obstructionist if it's the will of the community," Councilman George Quesada said, explaining why he voted to attempt the election though he favored acquisition of less expensive property between the O'Hair property and the Lion's Club Park.

Two representatives of the Novato Junior Chamber of Commerce, president Robert K. Madgett and vice-president Robert A. Anderson, told the council that state law required a petition with signatures totaling 15 per cent of the voters in the last gubernatorial election to hold the election if the issue proposed is found to be substantially similar to the issue in the June 2 election.

The Jaycees volunteered to circulate the petition to remove all doubt of the legality of the election.

Irving Perlman, of 1581 Hill Road, told the council he represented the North Marin Unit of the Marin Conservation League in advocating the acquisition as soon as possibly of the O'Hair property. He said the league preferred a park less developed than was proposed in previous bond issues.

Several other citizens spoke for the issue.

Leo R. Andrade, of 1510 Vallejo Avenue, opposed the issue because of cost in a city already faced with steeply rising taxes and proposed a smaller developed park with baseball diamonds, a tennis court and swimming pool surrounded by a strong fence to minimize policing problems in the area.

The city staff was directed to present a resolution to the council at a meeting at 8 p.m. next Tuesday to initiate scheduling of the election.

The Novato City Council also:

PIZZA HUT — Set a joint meeting of the council and planning commission Aug. 3 to study Ben Ostlind's renewed request to allow construction of a Pizza Hut restaurant at the corner of Machin and DeLong Avenues. It then placed the request on the Aug. 12 agenda for action, contingent upon receipt of a comprehensive downtown development master plan.

INTERCHANGE — Set for Tuesday discussion of the San Marin-Atherton Avenue interchange on the planned Highway 101 bypass with a representative of the state Division of Highways.

FILL DIRT — Directed Brown to request the highway department to prepare a map showing all proposed sources of fill dirt required for the Highway 101 bypass project.

REZONING — Denied San Marin Properties' request for rezoning of two parcels of land near the intersection of San Marin Drive and Ramon Way to multi-family with a deinsity of 29 units per acre.

PLANNED COMMUNITY — Placed on the Aug. 12 agenda discussion of means of enforcing current zoning for planned communities with greenbelts in areas in which ownership has been divided and for controlling division of land parcels in areas with planned community zoning.

ANNEXATION — Introduced an ordinance approving the annexation of two properties owned by John Kelly and Daniel Wise which are surrounded by incorporated areas. Kelly protested the annexation, but no majority protest was registered since Wise owns the larger parcel.

CLOSED SESSION — Held a closed session to discuss the possible hiring of a new employee.

Mill Valley Needs Items For Exhibit

An appeal for paintings, photos and memorabilia of pre-1900 Mill Valley to be used during the city's 70th birthday celebration was made last night by the city art commission.

Persons with such objects or other items of historical interest were urged to lend them to the city for inclusion in an exhibit which will be hung in the gallery of the public library on Sept. 4, commission chairman Lyman Emerson said.

Donations, which will be returned after the exhibit closes Sept. 25, may be brought to the library on Aug. 27 or will be picked up by art commission volunteers the next day. A form available from Emerson at 230 Miller Avenue explains the procedure.

Exhibits will be placed in various store windows as well as at the library, Emerson said. Models of early houses and the city's old mill and a vintage printing press will be included, he said.

The birthday celebration is a joint effort of the art commission, the Mill Valley Arts Guild, the Chamber of Commerce and Lucretia Little, city historian.

Skunk, Killed By Dog, To Get Rabies Test

A skunk that may have been rabid was killed by his dog at his yard at 1080 Rosalia Drive, Novato, Kenneth L. Bockrath reported Tuesday to Novato police.

The skunk was turned over to the Marin County Health Department for testing. Bockrath was advised to keep his dog confined until it was learned whether or not the skunk was rabid.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, speaking in French, was the first president to make a radio broadcast in a foreign language.

Marin City Residents Win Official Developer Position

The Marin Urban Development Association, a group of Marin City residents, will act as official purchaser and development of vacant lands in Marin City, the Marin County Housing Authority has decided.

The Marin County Redevelopment Agency approved the association as developer last week and the authority's approval, given at a special meeting yesterday, was the final step needed, Wallace K. Shepherd, interim director of the housing group, reported.

Shepherd said preliminary approval by both bodies will give the development association exclusive negotiating rights for development for nine months. During that time it will have to come up with a feasible project, he added.

The Marin County Housing Authority also:

CONTRACT — Awarded a contract for installation of ventilating fans in 300 units of public housing in Marin City to Alvis Allen and Sons of Marin City whose low bid for the work was $58,000.

SENIORS HOUSING — Approved a development program to provide 56 units of senior citizen housing in Tiburon and voted to forward the application for the $995,712 project to the Department of Housing and Urban development. Shepherd said the housing will be built by a private developer and purchased by the housing authority under the accelerated turnkey program.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Equality Bills For Women Advance

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Five bills aimed at ending alleged sexual discrimination in education were approved Wednesday night by the Senate Education Committee.

All the measures by Sen. Mervyn Dymally, D-Los Angeles, were sent to the finance committee on voice votes. They would:

—Require the state colleges and urge the University of California to review hiring practices and correct any inequities in the hiring and promotion of women.

—Require the state colleges and urge the university to take steps toward having women in their graduate schools "more nearly reflect the changing role of women in the professions."

—Require elementary and high school textbooks to "include accurate portrayals of both men and women."

Women favoring the bills told the committee that members of their sex were held back from hiring and advancement as professors and deans.

Professors tell women "they shouldn't get degrees but should have babies instead" charged Dr. Susan Ervin-Tripp of the university's Berkeley campus.

"Since Eve ate the apple women's progress has gone steadily downward," said Dr. Emily Card, a political science faculty member at the UC Irvine campus.

Miss Card said that because women earn less money than men, "women find that they are not in fact valued" and added they should have "equal rights to equal pay.'"

"I do feel oppressed," she said. "I feel like members of minority groups."

Jay Michael representing the university said the women's "allegations are mostly true."

He said that of 1,800 professors at Berkeley, 45 were women. Michael added it was possible "fewer women ought to become professors than men, fewer women prepare themselves to become professors than men."

Dymally voluntarilly killed two other bills calling for day child care centers at the university and colleges because of a shortage of state funds.

Another two measures calling for more women on the state Coordinating Council of Higher Education and its staff were held for a later hearing. Dymaliy said later, however, they had virtually no chance of approval.

UNRUH LOSES

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assemblyman Jess Unruh's absence from the legislature to campaign for governor has contributed to the defeat of his bill to prohibit new oil drilling in the Santa Barbara Channel.

The Assembly rejected the proposal Wednesday on a 40-22 vote, only one vote short of the 41 required for passage to the Senate.

Unruh, Democratic nominee for governor, was absent and reported by his campaign headquarters to be holding "private meetings" in Southern California when the vote occurred.

But Assemblyman Alan Sieroty, D-Beverly Hills, a co-author, kept the measure technically alive by announcing that he would seek to have the defeat reconsidered.

The bill calls for banning any new oil or gas drilling on state-owned tidelands in the scenic cnannel effective next April 1.

Additionally, it declares oil operations in the channel an "ultrahazardous activity," a condition which would hold an oil company strictly liable for any damage its operations caused.

BANS NAMES

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Publication of the names, addresses and phone numbers of police officers would be prohibited under a bill which won the approval Wednesday of the Assembly Criminal Procedure Committee.

The measure by Assemblyman William Campbell, R-Hacienda Heights, would ban publication with malicious intent and with intent to obstruct justice. It was sent to the floor on a split voice vote.

FIRST VETO

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan has vetoed a bill for the first time in the 1970 legislative session, refusing Wednesday to sign a measure by Sen. George Moscone, D-San Francisco.

The objective of the bill was to establish in law that an investigating officer testifying in a criminal trial is to be considered hostile to the defendant. An aide to Moscone said that presently the officer must be proven hostile in each case.

BILLBOARDS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill banning advertising billboards from California routes designated as "scenic highways" was approved 61-0 Wednesday by the Assembly and sent to the Senate.

Assemblyman George W. Milias, R-Gilroy, said his bill was designed to eliminate the "Joe's Place, Coca Cola, Pepsi Cola, 10 miles down the road" signs which dot California highways.

SMOG PLAN

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A seven-week-long impasse has crumbled in the Assembly with approval of a bill designed to get air pollution-causing lead out of gasoline by 1977.

The measure by Assemblyman Peter F. Schabarum, R-Covina, had been the object of a bitter tug-of-war among major oil companies which spilled from the Assembly floor to the back corridors and cloakrooms.

Some members complained that newspaper advertising campaigns designed to convince the legislature to take a tougher stand on removing lead from gasoline implied lawmakers had "sold out" to the oil industry.

The bill was passed to the Senate on a 62-5 vote Wednesday.

When it gained final approval it had been restored essentially to the same form in which it reached the Assembly floor June 8. However, Schabarum did tighten it to further reduce the amount of lead which could be contained in gasoline during the phaseout period before 1977.

MARRIAGES

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan Wednesday signed a bill aimed at making it more difficult for teen-agers to get married.

Authored by Republican Assemblyman James A. Hayes of Long Beach, the bill gives judges the power to order youngsters under 18 years old to receive counseling before being married. It does not change the current requirement that persons under 18 need the consent of their parents to marry.

REJECTED

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A bill requiring cities and counties to reject building permits, subdivisions or zoning changes which would cut off public access to the ocean or other large water areas was defeated Wednesday by the Assembly.

The bill by Assemblyman John Dunlap, D-Napa, was rejected on a 35-27 vote, with 41 votes needed for passage.

POLL TIME

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A bill closing the election polls at 7 p.m. instead of 8 p.m. was rejected Wednesday by the Assembly.

The measure by Assemblyman Paul Priolo, R-Pacific Palisades, was defeated on a 30-32 vote with 54 favorable votes needed for approval.

Under the bill, the polls would have been closed an hour earlier in areas like Los Angeles County where ballots are collected and taken to a central location for counting. Results could not be released until 8 p.m.

2-YEAR PLAN

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A measure allowing the California legislature to hold continuous two-year sessions moved to the Senate today after winning Assembly approval.

The proposed constitutional amendment by Speaker Robert T. Monagan, R-Tracy, received lower house passage Wednesday on a 55-4 vote, one vote more than it needed for passage.

The plan would make the legislature the nation's first state legislative body to adopt a modified congressional system for its session. It also requires legislative committees to hold virtually all their meetings in public.

DEDUCTIONS

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Birth control legislation limiting the number of children California parents can claim as state income tax deductions to two has passed the Senate Revenue and Taxation Committee.

Sen. Anthony Beilenson, D-Los Angeles, the author, told the committee Wednesday he believed the clear implication arising from the current system of tax credits for children "is that the state approves of couples having as many children as possible."

TAKING IT EASY

Two teen-agers involved in building an "instant park" at Adrian and Rosal ways in Santa Venetia take it easy while protecting newly laid sod from too early use. Neal Zappa (left) and Chey Deem, both 14, were among a group of 15 young teens hired by the Gallinas Village Community Services District to help turn what had been a weed grown and dusty lot into a grassy park. Many of the teen-agers received their first paychecks for the work. (Independent-Journal photo)

5 Years To Life For Bar Murder

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Earl Preston Paige, 51, of San Francisco, was sentenced to five years to life in prison yesterday in Sonoma County Superior Court for second-degree murder

Paige had pleaded guilty after the first-degree murder charge was reduced. Judge Kenneth M. Eymann also sentenced him to serve a concurrent term of up to 10 years for felony wife beating.

Paige was charged with the April 5 shooting death of John Robert Perry, 26, of Petaluma. The shooting took place in a Windsor bar when Paige found Perry sitting beside his estranged wife, Naomi, 49.

Paige had also been accused of kidnaping his wife after the shooting and assaulting her later in a Healdsburg motel where he accused her of romantic involvements with Perry.

Peck Withdraws Mental Health Post Application

Dr. Harris B. Peck yesterday formally withdrew his name fro;m consideration for the position of director of the Community Mental Health Center at Marin General Hospital.

In a telephone conversation with Ray K. Bollinger, hospital administrator, Peck said he was declining the position because his family preferred to remain in the Los Angeles area and because the mental health center lacked teaching affiliations with Bay Area universities.

Bolinger said the screening committee which recommended Peck would continue to recruit for the position.

Peck was told last week the position was no longer being held open for him, as he had delayed too long in reaching a decision.

2 Groups Agree On Sign To Lynwood Park

After three years of discussion, the Lynwood Park Improvement Association and the North Marin County Water District have agreed on a sign for the entrance to the area.

President Harold K. Blue on Tuesday told the association, according to secretary Sharon Colosi, that the sign on a traffic island at Sunset Parkway and South Novato Boulevard will be constructed within a few weeks.

The water district agreed to replace the sign it took down when it built a pumping station and fountain there three years ago, but there had been no agreement on design.

The association also put off to a future meeting a request by Babe Silva, head of a fund drive for a Novato boy's club, to help get membership pledges of $2 a month for the club, she said.

The club will not hold an August meeting, she said.

A rose, New Dawn, was the first plant in the U.S. to receive a patent in 1931.

YOU THINK YOU'VE GOT IT TOUGH!

Marinite Tells Bleak Tale Of Russia

By WAYNE RATLIFF

Think food prices are high?

How does $1.56 a dozen for very small, often rotten eggs or $2.28 a dozen for better eggs sound? How about oranges at 40 cents each in May or vodka at $8.80 a half liter, or little more than a pint.

Now, with prices like that, imagine making $110 a month and you have some idea what life is like for the average Soviet citizen, according to a Marinite who returned recently from six months in the Soviet Union.

George A. Logvy, a 34-year-old math, science and social studies teacher with Reed Union School District, was among 40 educators chosen from among 5,000 Russian-speaking applicants to represent the U.S. on a cultural exchange exhibit entitled "Education—USA."

Logvy, who lives at 242 Alameda de la Loma, Novato, said he went with a 20-man group that toured three areas where no U.S. exhibit had been permitted to tour previously — Baku, in the Azerbaijan Republic; Tashkent, Uzbek Republic; and a small academic and scientific community near Novosibirsk, Siberia.

The exhibit was attended by 10,000 to 12,000 people daily, six days a week, and there was opportunity for visiting other cities — including Moscow, Kiev, Leningrad, Novgorod, Tablisi and Samarkand — he said, and to talk to their people.

The Soviet Union, far from having solved its problems in producing enough consumer goods, is having more trouble than ever producing enough of some goods, particularly good, Logvy said.

He observed people standing in long lines in Novosibirsk to get horse meat sausage and frozen meat which was very fat and smelled bad, indicating that meat and eggs were items in extremely short supply in most areas of the Soviet Union. Vegetables were available only in season in most areas, and green onions were the only green vegetables always available, he said.

Logvy noted that there were no canned goods except herring in stores he saw, and that flour, sugar and similar staples were packed in poorly constructed sacks that were used over and over again. The coarse brown, grayish and white breads of the country were sold unwrapped, he said.

"The beer was terrible," he added with a smile, "but we drank it."

Wages in the Soviet Union are very low, Logvy said, with an average salary of 100 rubles a month ($110 at the official rate of exchange). Teachers, for example, get raises to 150 rubles a month after 25 years service. There is an income tax that amounts to about 13 per cent of most single persons' incomes, and there is an additional tax on couples who have no children, he said.

Special shops have been set up in larger Soviet cities for foreigners, Logvy said, offering lower prices — such as $2 a half-liter for vodka — and a selection of merchandise that is not available to the ordinary Soviet citizen without one of the mainstays of Soviet culture — "blat".

"Blat" is a polite Russian term for what we would call bribery, Logvy said, and the economy wouldn't work without it. It takes "blat" to get almost anything, from the papers necessary to get a job to the pass needed to travel outside a citizen's home town.

Cab drivers who don't happen to be going your way already can be made to see the light of reason by slipping them a little money, he said, and one can get almost bearable service in the State-owned restaurants with a little "blat."

Without it customers in restaurants can expect to spend at least three to four hours to get one meal. Waiters and waitresses tend to be surly, slow and highly unreliable; and customers are expected to avoid inconveniencing them by splitting the bill among different parties at the same table or not having exact change ready, he said.

Clothing is usually drab and poorly made, but the quality and quantity available is improving, he said. Cosmetics and similar luxury items are difficult to obtain. Only one color of nail polish is sold, and that in bottles without applicator brushes, he said.

Some interests of the young people appear to be much like those of their U.S. counterparts, according to Logvy. Long hair and bell-bottom trousers are in style, and there is much interest, usually frustrated by high cost or unavailability, in stylish clothing and music.

Blackmarket Beatles records, usually cheap reproductions on one-sided flexible plastic discs, sell for as high as 70 rubles. Imitations by German, Italian and even Russian groups are often passed off as genuine Beatle records.

Most popular music available in the Soviet Union is of the "big band" type, and many young people don't quite understand what rock music is, although they discuss it enthusiastically. Often their understanding of the genre is based on one or two records, Levy said.

Ecology does not appear to be much of a problem in the Soviet Union, Logvy noted. The people do take their wildlife seriously, but the smaller populations of most regions and lower level of industry keep man from being a serious threat to the environment yet.

The people seem to be unusually fond of children, and their love of flowers is apparent everywhere, he said. People give flowers as gifts, keep them in their homes and shops and even carry them on the streets, he said.

Individuals in the exhibit's audience very seldom would admit that the Soviet Union had any internal problems at all, including the shortage of food and other goods, Logvy said, but the people opened up when given opportunity to talk to the Americans alone.

Some problems brought up were the extremely high divorce rate, prevalence of problem drinkers, shortages of housing, poor health care, inefficiency of most public transportation (subways, where they exist, were highly praised, however), lack of entertainment and crowded schools, Logvy said.

Soviet people suffer from a lack of information about the outside world, particularly the U.S., Logvy said, and have a somewhat distorted picture of it.

When Logvy told one man he was from California, the man replied, "Oh yes, that's the place with the low houses."

Further conservation revealed that the man thought the rest of the country was covered with skyscrapers because there wasn't enough room to build smaller apartment houses or single family houses.

Some people are very concerned with the exploitation of our workers by bankers and worry about the safety of our people with all the gangsters having gunfights in the streets, Logvy said.

The general picture of the U.S. is that it is falling apart very rapidly, with constant rioting in the streets, extremely widespread unemployment and an economy on the brink of collapse. There is a generally positive view of California, however, especially San Francisco, he said.

It's 'Tut-Tut' On Loitering In Larkspur

Larkspur city fathers tut-tutted over the ill manners of loitering street people last night, but took no action on complaints by theater manager Richard Figeriod, speaking for himself and other downtown businessmen.

Probably the only solution would be a 24-hour downtown foot patrol and other action that would more than double the police department budget, City Mgr. Kent Bathurst said.

Figeriod complained that idle young "outstanding citizens" — as he termed them — were blocking firms' dorways, sitting on top of movie-goers' and shoppers' cars and spewing foul language.

"Am I supposed to take that kind of abuse from these people?" he demanded.

Police Chief Howard Clark explained there was little action to take, since court decisions have done away with old vagrancy and loitering laws.

"Those kids try you on for anything and everything . . . to heckle you and say, 'let's ride the Establishment'," Clark said.

Raymond C. Kesner, former council candidate in the audience, chimed in that public education was needed to force the courts to be less lenient with anti-Establishment youth. And, he said, "there are certain things that attract these people" to the theater area "including his own movies . . . I suggest he think about showing a different type of movie."

The Larkspur City Council also:

CLERK — Delayed to Aug. 5, action on Bathurst's recommendation that city clerk and city manager posts be combined; named Bathurst interim city clerk with Barbara Bruton as deputy, accepted the letter of resignation of City Clerk Judy Rae Beal and ordered a commendation resolution prepared for her.

ABAG — Voted to give Corte Madera Town Councilman Holmes S. Norville, the city's representative to the executive council of the Association of Bay Area Governments, a free hand to follow his own judgment in voting on the 1970-1990 Bay Regional Plan to be decided July 30.

LETTER — Replied to Raymond C. Kestner's letter urging withdrawal from ABAG by suggesting he circulate petitions for a vote on the regional plan.

CLOSED — After a 15-minute closed session with Bathurst on pending litigation over damage to Bon Air Bridge, took no action pending receipt of an Army Engineers report due early in August.

Councilman William G. Fleckles was absent.

Fairfax Parks Panel Seeks Bigger Budget

Fairfax Parks and Recreation Commission is seeking a capital improvements outlay of $24,965 more than six times the amount recommended in the city's proposed 1970-71 budget.

The disparity came under scrutiny last night as the Fairfax City Council, sometimes sidetracked by details, plodded through a four-hour review of the proposed public works and parks budgets.

Councilmen aroused the ire of the commissioners when they adjourned shortly before midnight by a 3-2 vote rather than continue into the recreation budget.

Commissioner David R. Seyler pointed out that part-time Recreation Director Anthony J. Barbera after a "lot of work" was ready to report, and felt it was the council's duty "to at least listen to him."

Seyler said that commissioners sat through two-and-a-half hours of discussion on the public works budget, and "as a courtesy" to them the council should take up the recreation budget.

Councilmen Lee Nelder, Robert R. Souza and Cornelis Van Vliet voted to adjourn while Francis J. O'Connell and Mayor Frank J. Egger opposed adjournment.

The motion to adjourn came after the council learned that the commission wasn't requesting a full-time recreation director, as previously believed, but asking for more time for a part-time director. Some councilmen felt this made discussion of the recreation budget less urgent.

Parks and recreation commissioners requested a parks budget of $41,471, allocated thus: $8,200 for implementing city park plans, $7,500 for purchase of toilets at city park, $7,500 for tennis court development, $1,000 for improvements to the recreation director's office and tiny tot areas, and the balance in operating expenses, including salaries.

City Administrator Frances Lestanguet, however recommended a parks budget of $18,725 (compared to $19,362 last year), allocated thus: $2,500 for implementing the park plan, $500 for toilets and the balance in operating expenses.

Councilmen agreed to review the proposed recreation budget, $14,661, as compared to $14,228 last year, at 8 p.m. next Wednesday (July 29) at the Fairfax Women's Club.

After lengthy discussion about a $250 item for Little League, the council voted to have the account designated Fairfax Little League Park Improvement.

Mayor Egger explained the funds go to the league only for improvements at the park, not as they had in the past for general use by the league.

Councilmen, reviewing the budget but taking no action, also pondered the proposed public works expenditures, engineering $4,500, streets, $80,815, and street lighting, $20,000.

Street Supt. Edgar Phillips requested an additional street maintenance man, pointing out he occasionally has to pull the mechanic off his post to help out.

He said he had only a two-man crew and when one man was sick or on vacation, he was left with one.

When council was reviewing proposed projects for the year, Phillips contended costs could be cut if the city crew were used rather than contracting for the jobs.

Councilmen asked Mrs. Lestanguet to look into the possibility of hiring an additional man on a temporary basis so jobs could be undertaken before the rainy season.

Mrs. Lestanquet proposed expending $930 for repair of Canyon Road, $5,820 for Arroyo Road bulkhead, and $3,500 for Meerna Avenue drainage.

Phillips also requested $5,000 for repair of Crest Road and $3,000 for repair of the bridge at Bridge Court, saying these costs could be cut if the work were done by the city crew.

The council adjourned until its next budget session at 8 p.m. Monday at the Fairfax Women's Club when the proposed general and police budgets will be reviewed.

Library Tieup Plans In Area Move Ahead

Larkspur and San Anselmo readers soon may be able freely to use each other's libraries — and the policy eventually may extend to mutual pacts between the two cities and San Rafael, Mill Valley and Sausalito.

The Larkspur City Council last night informally agreed to let the Larkspur Library Board go ahead with a mutual powers agreement with San Anselmo, recommended by Larkspur Librarian Richard A. Kilbourne and already informally approved by the San Anselmo council earlier this week.

Cooperation between the five municipal libraries eventually will give readers access to 225,000 volumes and save money by cutting down duplication in buying books for the participating libraries, Kilbourne told the council.

Book borrowers would be able to check out books from any participating library, but would have to return the volumes to the library from which they came.

90 Shows Open $4 Million Loss

NEW YORK (UPI)—In the 1969-70 season, 90 shows opened on and off Broadway. Figures indicate when the ledgers are completed, the shows will have lost nore than $4 million.

The state Attorney General's office said Wednesday the shows represent a total investment of about $12.5 million and have so far lost $1.4 million, and many of the shows have not yet made final tabulations.

The average capitalization for Broadway shows was $310,000, and the average for an off-Broadway production was $47,000.

Only 65 Broadway and off-Broadway productions are scheduled for the 1970-1971 season, the office said.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Annual Legislative Session Delays State Budget

California's second consecutive late budget caused the California Taxpayers' Association's Sacramento staff to do some digging into the records to find out how long the last-minute budget cliff-hanger has been going on.

It found that the first time the legislature continued arguing "up to the wire" over the budget was in 1959, Gov.Edmund G. Brown's first year in office. Governor Brown didn't get to sign his first budget until June 30 — the only year before 1965 when it was not adopted until the last day of the fiscal year.

IN BYGONE YEARS, however, it was not uncommon to complete the budget long before the deadline.

The taxpayer record-diggers went back as far as 1937, when Gov. Frank Merriam signed what was then a biennial budget on May 4.

Nine times since then, they found the budget has been signed in April. The earliest date was in 1950, when Gov. Earl Warren signed the budget on April Fool's Day. (We don't know whether that date was any more appropriate for the 1950 budget than it would have been for the 1970 one.)

Governor Warren signed the budget on April 21 in 1948. Gov. Goodwin J. Knight signed budgets on April 7 in 1954, April 13 in 1956, and April 27 in 1955. Governor Brown got two April budgets: April 23 in 1962 and April 25 in 1960.

FOUR OTHER budgets were signed in May, and 13 in June. (There are fewer budgets than years since 1937, as until 1947 the budget was biennial instead of annual.)

It remained for Gov. Ronald Reagan to be the first who did not receive a state budget until after the June 30 close of the fiscal year — on July 3 last year and July 4 this year. But the cliffhanger trend started before he took office. Governor Brown did not get the budget until June 30, the final day, in 1965 and 1966. Reagan got it on June 30 his first year, and one day earlier, June 29, in 1968.

What has brought about the change?

A probable reason seems to be the new system of legislative sessions.

Back in the biennial budget days, the legislature wanted to get the budget out of the way early so it could get down to other business. When annual budgets were instituted, the legislature still met only biennially to pass new laws. In the "off years," its session was solely to draw up the budget. With nothing else before them, the legislators went right to work on that job, and these "off years" produced most of the April budgets.

In 1966, the state constitution was changed to provide for annual legislative sessions. And every budget since than has been a "cliff hanger." Two out of four have failed to pass by deadline.

WE RECALL that there was much talk in promoting that change about how it would enable the legislature to be more businesslike and do a better job.

The opposite seems to have resulted. Annual legislative sessions seem to have accomplished principally three things: (1) They cost the people of California more money in pay for the legislators and their staffs. (2) They result in a late budget. (3) They result in a bigger budget.

Maybe this is a bit of "progress" we could do without.

Tires Re-Used

Tires are made to withstand destruction. This is excellent. Nobody wants to drive on tires which may disintegrate.

But it does create a problem which we can see almost everywhere we drive in this country: piles of used and virtually useless tires. In some underveloped countries, these tires are used as the soles of a sturdy sandal. But mostly they are left, like the hulks of the cars they once adorned, to litter some roadside lot.

Now, however, the Firestone Co. has started a distillation plant, which fractionally distills tires into their chemical components. It is expected to be an economic success. Eventually Firestone plans to have 10 such plants throughout the country, reclaiming hundreds of thousands of old tires.

Another healthy step in converting our society from a waste-maker into a conserver.

'Ban On Autos' Very Promptly Reduces Yosemite Park Crowds

By JACK COOPER

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — A week or so ago the people who run Yosemite Park made a small administrative change.

They barred automobiles from a part of the valley up near the Mirror Lake end, and put in some buses for those who enjoy scenery but not bunions.

A sort of internal management affair, you might think, and probably all to the good.

It might have gone almost unnoticed, except for the well-publicized jubilation of the enemies of the automobile.

THIS MINOR change in park regulations was promptly ballooned into a "victory over the automobile," or "the beginning of the end for automobiles" at Yosemite.

Just as promptly occupancy in overnight facilities in the park fell off as this message got abroad.

Last week end, at what is normally the height of the season, one-third of the rooms, cabins and whatnot were empty.

This ought to make it plain that any place Joe California can't get to by car is a place he doesn't want to go.

The most popular recreational activity, a federal survey showed a few years ago, is to pile into the car and go look at the scenery.

This offends certain purists, to whom scenery is to be enjoyed only afoot or on horseback. But it is true, nevertheless, and the best way to keep Yosemite empty for the exclusive enjoyment of packers and hikers would be actually to keep automobiles out.

IN OLDER TIMES, when the Sierra Club was concentrating on "rendering accessible the mountain regions of the Pacific Coast," the head of the National Park Service posed proudly for National Geographic Magazine at the opening of the Tioga Pass Road.

Of course, in those days, the automobile was not the ordinary man's transportation, as it is today. Ownership was pretty well limited to the well-heeled, and few dreamed of its future universality.

Psychologists might make something of the coincidence of universal automobile ownership and the decision of the Sierra Club and others that "accessibility" was no longer compatible with "preservation."

But the swift reaction of the public to what large numbers of it thought was a ban on autos at Yosemite is what interests us.

Shirley MacLaine has figured out seven "F" steps designed to make a man say yes: 1. Find him. 2. Fascinate him. 3. Flatter him. 4. Feed him. 5. Fuss over him. 6. Fondle him. 7. Frame him. If all of this fails to do the trick, adds Miss MacLaine, "forget him."

Can't Swallow 'Economy Upturn'

Hopefully you printed the headline in tonight's (July 20) I.J. with tongue in cheek.

Since the economy is not some abstract, esoteric concept but is people buying and selling goods and services, then any damn fool knows the economy can't take an "upturn" and unemployment in its present numbers continue to rise.

Either this administration is indulging in its same sorry non-think or this is simply elcetion year rhetoric aimed at what they can only believe is a gullible citizenry. Underestimating so many people is probably one of the things that "frightens" Mr. Chet Huntley. Frankly it scares the hell out of me too — especially when I realize Mr. Nixon's finger is so near THE button.

Honestly, now do you really believe the average Joe Blow is swallowing this drivel?

Letters Helping Hanoi's Prisoners

I was most pleased and thankful to see that you chose to reprint the editorial from the Pottsdown Mercury on the prisoners of war. I don't know if you are aware that the entire first three pages of their June 18 edition, which contained that editorial, consisted of some articles about the POW/MIA situation, but mostly it had letters and their Vietnamese translations from various Pottstown citizens asking for humane treatment and eventual return of prisoners of war. This particular edition had an exceptionally wide circulation, enabling people who copy in Vietnamese the letter they preferred.

The families of men held prisoner or missing in Southeast Asia honestly feel that a show of concern for our men from the American people will result in better treatment for their husbands and sons. Hanoi still refuses to abide by the Geneva Convention articles concerning POWs. However, since the letter-writing campaign really got under way last fall, we have seen some tangible results: 70 per cent of our men have been held prisoner over there has come out in the last seven months; over this six-year period, families were allowed to send only three packages to their men — in January Hanoi announced they would accept packages every other month. These may seem like small concessions, but we feel they are a direct result of the pressure for humane treatment of POWs being put on the Hanoi government by foreign governments and the American people.

North Vietnam has as much as stated that they can't understand what all the fuss is about over "only" 1,500 men. If every American who cares about the fate of the POWs would take the time to sit down and write a letter of concern, I am convinced that it would help to ensure that these men survive their captivity.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Senator Tydings, Fighting Crime, Alienates Both Left And Right

WASHINGTON — Cannon to the right of him, to the left of him — that is the beleaguered position of Maryland's Sen. Joseph Tydings. On the one hand he is the sponsor of the District of Colombia Crime Bill with its no-knock and preventive arrest provisions so odious to liberals. On the other he is under intensive fire from the gun lobby, determined to defeat him in November for sponsoring a gun-registration proposal bottled up in committee for two years.

If he succeeds in putting over the crime bill, as he thinks he can, Tydings will have alienated the liberal and perhaps also part of the black vote. They will either stay home on election day or go for his Republican opponent, who is likely to be Rep. J. Glenn Beall Jr., in his first term in the House.

TYDINGS MAKES the case that the crime bill does no more than write into law — and more equitably — practices that today are discriminatory. High bail set in hundreds of cases is, in effect, preventive detention, since the judge knows the suspect cannot make bail. He is held to insure that if turned loose he does not commit another crime.

Many senators on both sides of the aisle reject this rationalization. Few issues over the years have stirred such profound fear of the repressive arm of government breaking through the constitutional guarantees of freedom for the individual. This deep-seated concern has produced a curious combination. Sen. Sam J. Ervin of North Carolina, a Democrat and strict constructionist, joined with Sen. Charles E. Goodell of New York, one of the most liberal members of his party, to introduce a substitute measure.

It contains all the fundamental reforms to end the abuses in the clogged district courts while eliminating no-knock, preventive detention, extension of the right to wire-tap, and other provisions liberals consider so destructive of basic American freedoms. The issue has a thrust far beyond the District of Columbia, since if the restrictive measure is passed it will be taken as a model in many states.

TYDINGS REGARDS his gun-registration proposal as simply another piece in the fight against crime.

But the emotion it generates, fanned by one of the most powerful lobbies in the country, could defeat him. An organization called Citizens Against Tydings is raising money throughout the country. A flier for a rifle association in Medford, Ore., carried this appeal: "Help defeat Sen. Tydings. Buy a raffle ticket." Similar appeals are being made in many states.

Powerful as the gun lobby is, it is difficult to pinpoint its leverage and its resources. A spokesman for the National Rifle Association, with its 1,200,000 members, disclaims lobbying actively for or against candidates.

A careful survey by Congressional Quarterly showed the indirect, if not the direct, power of NRA. The association's magazine, the American Rifleman, can generage great opposition to any gun measure whether state or federal. An NRA official said that perhaps half a million letters stimulated by the Rifleman would be a good guess.

MARYLAND'S politics are strange, to say the least. One of Tydings's opponents in the primary is George P. Mahoney, the perennial candidate who finances his runs out of his construction fortune. In 1966 Mahoney conducted an openly racist campaign with the result that many Democrats voted for the Republican, Spiro T. Agnew, who was the winner.

Surely, Mahoney should rest on the claim that he gave the nation the most controversial vice president in history.

Law Enforcement And Cascade Dam

What a fuzzed-up kettle of caterpillars that Cascade Dam question is getting to be. . .

It is about time the silent majority real property owners voice their candid opinion on such a vital question. This to keep our Mill Valley environs neat, decent and beautiful. Only the property owners are stuck with the high cost of the cleanup and damage done. This by a crusty breed of raucus interlopers. . .

The silent taxed real property owners through our silence now reap contempt by these free-loaders. They feel they are in the saddle. . .At the next meeting the night the Cascade trespass law was disguised was George Kervin, a member of Mill Valley Youth Commission. . ."If people get arrested, it would bring the wrath of the Mill Valley youth," he said.

One is led to believe in that stupid statement a veiled threat against law enforcement. . .

Mayor (George) Wickham had a valid point, said, "A fire in the Cascade Dam area would be a catastrophe to those who disagree or agree, who live in that area."

We property taxpayers regardless must see that our budgeters do some hard pencil work on other budgets. This to find the wherewith to revitalize our police force by adding more men to it. We property owners have silently vegetated in slumber far too long. We better wake up!. . .

University Off On An Ego Trip

I would like to commend your editorial of July 22 on the University of California. As a very dissatisfied U.C. student who is withdrawing from the university for that reason, I can only say that the university does a very poor job of educating people. The university is on an ego-trip, concerned only with its prestige, its research, and a few of its top students. As suggested recently through the criticisms of some members of the regents, the university seems to measure its standards by how many it can flunk out rather than how many it can educate.

Dictator 'Friend Of Poor' Menaces Bogota Regime

By PHIL NEWSOM UPI Foreign News Analyst

Fusagasuga is a city of 60,000 which calls itself the city of flowers. It lies about half way along the road which runs steeply down the mountainside from Colombia's capital, Bogota.

It is the home of Luis Lombana, a heavy-set, grizzled man who is the owner of a small restaurant. His friend Jaime Ortiz is a flower merchant.

They grumble against President Carlos Lleras and the political conservative who is to succeed him on Aug. 7, 46-year-old Misael Pastrana Borrero. They long for the return of former dictator Gen. Gustavo Rojas Pinilla who, they recall, built the highway through Fusagasuga the better to reach his own town at the foot of the mountain, Melgar.

They grumble about the gasoline tax and tight money. Lombana recalls that under Rojas a man could buy a lunch for one and a half pesos. Now it is around 10.

THEY ARE AMONG those upon whom Rojas and his field manager daughter, Sen. Maria Eugenia Morena-diaz, count to send rivers of blood flowing through Colombia until Rojas regains his former power.

Rojas claims last April's election was stolen from him and has declared that until he is declared winner of the election, "There will be no peace in Colombia again."

Rojas, considered by his critics as one of Latin America's most ruthless dictators in recent years, was one of four candidates running under Colombia's unique political system which dictates that the office of president must alternate between a Liberal and a Conservative every four years.

THE SYSTEM came into being after Rojas' forced resignation in 1957. He had taken over in 1953 at the request of the political parties after a breakdown of the constitutional system and years of violence in which tens of thousands died.

Rojas ruled by decree, ended press freedoms and built up a feared secret police force. Finally forced out in 1957, he went into exile, returning a year later to be convicted of corruption, to serve two years in prison and to be deprived of his political rights.

The Colombian supreme court restored his rights in 1967.

Now 70, he turned the 1970 election campaign into a class struggle. He appealed to the poor against what loosely could be called the establishment. He promised to reduce taxes and increase government spending on education. He also promised free medical and dental care for the poor.

UNFORTUNATELY, there was just enough truth in his allegations to make his campaign a powerful one.

In Bogota, unemployment stands at around 12 per cent, although there are no accurate figures. In a country of 20 million people, more than 70 per cent of the goods and services go to 25 per cent of the population.

Lleras has won the admiration of businessmen, bankers and the upper middle-class at home, and of international organizations abroad for his successful development of the Colombian economy. On the other hand, Rojas won his support from the lower middle-class and the urban poor who have been squeezed by taxes and creeping inflation.

It was against Rojas' threat to take power by violence if necessary that Lleras, on the eve of the opening of congress Monday, declared a state of emergency.

ART BUCHWALD

Sorrowful Spot Above Potomac: Burial Ground For Dead Reports

WASHINGTON — This is a government of reports and studies. No matter what happens in this nation, the first solution is to appoint a commission to study it. The commissions take one year, two years, some even longer, and then they make their report to the President. If the President agrees with the report, it's released to the nation. If he or his staff disagrees with it, it's buried. But where?

Just by chance I discovered the secret burial grounds of reports and studies made by presidential commissions. The cemetery is located on a hill overlooking the upper Potomac. It is quiet and deserted, and only the chirping of birds or the call of a hoot owl can be heard.

MR. GOTTFRIED Snellenbach has been caretaker of the burial area for government reports since the Harding administration, and after I assured him I would not dig up any of the graves, he let me enter the large well-kept grounds.

"We've got some of the great reports of all times buried here," Mr. Snellenbach said. "We've got reports that cost $20 million, and we've got reports that cost $2,000, but in the end they all wind up here, buried six feet under."

"Sir, what kind of reports are resting here?"

"It might be better to ask what kind of reports aren't buried here. We have reports on violence, studies on blacks, students, unemployment, the economy, the Communist threat, housing, health care, law and order. You name it, and we've buried it."

"HOW DOES a report find its final resting spot in this setting?"

"Well, as you know, the President is always appointing a commission to study something or other, and after the study they're supposed to hand in a report. Now, lots of times the President has no intention of paying any attention to the report, and it's dead before it's even written. Other times someone on the President's staff reads a report handed in by a commission and says: 'This stuff is dynamite. We have to kill it.'

"In some cases the President says 'Let's release this report to the press and then bury it.' Occasionally a report will just die of heartbreak because nobody pays any attention to it.

"IN ANY CASE, after the report is dead, it has to be buried, because if you're President you don't want someone finding it at a later date and using it against you.

"So every week each report that has died is placed in a pine box and loaded on a government hearse and brought up here, where we have a simple ceremony before lowering it into the ground.

"If it's a blue-ribbon panel report that's been killed in action, we give it a 21-gun salute. Otherwise, we lay it to rest with as little fuss as possible."

"THIS CEMETERY goes for miles and miles," I said.

"No one knows how many reports have been buried here by the different presidents."

"Mr. Snellenbach, this is a beautiful cemetery and very impressive. But why does the government go to so much trouble and expense to keep it up for nothing more than paper reports?"

"You must understand that most of the men asked to serve on presidential commissions are very important citizens. They spend months and years working on these reports, and they feel very close to them. When their reports are killed or buried, these men feel a personal loss. Many days you will see them sitting here next to the tombstones of their studies, tears rolling down their cheeks. No matter how long you work here, it still gets to you."

Swim Ban Imposed At Kent Lake

Because of critical fire danger, the Marin Municipal Water District board yesterday banned swimmers in the spillway area below Kent Lake and prohibited all fires on the district's watershed lands.

The swimming ban is a roundabout way of preventing cars from parking on the road from Sir Francis Drake Boulevard up to the spillway.

Although "no parking" signs have been posted on the road, Marin County Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom reported in a letter to the board that as many as 40 and 50 cars a day are parking there anyway.

Bloom's letter called the Kent Lake and Bolinas Ridge area "one of the most critical parts of the county" and said that with cars on the road it would take at least 30 minutes for fire fighting equipment to get through.

William R. Seeger, general manager of the water district, in recommending the swimming ban to the board, said the cars belonged to swimmers as well as to those who drive up to see the swimmers.

Part of the problem, Seeger said, is that the swimmers are not always clothed.

"Sometimes it's a terrible and horrible place to be," he said in reference to the nudes.

The prohibition of fires on district lands is effective immediately and will remain in force until Jan. 1, 1971. Exempted are the picnic area at Lake Lagunitas and the area near the log cabin at Phoenix Lake.

The Marin Municipal Water District board also:

TANK — Awarded to the low bid of $71,225 from General American Transportation Co. of San Francisco a contract for construction of the Escalle water tank in Larkspur.

ATTORNEYS — Approved payment of $200 in attorney's fees to the San Rafael firm of Riede and Elliott for services in conjunction with criminal charges brought against the district stemming from the killing of about 3,000 fish earlier this year. The charges were later dropped.

FINANCE — Approved a joint agreement engaging the San Francisco firm of Stone and Youngberg as financial consultant on the Sonoma-Marin Aqueduct project. The district is undertaking the project with the Sonoma County Water Agency and the North Marin Water District.

BONDS — Generally approved a contract to engage Stone and Youngberg as financial consultant for the district's own $50 million bond program, but held over official approval until certain revisions are incorporated into the contract.

TANK — Directed Seeger to negotiate a fee with San Rafael appraiser Edward P. Morphy for appraisal of land needed by the district for construction of a water tank on White Hill near Fairfax.

WEEK — Declared Aug. 9-15 "Willing Water Week" and urged citizens to develop a wider understanding of the "contributions, the services and the future needs" of the district.

MEETING — Adjourned to its next regular meeting at 1:30 p.m. Aug. 12. A continuation of a public hearing on the district's intention to form an improvement district to provide sewerage facilities in Southern Marin is scheduled for 8 p.m. that night.

Egypt Ready To Talk Peace With Conditions

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Egypt was reported ready today to discuss a negotiated peace in the Middle East—with conditions. But the conflict went on, and Israeli planes bombed Egypt's Suez Canal defenses today for the 63rd consecutive day and struck guerrilla bases in Jordan.

The official Egyptian position was to be set forth by President Gamal Abdel Nasser in a speech marking the 18th anniversary of his rise to power. The Cairo speech at 12:30 p.m. EDT was being broadcast throughout the Middle East by radio and television.

One interpretation of Egyptian policy came today from the official Communist newspaper Pravda in Moscow which said Egypt is prepared for the first time to acknowledge the existence of Israel as an independent state.

With this optimistic report came a statement in the Soviet army publication Red Star which said fortification of Egypt's Suez Canal antiaircraft defenses was proceeding apace in a buildup that has helped Egypt break Israel's mastery of the air.

In Washington, the Nixon administration was reported pleased by Egypt's "positive" response to a Mideast peace proposal made by Secretary of State William P. Rogers. But it was acknowledged the over-all outlook for the proposal remained uncertain.

There were several snags. Egypt maintains that the 1967 U.N. Security Council resolution which helped end the Six Day War called for the withdrawal of Israeli forces from "all" captured territory. Israel and many other nations do not see it this way.

Another snag was in Rogers' proposal for a three-month cease-fire to permit United Nations peace efforts to get moving.

Reports On Water District Bond Projects Given Nod

In preparation for an $11.5 million bond election this November, the Marin Municipal Water District board yesterday approved two reports outlining projects to be financed by the bonds.

Gen. Mgr. William R. Seeger presented the reports to the board and explained the two projects: a three-year district facilities improvement program and the first stage of the Marin section of the Marin-Sonoma Aqueduct from the Russian River.

The first stage of the aqueduct project calls for $4 million to construct a pipeline connecting North Marin Water District facilities in Novato with Marin Municipal facilities at Hamilton Air Force Base.

The district improvement program through 1974 allocates $1,280,500 for transmission mains; $2,789,880 for distribution systems; $1,520,000 for storage tanks; $292,500 for pumping plants; $195,000 for increasing the district's centralized control capabilities, and $1,300,000 for enlarging the San Geronimo treatment plant.

As was done when the board approved a 25 per cent water rate increase earlier this month, members of the board yesterday said they had no choice but to approve the projects.

In addition to the November bond election, the board has already approved in principle four more bond elections in the next 20 years to finance a total of $21,533,600 in district improvements and the district's $30,378,000 share of the Russian River water plan.

$100 Burglar Damage

A burglar who did $100 damage when breaking into Adaline E. Kent School in Kentfield during the weekend apparently stole nothing, sheriff's deputies said yesterday.

No Charge In Mishap

No charge has been filed in Marin Municipal Court against Paul Edward Giampaoli, 21, of Fairfax, arrested July 12 on suspicion of felony drunken driving after a one-car accident in San Rafael.

AT THE KNEE HEM LENGTHS SHOWN IN FASHION OPENER

The Junior League of San Francisco first participated in the outdoor fashion luncheons presented by the Northgate Group of the Marin Art and Garden Center in 1947 when 35 guests enjoyed the shaded center grounds in Ross. Yesterday Junior Leaguers and two members of the Northgate Group were models for the first in this summer's series of six luncheons. Mrs. William Morris models a striped nylon shell in navy and white with a navy skirt.

WEARING a pewter and white check dress of a wool blend is Mrs. Robert Clark, a member of the Junior League of San Francisco, who modeled several ensembles at the fashion show yesterday in Ross. Junior League members also were waitresses.

Deaths By Poison Rise

CHICAGO (UPI) —Children will eat anything, poisonous or not, cautions a child safety consultant for the National Safety Council.

Consultant Richard Winsor said that more than 2,200 persons, one-fourth of them under five years of age, died in 1967 from swallowing poisonous household products.

Home poisoning deaths from all types of liquids and solids increased 6 per cent to 1,800 from 1,700 that year Council statistics show.

With the increasing number of potentially toxic household products and medicines on the market each year, these figures may increase even more unless mothers take the necessary precautions to protect their children," Winsor said.

In homes where children are in the crawling, climbing or toddling stages, products such as cleansers, detergents, wax and bleach should be stored on high shelves rather than in those under the sink, Winsor said.

MRS. JOHN Busterud models another navy and white outfit. This one is a dress with a six-gore shirt and button belt. Over 400 women and special guests, the Ross Town Council, enjoyed a salad luncheon and strawberry shortcake under sunny skies and 68 degree temperature.

A WHITE RIBBED knit sweater dress was modeled by. Mrs. Charlene Dorst at the fashion show in Ross yesterday to the delight of over 400 guests who applauded when it was announced that there would be no midis shown.

Women's Lib Bill Expected To Pass

By RAY MOSELEY

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Women's liberation has come to Congress. It could produce a revolution in the country's laws, with such consequences as:

—Women drafted into the Army.

—State laws intended to protect women workers wiped off the books.

—Men's colleges forced to accept women.

—Men allowed to collect alimony and child-support payments from their divorced wives.

A proposed constitutional amendment for women's rights, that could have all the above consequences, has been collecting cobwebs in Congress for 47 years. But now both the House and Senate are preparing to act and a prime sponsor, Rep. Martha Griffiths, D-Mich., said "I think it will pass."

The amendment would read: "Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex. Congress and the several states shall have power within their respectice jurisdictions to enforce this article by appropriate legislation."

Mrs. Griffiths has collected 218 signatures, a necessary majority, on a petition to bring the proposal out of the House Judiciary Committee. She plans to force a vote on the petition Aug. 10. If the vote carries as expected, she hopes to muster the necessary two-thirds vote in the House for adoption of the proposed amendment that same day.

Meantime, a Senate Constitutional Amendments subcommittee has scheduled a vote on the proposal Thursday and a committee source said "more than enough votes" are assured for passage. Seventy-nine senators, well over the necessary two-thirds, are cosponsoring it.

If Congress adopts the proposal, three-fourths of the states must ratify it before it could become part of the Constitution.

Support comes from such varied groups as the Women's Liberation Movement and the President's Task Force on Women's Rights and Responsibilities. Opposition is led by the powerful AFL-CIO and includes Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee.

"In my opinion," said Mrs. Griffiths, "it probably will make women draftable. But if we are going to abolish the draft and have an all-volunteer army, we probably will have about the same number of women in service that we have now."

She agreed with Celler that protection laws for women workers would be nullified by her amendment but thinks "all of them should be thrown out." Laws that bar women

Designer's Theatrical Show Called One Of Paris' Best

By ALINE MOSBY

PARIS (UPI)—Since Bernard Cornfeld bought into the quiet designing house of Guy LaRoche, it has changed abruptly into one of the liveliest in Paris.

For one thing, LaRoche's winter collection unveiled today —all on a Russian and Central Asian theme—was praised fervently by press and buyers as one of the best in Paris. The Mongolian style coats and Russian peasant dresses, looking like costumes of the Moiseyev Folk Dance Troupe of Moscow, were a far cry from the less inspired LaRoche of yore.

And for the second season LaRoche's male and female models displayed the clothes in a theatrical show in front of three movie screens that showed proper backgrounds for closeups of the outfits.

The show was witty and clever. The male models did a satire on marijuana smokers and sauntered out reading Playboy magazine. The mannequins cried to sad music, acted out little humorous or romantic plots, danced or clowned. All in all, the LaRoche style parade was the best show in Paris.

A LaROCHE spokesman insisted the clothes and spectacle were LaRoche's ideas and not those of Cornfeld, recently deposed head of the Investors Overseas Service (IOS). But the long arm of some showman was evident in the presentation, for example, of a film showing two girls dancing in peasant inspired suits and then running out in real life onto the stage.

LaRoche showed maxi-coats for both men and women lined with curly or shaggy Mongolian fur with fur boots to match. With many outfits, the girls wore peaked Mongolian or Central Asian caps.

Cossack-type knickers tucked into boots were topped by narrow midi-dresses. Enormous capes were lined with Mongolian fur or edged with elaborate jeweled Russian embroidery. High waisted midi-dresses of peasant-like fabric had little jackets and babushka headscarves. Coats, cocktail dresses and floor-length evening gowns sparkled with peasant embroidery.

For those not wishing to look like Moscow or Tashkent of a century ago, LaRoche presented narrow midi-dresses with cumberbunds wrapped around the waist or with fur or slits around the hem. The show was full of capes and capelets, hooded dresses and jackets, culotte midi dresses, jumpers over sweater tops, knickers and boots. The evening line brought back the slinky look with black crepes sporting deeply slit necklines.

The LaRoche clothes for men also got into the Russian mood. For evening the male models wore lame Cossack-type tunics over knickers and boots. There were even two floor-length male "dresses" with glittering Russian embroidery around the high necklines slit to the waist.

La Roche showed no long trousers for women in his show, but Pierre Cardin and Gabrielle Chanel saved that style from extinstion.

BOTH CREATORS included long pants in their fashion shows Tuesday, Cardin showing enough to keep them from being abolished along with kneebaring skirts.

But Cardin showed even more of the newer knickerbocker and gaucho pants that have inundated the Paris collections. Cardin's gauchos, or trousers ending at the mid-calf, are cigarette shaped and fine if you're six feet tall and thin. The Cardin "plus four" puffy knickers and gauchos were worn under maxi coats, ponchos or tops with long flying panels.

Chanel displayed black knit trousers with a multicolored tweed long jacket belted with her usual gold chain.

Cardin, Chanel and designer Gerard Pipart at the Nina Ricci salon also used the just-below-the-knee skirt that appeared short next to the midis and maxis. Cardin's striped jerseys just met the tops of knee length white patent leather boots. Pipart' ent leather boots. Pipart's charcoal gray slim dresses also brushed the tops of brown boots.

Unchanging throughout the entire mini-maxi hysteria, Chanel calmly showed her unbeatable classic suits at the same knee-covering length she always has used.

CHANEL IS virtually the only Paris designer still making "suits" of skirts, jackets and blouses. The other creators need not bother since she does them so well.

HELEN HELP US!

Dad Quick To Judge Son's Pals On Basis Of Their Hair Length

DEAR HELEN:

It hit me for the first time last night how prejudiced my father is. He was looking through my year book, and every time he came to a picture of a long-haired guy, he cut down on him.

Dad doesn't know any of these kids. Most are my good honest friends, and several are superior students. The president of our student body had hair to his neck. He won a merit scholarship.

I tried to discuss this with Dad and he started arguing that my brother never wore long hair. He forgets it wasn't the style six years ago.

How come parents have 20-20 vision on things that don't matter, but are blind to what kids really are? — NICK

DEAR NICK:

Counter questions: How come your father never had a chance to know your long-haired friends? Why be surprised at his prejudices when you haven't tried to educate him?

Bring those good kids to the house and let your parents discover what they are really like; and if things are a little hairy at first, you might haul out an old picture of Pop in a crew-cut. H.

DEAR HELEN:

Here's a suggestion for "Topicless" whose friends are constant parent-knockers and she isn't.

Finally I got sick of listening to "My old man this" and "My old lady that" so every time the kids started blasting, I praised my folks — not bragging, but just being factually nice.

It works. You don't feel "topicless" anymore, and after a while the kids start telling you how great your parents are, instead of you telling them. — UNTOPICLESS

DEAR UN:

And I'll bet some of them even began to see a few nice things about their own parents — for a change. Right? — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Like "Topicless," I sorta like my parents. So every time it's parent-knocking time in our crowd, I mention something good about mine. When I started looking for these things, I realized Mom and Dad are even better than I'd dreamed. You'd be surprised how much it helps our relationship. Every day I try to say "I love you — you're great" at least once — and they do too.

And those whispers among my friends — "Man, her parents must be really something!" don't hurt any either. So maybe I can thank the complainers for opening my eyes.

Oh, sure, we still have our disagreements, but you can still sign me — LUCKY

DEAR HELEN:

When my boy friend left for duty in Japan, we made a pact that we'd stay true by only dating people of another race — because we couldn't possibly fall in love with them. Don't you think this is a great way to have fun but still not lose each other? — NOT LONELY

DEAR N.L.:

I think it's a great way to prove you're a couple of snobs. — H.

A Fair Selection Of Vegetables For Shoppers

WASHINGTON (UPI) —USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service reports that food shoppers will find a fairly wide selection of popular vegetables, but only a handful of fruits at stores this weekend. And meat counters will offer only a meager list.

In the meat line, beef roasts and chuck steaks will be offered, while pork, lamb and veal will be scarce. Broiler-fryers are the lone plentiful in poultry.

Vegetable bins will have a good supply of cabbage, celery, sweet corn, lettuce, onions, potatoes and tomatoes. And in fruits, peaches, plums and watermelons will be in excellent supply.

The U.S. Department of the Interior reports best buys in fish include fresh and frozen salmon, fish sticks and portions and canned tuna.

Foods listed on USDA's plentiful foods roster for July include broiler-fryers, honey, fresh summer vegetables, watermelons, fresh and processed lemons and limes, fresh peaches, fresh plums and rice.

Wholesale beef prices are generally lower in Western markets while fresh, and smoked pork prices are mixed.

Pork loins are as much as 8 cents higher in Portland. Spareribs are 2 to 3 cents higher in Portland, but 2 to 5 cents lower in California markets. Fully cooked hams are 3 cents higher in San Francisco, and smoked hams are as much as 6 cents lower in Portland. Sliced bacon is 2 to 3 cents higher in California markets.

Fruits and vegetables in best supply include: bananas, oranges, peaches, plums, strawberries, watermelons, cabbage, carrots, lettuce, onions and potatoes.

Seafood buys to watch for in the West, according to the U.S. Department of the Interior, are rock fish, dover sole fillets, canned tuna, swordfish steaks, silver salmon and halibut.

'Hawaii Abortion Law Good But Prevention Is Better'

HONOLULU (UPI) — Dr. Noni Brar Koch would like to see Hawaii's abortion law never used.

As the new medical director of Hawaii Planned Parenthood, Inc., Dr. Koch is dedicating her efforts to preventing unwanted pregnancies.

"Hawaii's abortion law is wonderful," Dr. Koch said, "but prevention is even better."

The state's hospitals have been averaging about 250 abortions a month since the law went into effect in March. Officials believe the number will reach 3,000 by the end of the first year.

The law permits abortions in hospitals as part of a physician's regular medical practice. Women seeking an abortion must sign an affidavit that they have been Hawaii residents at least 90 days.

Dr. Koch, a native of Panjab, India where it was "bad" for a girl to even look at a boy, said she does not moralize to those who have had an abortion about what their conduct should be in the future.

"GIRLS WHO have had abortions usually want to forget but make sure an accidental pregnancy doesn't happen again," Dr. Koch said.

"If a girl comes in who is sexually experienced or who has had an abortion and wants preventive help, we give it freely," she added.

However, Dr. Koch said, "if a girl is simply curious, I counsel her not to go into sex just for the fun of it."

Dr. Koch finds that too often "the young enter into sex too early and with incredible naivete because of a lack of family communication."

"Frequently, the only dating advice they've received from their parents is to be good and be home early," she said.

Dr. Koch, a gynecologist, has launched an all-out effort to provide free birth control information, clinic service and contraceptive supplies to Hawaii's poor.

Rather than waiting for the poor to come to her, Dr. Koch travels each week in a mobile van, bringing equipment and supplies to clinics located in low-income areas for women unable to afford the services of a private physician. She sees as many as 100 women a week.

DR. KOCH refers those seeking abortions to other physicians since she does not have time for a private practice.

The Koch family is a rare example of extreme planning. Dr. Koch said she underwent voluntary sterilization after the birth of her son three years ago.

"I am disturbed about the misery in the world and the rapid population growth," she said.

"Our main stress is that no woman should have to undergo an unwanted pregnancy or abortion."

Buying Shore Park Lands Big Project

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — Completion of land purchases for Point Reyes National Seashore within a year to 18 months was predicted yesterday by Joseph Rumberg, regional director for the National Park Service.

The opinion followed a vote by the House of Representatives yesterday to appropriate $30,943,733 more to round out the proposed 53,000-acre seashore park. Rep. Don Clausen, R-First District, told the Independent-Journal the sum had been agreed on in a conference report on Department of the Interior spending for fiscal 1971.

The House action goes back to the Senate for expected quick agreement. The upper house had acted earlier on the Interior funding bill.

Together with the $7.1 million appropriation signed earlier this month by President Richard M. Nixon, the congressional action puts some $38 million into the hopper to acquire some 25,000 acres still in private hands.

"I am hopeful that these purchases can be completed by the end of fiscal 1971," Representative Clausen said in Washington, D.C.

Rumberg agreed that "we're not talking about any great length of time. . .Our land acquisition people seem to be quite optimistic" that most of the parcels will be purchased at a negotiated price.

Willis P. Kriz, acting land acquisition officer for the seashore, predicted earlier this month that at least 85 per cent of the land could be quickly purchased, but that the remainder might be involved in court condemnation proceedings.

Park service action to take immediate possession of land in case of disputed prices is unlikely, Rumberg said yesterday, but the immediate-taking strategy was urged by Olema rancher Boyd Stewart, one of the prime Marin County movers in the successful effort for more federal funds.

Private land values in the seashore area are rising 7-10 per cent a year, he warned, and condemnation suits "could drag on for years," making even the new money insufficient to complete the task.

He recalled that when he was in Washington this spring with Marin boosters for the seashore fund, Sen. Alan Bible, D-Nevada, chairman of the Interior Committee, said Congress should not "take any chances" and should appropriate the full $38 million sought by the Interior Department, to avert more erosion by escalation.

"At this time," said Rumberg, "the Washington office is very reluctant to go the declaration of taking route." But, he said, "we're not really talking about any great length of time" in completing the land purchase.

Some trades still are possible to reduce further cash outlay for the seashore, the regional park chief added.

Arraigned On Two Burglary Counts, He Now Faces Four

Floyd Kermit Ware, 19, of San Francisco, awaiting trail on two previous burglary charges, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on two new counts of burglary and possessing stolen property.

Ware, who had been out on bail in the previous cases, was arrested Tuesday in connection with the burglary of the home of Susan Mills of 77 Ridgecrest Road, Kent Woodlands.

A neighbor called the sheriff's department to say that two young men had come to his home about 9:30 a.m. asking for work and he became suspicious when they had no tools and were driving a shiny new Plymouth Barracuda.

A car of that description was stopped shortly afterward on Magnolia Avenue in Larkspur, and deputies said that a color television set, stereo equipment, two mink coats and a candelabra mirror were found inside.

The articles were later identified as having come from the Mills home.

Ware was booked into Marin County Jail and his companion, Michael James Abercrombie, 17, also of San Francisco, was booked into juvenile hall on suspicion of burglary.

Judge Peter Allen Smith yesterday set Ware's bail at $10,000. His case was continued to today for entry of plea.

Suspect Admits Cheating Motels

Wilbur L. Myhre, 32, of Seattle, Wash., pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to two charges of defrauding Corte Madera motels and five additional counts of the same charge were dismissed.

Judge Peter Allen Smith continued the case until today for a report on whether Myhre will be released without bail while awaiting sentencing.

Myhre was arrested Sunday after he was identified as the man who switched names and hairpieces for each visit to two Corte Madera motels, where he skipped out on bills totaling about $300.

Suspect Denies Officer Assault

Kenneth Vernon Ross, 25, of San Francisco, has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to charges of felony assault upon an officer and disturbing the peace. A preliminary hearing was set for Tuesday, July 30.

Ross, clad only in a coat, was arrested by California Highway Patrol officers as he walked along Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Lagunitas last Thursday.

Officers said that Ross threw a punch at one of them.

WALTER MATTHES
To sing leads

Matthes Gets Inverness Festival Role

Bass-baritone Walter Matthes will sing leading roles in two operas scheduled as major events in the annual Inverness Music Festival to be presented Aug. 14-16 and 23 at St. Columba's Church and Amphitheatre.

The operas are Bartok's "Bluebeard's Castle," to be presented Aug. 15 at 8 p.m. the church, and Smetana's "The Bartered Bride," to be staged Aug. 16 at 2 p.m. in the amphitheatre. Matthes has done extensive rewriting of the English translation for "The Bartered Bride."

A native of San Francisco, the singer completed his musical training at the Staatliche Hochschule Fur Musik in Munich, Germany. He has performed the last two seasons with the San Francisco Opera and in the last San Francisco Symphony season performed the three roles of the narrator, the soldier and the devil in Stravinsky's "L'Histoire du Soldat," under the direction of Seiji Ozawa.

He appeared in Marin in Thompson's "Mother of Us All" and at Mills College in Henze's "The Elegy for Young Lovers" and directed several Milhaud operas there.

Visiting VIPs' Hours Will Be Kept Secret

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department has decided that for security reasons it will not give out the specific times in schedules for official vistors to the United States.

One department official said several incidents prompted the change in policy, including the attempted assassination of Nationalist Chinese defense minister Chiang Ching-Kuo in New York earlier this year. Henceforth, the movements of official visitors will be listed only by date and place.

20 Light Quakes

POZZUOLI, Italy (UPI)— Twenty light earthquakes jarred this ancient Roman seaport Tuesday and Wednesday. Scientists said none of the tremors was strong enough to cause damage. Thousands fled Pozzuoli earlier this year because of a seismological phenomenon known as slow earthquake, which caused the city to rise.

Novato Proposal For Low-Cost Housing Backed

The Committee For Adequate Housing For All has decided to back a Novato Planning Commission recommendation to require 10 per cent of a proposed housing development be low cost.

The question of requiring Standard Growth Properties to provide low cost housing on at least 10 per cent of its proposed 1,000 units in the San Marin East area of Novato is due for discussion by the city council on Tuesday.

The committee planned to send a position letter to the council and ask Novato individuals and groups to push the idea.

However, the board shied away from immediate involvement in a Fairfax City Council decision to drop out of the leased housing program if the one-year residence requirement is dropped, and another by Mill Valley rejecting cluster development by Cal-Fong Investment Co. in the Alto Bowl area.

Officers elected were Margaret Azevedo, chairman; William Lewis, vice chairman; Ellen Wagner, secretary, and ex-officio member Neil B. Little, treasurer.

Jury Awards Field, Firm $300,000

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Pollster Mervin Field of Belvedere was libeled by an unsuccessful political candidate and he and his firm are entitled to $300,000, a Superior Court Jury ruled Wednesday.

The decision was against William Penn Patrick, San Rafael cosmetic manufacturer who had said Field's California Poll had been "bought" during the 1966 Republican gubernatorial primaries.

Jurors awarded $50,000 to the field Corp. in general damages, $50,000 in punitive damages and $200,000 to Field personally.

Patrick, competing in the 1966 election against former Mayor George Christopher of San Francisco and Ronald Reagan, had said the poll had been "bought" by the Christopher organization.

The poll in question showed Christopher and Reagan running ahead of Patrick. Reagan won the primary and the general election.

Field, who had asked $4 million in damages, said that "we do not hold that public opinion polls are above criticism."

"What was at issue," he continued, "was the protection of all honest persons against malicious and baseless attacks."

Oakes In Pain – Condition Fair

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Richard Oakes, the Indian militant who was struck with a pool cue June 11, was reported in pain Wednesday after physicians drained fluid from around his lungs.

He was listed in fair condition, although a hospital spokesman said his condition was "not considered dangerous" at this time.

Before suffering pleural effusion, he had recovered consciousness and been able to sit up and eat.

Police arrested a Samoan as a result of the tavern beating.

FREE DAY AT CANDLESTICK PARK

Seven-year-old Giants' fan Karl Dannecker of 23 Brookdale Avenue, San Rafael, waits patiently with hat askew and glove in hand for Lincoln Market owner Fred Politz to pin on a name tag prior to embarking with 50 other neighborhood boys for yesterday's baseball game at Candlestick Park. The boys, who live near the market at 1492 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, were the guests yesterday of Politz and his wife, Lee, shown above passing out two of the 50 lunches she made during the dark morning hours. Politz hired two buses to transport the young ball fans. (Independent-Journal photo)

New Teacher Staffing Plan Draws Study

The Kentfield School District board drew up a list of board needs and wishes yesterday in discussion with a teachers' group studying differentiated staffing, a concept intended to make better use of personnel.

The group started its study of differentiated staffing this summer, Supt. Anthony G. Bacich reported, and has met with groups of parents, students, teachers and administrators to learn what each considers its needs from the school system. The study is to continue through the year, Bacich said.

The board's list of needs included these points.

1. To encourage, use and compensate outstanding performance.
2. To provide time to fully plan programs and communicate them.
3. To identify and use the staff's strengths.
4. To carry out programs to maintain confidence in the schools by the staff and the community.
5. To make maximum use of facilities, supplies and staff in the light of decreasing financial support.
6. To make schools flexible, creative and stimulating to meet the needs of teaching students in a changing world.
7. To individualize instruction so each child can meet his potential.

The teachers study group will report periodically to the board on its findings.

The board accepted the resignation of iDane Sorrels, primary teacher at Greenbrae School, and met in closed session to instruct Bacich for salary negotiations with teachers.

Development Talks

Planning for community development will be discussed by the Marin City Council today at 8 p.m. in Manzanita Center. The group will also consider a communitywide survey it is making to determine what kinds of development residents need and want.

Panel In Impasse Over Barricades

Two Sausalito businessmen claimed today that the city government is blind to the city's commercial welfare, and two city officials claimed that the controversial Bridgeway parking barricades are a step toward improving the city's appearance.

The claims and counterclaims came during the "Marin Sounding Board" panel program broadcast this morning on KTIM radio.

Participants were Robin Sweeny, councilman; H. Eric Borgwardt, city planning director and interim city manager; Robert Bauerle, president of the Sausalito Businessmen's Association, and Eugene Hiller, a director of the businessmen's association.

The controversial parking ban on two blocks of downtown Bridgeway will reach the two-thirds mark of its three-month trial Saturday. The panel's businessmen and city spokesmen found practically nothing to agree on in the dispute, except that hippies loitering in the area are a separate issue.

Borgwardt argued that the downtown blocks are suffering from "an identity crisis," that some five businesses there cater to residents' needs but that the rest are visitor-oriented.

He said that particularly during the summer, Sausalitans can easily shop downtown in the early mornings, but that afternoons find Sausalito suffering an influx of visitors that could almost "be termed human pollution" and forces pedestrians to walk in the street to make headway.

Borgwardt stressed that "we're in an era of change . . . sole reliance on the auto and turning half our city over to the auto" must be solved by ou.er-area parking and shuttle transit to the shops.

Mrs. Sweeny contended that the embattled barricade plan has helped, and reported that a notebook in city hall contains many favorable comments by residents but only three complaints.

Hill argued that "gross inequities" resulted from the parking ban and that businesses had reported up to 35 per cent loss in volume since May 25. He said the traffic flow has not improved during commute hours, and that normal parking turnover means that loss of the banned spaces affects 700 cars daily.

He declared Sausalito's businessmen feel "frustration with the council's closed minds."

Bauerle cited those frustrations as the reason for 115 businessmen organizing the new association, and chided the council for always "turning to the businessmen for any kind of program they want to put across" but forgetting that it should "also protect the businessman."

Mrs. Sweeny countered that businessmen in the Sausalito Chamber of Commerce including the president, Trade Fair merchant Raymond Roy, had endorsed the parking ban test and still do. She said that the recently-discovered lack of police powers to handle Bridgeway traffic and parking are being mended by drafting an emergency ordinance for council action soon.

Although Mrs. Sweeny said no price tag could be put on a long-range solution to the traffic and parking problems, Borgwardt estimated that replacement of downtown parking with lots at Marinship and shuttle bus service might be as high as $1 million.

The panel's debate will be rebroadcast on KTIM at 10:05 a.m. Sunday, according to moderator Kitty Oppenheimer.

Fire Loss $22,000; 2 Families Displaced

Two families instead of one were displaced in a fire Monday that destroyed a house at 60 Spring Avenue in Lagunitas, Luella M. McDermott, owner of the home said.

She also reported that damage caused by the fire totalled to $22,000, not $17,000.

Townhouses Opposed By Residents

Bel Marin Keys residents are opposed to construction of townhouses in the southern portion of the subdivision by a 5-1 margin, according to preliminary results of a questionnaire.

The community survey was undertaken by a group called the Bel Marin Keys Action Committee, which opposes plans by Eureka Savings and Loan Association, owners of the subdivision, to build 262 townhouse units on 133 acres south of Bel Marin Keys Boulevard near Del Oro Lagoon.

Eureka Savings and Loan has applied to the Marin County Planning Commission to rezone the property from single family dwelling to enable the construction. Action on the rezoning has been delayed until Aug. 24.

Ted Keller, chairman of the action committee, announced the preliminary survey results today, and Richard H. Marcus, president of the Bel Marin Keys Homeowners Association, said a meeting to review them would be held at 8 p.m. today in the community center.

The committee, made up of representatives from the homeowners group, women's club and yacht club, objects that the townhouses would sharply increase density from the present zoning, which would allow 142 single family homes.

Keller said about 100 completed questionnaires have been received by the committee.

Two Boat Owners Report Burglaries

Two boats berthed in the Sausalito Yacht Harbor were burglarized last week, Sausalito police reported today.

Police said a $200 motor was taken between July 12-19 from a 23-foot sailboat belonging to Robert S. Conviser, 1490 Vistazo West Street, Tiburon, and George S. Kuhn of San Francisco told officers fishing reels, poles, a tackle box and a tool box worth a total of $165 were stolen between July 16-19 from his 30-foot cabin cruiser.

Hearing Set In Waitress Attack Case

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A San Francisco man charged with assaulting a cocktail waitress from Mill Valley with a tire iron is scheduled to appear in municipal court here Aug. 5 at 2 p.m. for a preliminary hearing.

He waived arraignment and pleaded innocent to assault with a deadly weapon Tuesday and the hearing date was set yesterday.

The assault charge against Lloyd J. Hartman, 39, stemmed from a Monday incident outside Roland's Cocktail Lounge in the Marina District during which he allegedly attacked Patty Noland, 32, of 31 Millay Place, police said.

Hartman had been ejected from the bar, but apparently waited outside until Miss Noland left shortly after 2 a.m., police said. She was rescued by several customers.

Hartman is being held in city prison in lieu of $1,250 bail.

Pair Charged With Marijuana Offenses

Two men were charged yesterday in Marin Municipal Court with marijuana offenses after being arrested earlier in the day by a drug agent who said he saw them sharing a marijuana cigarette in a car while driving down Highway 101.

Accused of transporting and possessing marijuana was Gordon Lee Shoop, 19, of Monte Rio. Paul Howard Fleischer, 23, of Berkeley was charged with possessing pot.

The agent said that he saw four men in a car near the Marinwood turnoff and stopped them near the Highway 37 exit. He said that Shoop, the driver, told him the other three were hitchhikers.

A brown bag containing three plastic bags of suspected pot also contained an address book with Fleischer's name, he said.

About 10 marijuana cigarettes were also found in the car, and the agent said he smelled a heavy odor of marijuana as he went up to the car.

The two hitchhikers in the back seat were released for lack of evidence.

Shoop and Fleischer are to enter pleas to the charges next Thursday.

Novato Firemen Get Pay Increase

The Novato Fire District board last night granted a 6 per cent pay increase to district employees, according to Fire Chief Jack Kidder.

The raise will cost the district approximately $20,000 this fiscal year, he said. The vote was 4-0, with Commissioner Henry V. Alvarez absent.

The board postponed action on a request by firemen for a shorter work week. Firemen now work 73 hours per week.

Marin Safety Worker Pay Rift Lingers

State mediation efforts have produced no apparent progress in the stalled salary negotiaitons for 200 Marin county safety employees.

Asst. County Administrator John F. Barrows said he met with mediator James Marshall of the State Conciliation Service for about 90 minutes today but they reached no conclusions.

Barrows said the county's position is unchanged — an offer of 7.5 per cent raise for sheriff's deputies and 5 per cent for firemen and communications workers.

The mediator did not set a date for another meeting, but Barrows expected another session would be arranged with the Marin County Employees Association, which is representing the safety employees.

The employees association, represented by manager Randall M. Prevo, is asking for 15 per cent raise for sheriff's deputies, 10 per cent for firemen and communications workers, plus a work week reduction for firemen, who now put in 96 hours per week.

Longer Hours Adopted For Youth Center

Hours of the new Corte Madera youth center will be extended, the Corte Madera Park and Recreation Commission agreed last night.

The commission agreed the center will be open from 7 to 11 p.m. Monday through Thursday and on alternate weekends, reported secretary Marilyn R. Wilson. The commission authorized increasing youth adviser Rick McMullen's paid time to 20 hours a week for the three-month trial period of extended hours.

After discussing recreation needs of the town east of Highway 101, the commission asked consultant Andrew J. Snyder Jr. and Associates to produce a written proposal for a study of the recreation needs.

Snyder suggested a poll of residents be distributed through Granada and San Clemente schools. David I. Freed of 35 Harbor Drive suggested a volunteer group could work with Snyder in polling citizens and reviewing possible recreation sites.

(Snyder, San Rafael's parks and recreation director, also does private consultation.)

The Corte Madera Park and Recreation Commission also:

BAND CONCERTS — Asked recreation coordinator Jacqueline Branch to inquire about bands which might be interested in performing without fee at Sunday afternoon band concerts in Town Park.

DINNER — Was told a hula class will hold a "ukini," a Hawaiian-style pot luck dinner, at 7:30 p.m. Aug. 6 at the recreation center.

MEETING — Adjourned to 7:30 p.m. Aug. 26.

Suspect To Give Plea Today On Molesting

Ronald Paul Rowell, 23, of Novato, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of molesting several little girls in Novato in the period between December, 1969, and March, 1970.

His case was continued to today for entry of plea.

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, July 23, the 204th day of 1970 with 161 to follow.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter. The morning star is Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1829, William Burt of Mount Vernon, Mich., received a patent for his "typographer", claimed to be the first typewriter.

In 1904, the ice cream cone was born. Charles Menches of St. Louis, Mo., called on a young lady carrying a bouquet of flowers and an ice cream sandwich. She fashioned one sandwich layer into a vase-...thus suggesting a cone type holder for the ice cream.

In 1945, Marshal Henry Petain of France went on trial in Paris to face charges of World War II treason.

In 1968, eight persons, six of them policemen, were killed during a racial disorder in Cleveland.

A thought for the day: Somerset Maugham said, "The tragedy of love is indifference."

5% Of Bonn's Work Force Are Foreigners

BONN (UPI)—About five per cent of the 21.5 million men and women employed in West Germany are foreigners.

At the end of January, the number of foreign workers totalled a record 1,574,700, the government reported. Thirty per cent of them were women.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

A Pill To Cure Finessomania Would Save Many A Contract

I have tried to persuade Dr. George Rosenkranz, one of the world's leading pharmaceutical chemists and Mexico's most prominent bridge expert, to do the basic research on a pill that will protect a bridge player against a bad trump break. If he can manage this, perhaps he will then prepare a pill to cure finessomania. Such a pill would have saved a patient in today's case.

FINESSE PLOT

South won the first trick with the queen of diamonds and saw that he would make the game and rubber if he could get two spade tricks. A finesse would do the job if East had either the king or the jack of spades.

Feeling quite pleased with himself, South led a heart to dummy and returned a spade to try a finesse with the queen. West won with the king and returned a heart to dummy's ace.

ANOTHER TRY

Declarer now tried a finesse with the nine of spades, and West collected the trick with the jack. West then led his other heart to give East two heart tricks.

By this time the defenders had four tricks, and were sure to get another in either clubs or diamonds. Down one.

HEALTHY PLAY

South could have made his contract if he had been a healthy man instead of a finessomaniac. He is sure of two spade tricks if he goes at the suit hammer and tongs instead of by way of repeated finesses.

After winning the first trick with the queen of diamonds South should lead out the ace and queen of spades. West takes the king of spades and leads a heart to dummy's king. Now declarer gives up a spade to the jack and gets back to dummy with the ace of hearts to cash the ten of spades. The rest is easy.

DAILY QUESTION

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one spade

Judge Will Release 'Staggered' Drinkers

PADUCAH, Ky. (UPI)—Circuit Judge J. Brandon Price quashed indictments against 17 alcoholics, most of whom had been jailed for nearly three months.

The 17 were indicted on the seldom-used charge of creating a common nuisance after several had been arrested from four to 49 times for drunkenness. Price said he would release the defendants on a "staggered basis."

TV REVIEW

Old-Timers Leaving TV Next Month

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Several major personalities will be leaving network television in August. It has long been known that Chet Huntley is departing. And now veteran actor Arthur Treacher, longtime sidekick to Merv Griffin on CBS-TV's late-night series, has also decided to bow out.

On leaving NBC news, Huntley will be occupied with developing a major resort in his native Montana. Marking his retirement, he will appear on the "Today" program July 31 to reminisce and to discuss his future plans.

Treacher, who turned 76 this week and has been in show business for 51 years, will remain with the Griffin series through Aug. 14.

NO DAILY WORK

He says he doesn't want to maintain a daily work schedule in the future. Rather, he will give more of his attention to his chain of quick-service restaurants, and also to a nightclub he owns with Griffin in New York.

Treacher, who was one of Hollywood's most famous character actors years ago, also says he'll consider movie and theatre offers. In the old days, he was well-known by the film-going public for his roles as humorously stuffy butlers.

His movies included "Viva Villa," "Madame Dubarry," "David Copperfield," "Star Spangled Rhythm," "Forever and a Day," "Chip Off The Old Block," "National Velvet" and "Midnight Kiss."

Griffin says he will not replace the British-born Treacher, which means that, of the three network late-nights hosts, only one, NBC-TV's Johnny Carson, will continue to work with a sidekick: Ed McMahon. ABC-TV's Dick Cavett has been a soloist from the start.

LOST DIGNITY

The loss of Treacher figures to deprive the Griffin series of some badly-needed dignity. Since Griffin moved his frequently intelligent syndicated talk show to CBS-TV, he has become so coy in his manner—perhaps to attract a less sophisticated mass audience—that his series is often embarrashing to watch. Treacher is a man of taste. And it is taste that the series needs above all.

In other future program developments announced by the various networks:

—NBC-TV's weekly motion pictures in the coming season will include "An American in Paris" with Gene Kelly; Mel Brooks' superbly wild comedy, "The Producers," with Zero Mostel; and "The Russians Are Coming, The Russians Are Coming," with Alan Arkin and Carl Reiner.

—Chief Justice Warren Burger's "State of the Judiciary" address before a meeting of the American Bar Association in St. Louis will be covered the same day, Aug. 10, in a one-hour prime time report on CBS-TV. NBC-TV previously announced it would carry the speech live at Noon EDT.

Tahoe Plane Crash Investigation Begun

SOUTH LAKE TAHOE (UPI)—Federal investigators today began efforts to determine the cause of a plane crash which killed six members of a Southern California family.

The Beechcraft Bonanza crashed near a highly flammable propane tank Wednesday shortly after taking off from Lake Tahoe Airport. Witnesses said the plane went down after its engine sputtered.

El Dorado County sheriff's deputies identified the victims as Dr. Joseph Didio, a San Diego obstetrician, his wife Darlene, 30, daughters, Cheryl, 15, Diane, 13, and Michaele, 1 1-2, and son Joseph Jr., 11. Cheryl, Diane and Joseph were Didio's children by a previous marriage and lived with their mother in Thousand Oaks.

The plane was registered in Dr. Didio's name.

The National Transportation Safety Board and the FAA sent investigators to the crash scene. It was the worst plane crash in the airport's 11-year history.

Air traffic controller Brad Haury said the plane was about 300 feet off the ground when it started "having difficulty." The craft veered 90 degrees, clipped the top of a tree and crashed tail-first.

He said the pilot "made a hard right turn, then a left turn, then he descended out of sight behind a line of trees." Haury said the pilot made no radio contact with the tower to indicate trouble.

In Sacramento, the FAA reported the pilot had filed a flight plan listing Brackett Field at Pomona as his destination. But it was believed his ultimate destination was El Cajon Airport in San Diego County. The plane left El Cajon Airport Sunday.

Desert Inn Hit By Hiring Ruling

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI)—Howard Hughes' Desert Inn was guilty of sexual discrimination when it failed to hire Mrs. Arden Johnson as a blackjack dealer, the State Labor Commissioner ruled Wednesday.

Commissioner Stanley Jones, who explained he could not force the casino to hire Mrs. Johnson, said however, her application must be considered on the same basis as those of men.

Mrs. Johnson's application showed she "has just as good a qualification as many and substantially better than some," he continued.

Women have dealt cards in northern Nevada gambling casinos since World War II but not in Las Vegas.

Witness Testifies Youth Shot Brodnik After Fight

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—An eyewitness to the slaying of police officer Joseph Brodnik testified in halting English Wednesday that the policeman was slain with his hands up by a boy who "just shot him."

Six Latin-American youths have been charged with slaying the veteran officer after he stopped burglary suspects in San Francisco's Mission District.

Polish-born Irene Jarzyna, 45, said she saw the shooting from her bedroom window.

She said Brodnik was backing away from the youths when he was shot.

"I see with my eyes," she told defense attorney Charles Garry when he objected to an answer she had given.

Mrs. Jarzyna said she saw two men and six boys milling around on the sidewalk. One of the men was bending over a TV set and radio.

Both Brodnik and his undercover partner, Paul McGoran, were in plainclothes but from the woman's description the man leaning over the suspected stolen items was Brodnik.

She said McGoran suddenly grabbed one of the youths and slammed his head against a wall. The suspect hit McGoran with his right fist and the other boys jumped the policeman, knocking him to the pavement.

Brodnik tried to pull the youths off McGoran.

"Then I see the gun," Mrs. Jarzyna said.

"The boy had gun and I see the man in the whiteshirt was have hands up.

"The boy just shot him."

The prosecution contends Brodnik was shot with McGoran's gun after it was wrestled from him in the struggle.

The defense claims McGoran drew his weapon during the fracas and fired a wild but fatal shot.

Study Asked Of Regent's Transaction

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly Wednesday requested an auditor general's investigation of a business deal involving University of California Regent Edwin Pauley and top UC administrators.

The Assembly approved the house resolution by Assemblyman John Stull, R-Leucadia, on a split voice vote. Stull said he wanted the state auditor general to determine if the deal was "proper" and report his findings to the legislature.

The lawmaker said a nonprofit corporation formed in 1966 by UC President Charles Hitch and other UC officials was involved in a business transaction with Pauley Petroleum, Inc., whose board chairman and chief stockholder is Pauley.

Stull said the corporation borrowed $5.8 million from a bank at an interest rate of 6 1-4 per cent and loaned the sum to Pauley's company at a rate of 6 3-8 per cent. Security for the bank loan was half of Pauley Petroleum's oil and gas holdings with the university corporation acting as agent.

Stull asserted last month that Pauley Petroleum profited by the transaction because of oil depletion allowances in tax returns which "Mr. Pauley has made up to about $760,000 through avoidance of taxes to the federal government and up to $63,000 through avoidance of California corporation franchise taxes."

Profits from the transaction went to the university.

Children's Fair For Mill Valley

A Children's Pleasure Faire, sponsored by the Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Department, will be held Aug. 6 from 1 to 8 p.m. in Old Mill Park.

Activities will include minstrels, jugglers, magicians, renaissance plays, cow milking, sheep shearing, stilt walking, and booths selling crafts of all kinds made by children.

Children interested in participating in the faire may register at any city playground or at the Community Recreation Center, Camino Alto and East Blithedale Avenue.

Probate Sale At Hall Of Justice

Citizens will have a chance to bid on household furniture, silverware and 25 paintings at a probate sale at noon Saturday at the Hall of Justice.

Public Administrator Donovan O. Cooke said the items will be on display beginning at 11 a.m. in the loading area near the middle archway at the hall. Assistant Public Administrator Eugene R. Fontaine, who will be auctioneer, said bidders should pre-register with him between 11 a.m. and noon.

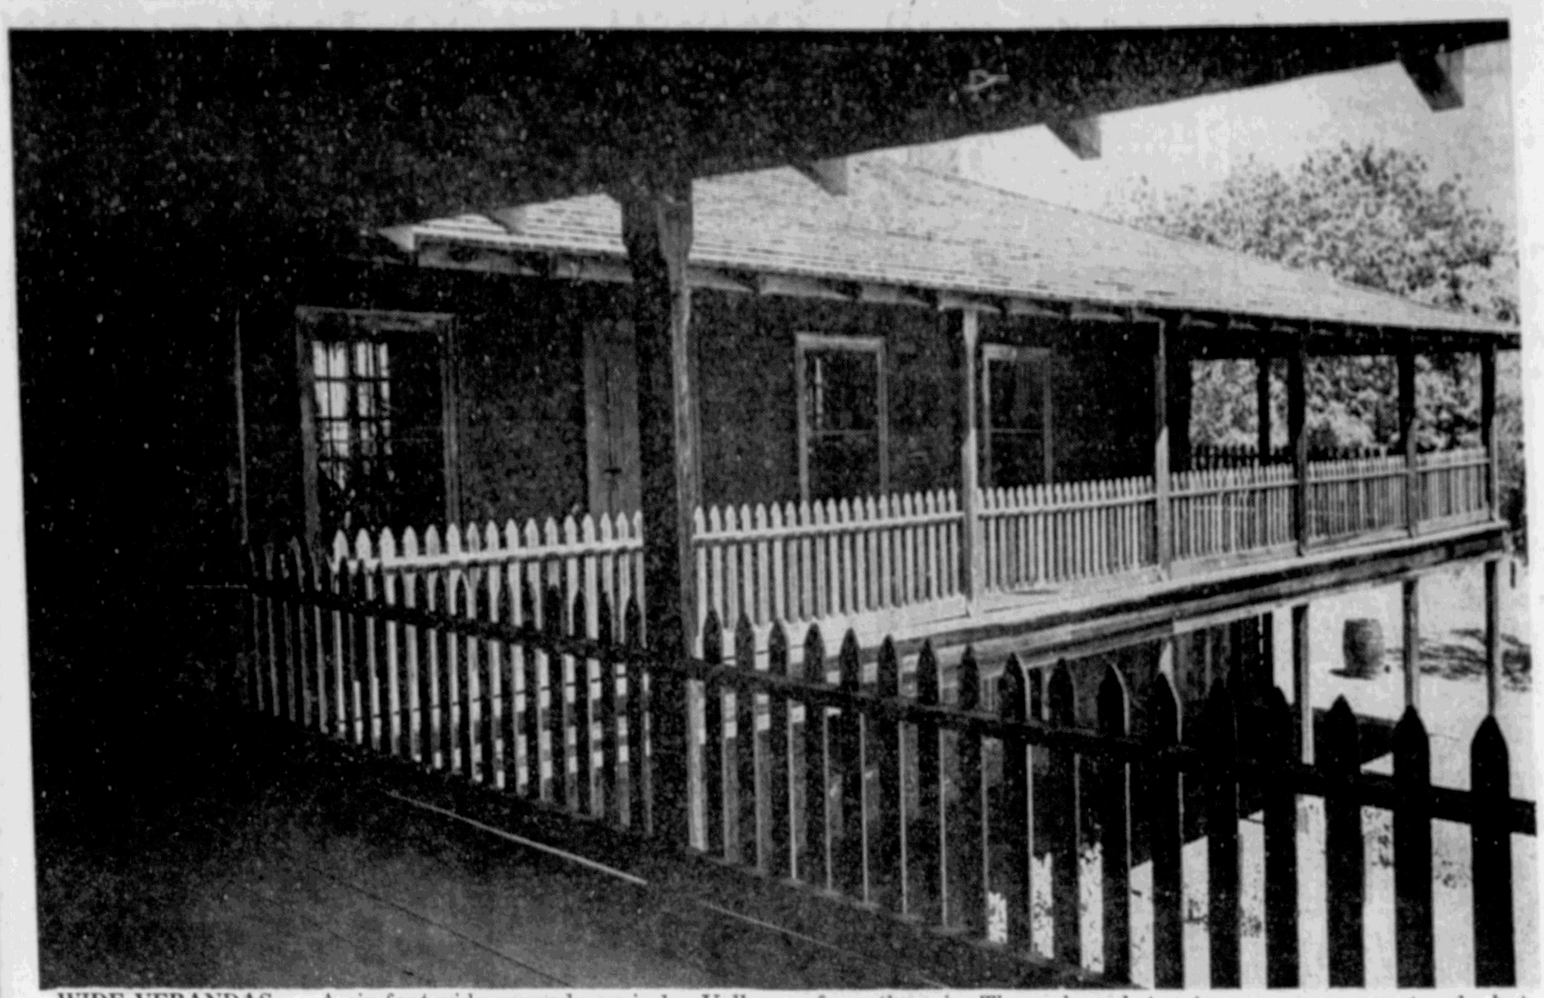
YOUNG VISITORS — Vallejo's Adobe holds particular fascination for youngsters who can easily imagine themselves living during the early 1800s. Park ranger William C. Heilbronn points out sections of the courtyard to (from left) John Trumbla, 8; Brian Benjamin, 9, and Steven Benjamin, 10, all of Petaluma. (I-J photos by Bob Hax)



WIDE VERANDAS — A six-foot-wide veranda encircles Vallejo's rancho building and was designed to protect the adobe walls from the rain. The u-shaped structure was once a rectangle, but half had eroded before the state could begin renovation.

Petaluma Rancho Splendor Relives Old Adobe's History

By BONNIE BARD

When Indians and Mexican conquerors roamed California in the early 1800's, Gen. Mariano G. Vallejo, Mexican military commander and director of Northern Colonization lived in veritable splendor in his adobe rancho near Petaluma. All of Marin and Southern Sonoma was his domain.

Vallejo's secluded Old Adobe, now carefully maintained by the state Department of Parks and Recreation, lies three miles east of Petaluma. Only distant subdivisions remind visitors that 125 years have passed since the rancho was in its flower.

During the period in which Mexico held California, land grants were made to more than 800 individuals. Vallejo, then a young army officer, received ten leagues of land from Gov. Jose Figueroa.

Other acreage was added later and soon his land included all of Marin County.

While Vallejo's home in Sonoma was his main living quarters, he and his family spent part of each year at the bustling rancho, where thousands of Indians worked as plowmen, harvesters, herders, domestic servants, weavers, tanners and at other trades. Most were from the Miwok tribe.

The rancho's walls are three feet thick, made entirely of adobe. Lumber used in the construction came from the rancho itself and from trees along the coast. Some of the material was processed at the sawmill of Stephen Smith of Bodega, the first to operate on the Pacific Coast in 1844.

During the construction period between 1836 and 1846, the effects of industrial revolution were felt. Machine-cut nails and cast-iron hinges may be found along with wooden pegs, hand-forged hardware and rawhide.

Historians disagree on the role of the rancho, but the official state version portrays it as a large cattle ranch. The sale of hides and tallow brought wealth to Vallejo, whose Sonoma home and rancho were furnished lavishly.

Most of the furnishings came from Europe and the Orient, as well as Mexico and the United States.

With the "Bear Flag Revolt" by American settlers in Northern California in June of 1846, and the subsequent war with Mexico, the splendor of the rancho diminished.

Some historians see the rancho's role as a fort during the war, but state historians maintain that only noncombat equipment was provided by the rancho.

In 1850, with the advent of statehood, Vallejo became Sonoma County's first state senator.

He leased the rancho until 1857 when it was sold to William Hill Whiteside, who in 1859 sold it to William D. Bliss, a Petaluma attorney, who held the property until his death in 1886.

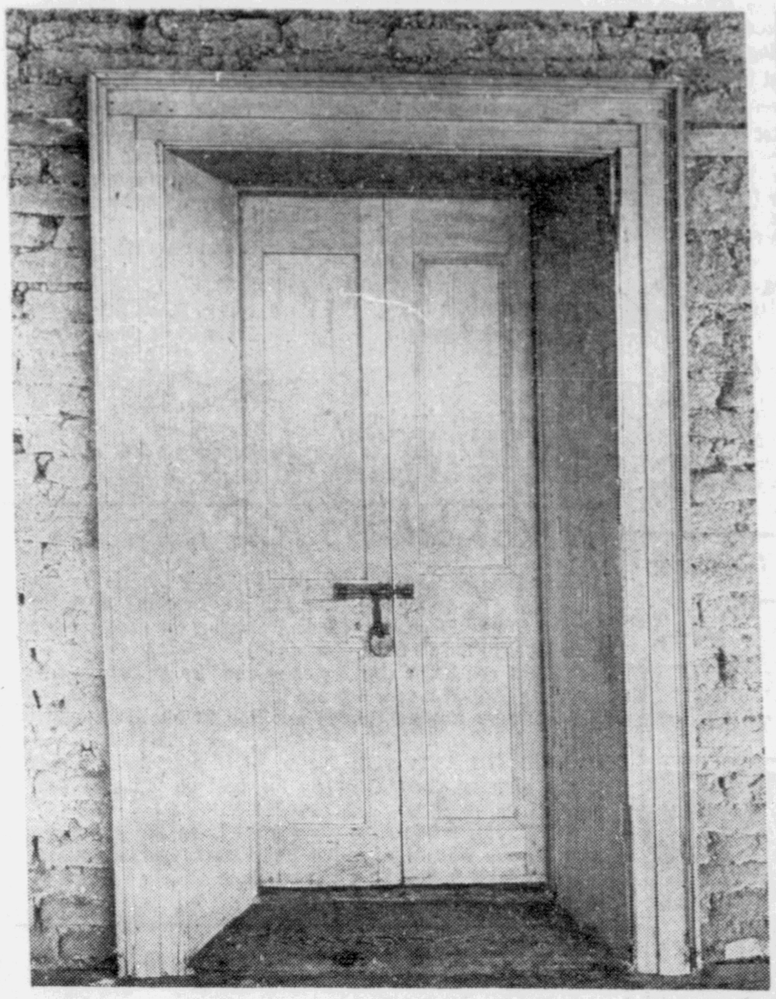
The site fell into disrepair after a long period of rental and was deeded in 1910 to Petaluma Parlor 27, Native Sons of the Golden West. While the organization didn't have the funds to renovate the structure, it did maintain it unitl it was taken over by the state parks department in 1951.

Today park rangers maintain the structure and greet 50,000 visitors annually.

Park ranger William C. Heilbronn, who has been assigned to the park for five years, gives tours to countless school classes.

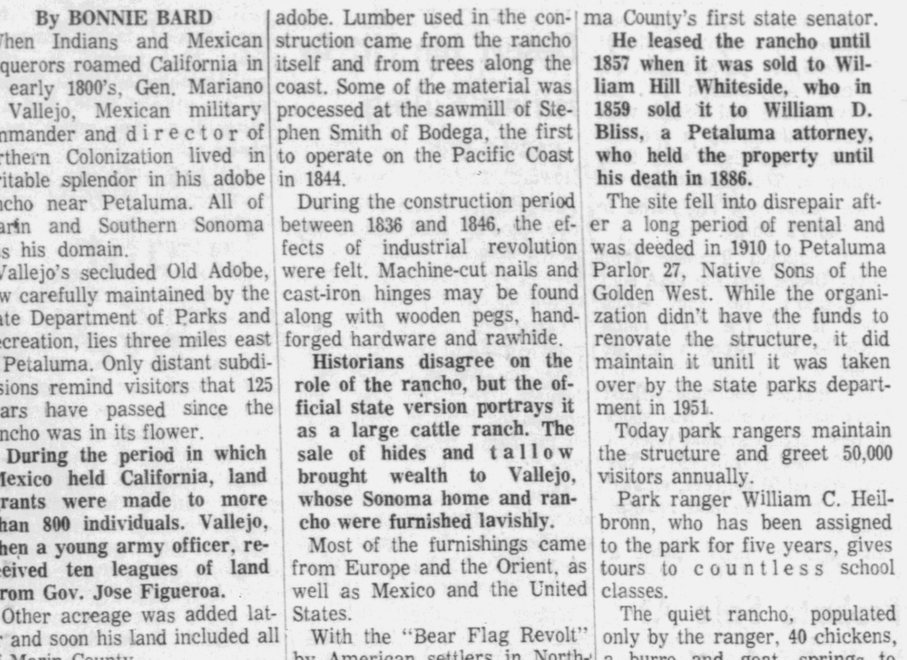
The quiet rancho, populated only by the ranger, 40 chickens, a burro and goat, springs to life once a year for the annual Old Adobe Days Fiesta.

Planned for Aug. 15 and 16, the fete will see Petalumans dressed in period costumes and displaying items from trades of the era that included basket weaving, bread baking, blacksmithing, weaving, pottery making, spinning, dying, tortilla making and flower arranging.



CAREFUL RENOVATION — Doors, woodwork and the adobe walls have been carefully renovated by the state Department of Parks and Recreation. Eighty-five per cent of the structure's walls are original, as well as 20 per cent of the woodwork.

ADOBE FURNITURE — Furnishings, like these in the Vallejo family apartment, are authentic from the Mexican period. Many of the pieces have been donated by visitors pleased to find an appropriate place for family heirlooms.



MEXICAN FLAG — Heilbronn raises the Mexican flag, one of many that have flown over the Adobe, near Petaluma, since 1836.

KITCHEN — While most cooking at Vallejo's rancho was done outdoors, a large indoor kitchen was maintained for storage and preparation of food. Food was abundant, although cooking methods were primitive. Indians ground corn for tortillas with a mano stone and metate. Bread was baked in ovens (rear) heated with charcoal.

Football's Big Impasse

NEW YORK (UPI)—A key spokesman for the National Football League owners believes "the college All Star Game can't possibly take place" because of the impasse in contract negotiations with the Players Association.

The two sides, who are $11.4-million apart on pension benefits in the troubled negotiations, were invited to a meeting with the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service in Baltimore today at 1 p.m. The Players Association rented cars Wednesday night for the trek from their nearby headquarters in Washington, but they might find themselves playing a waiting game again.

IMPRACTICAL

The owners' spokesman told UPI the scheduled meeting was "wholly impractical . . . I don't round up everybody and get there in time. I would like to have the meeting rescheduled."

The owners refused to attend a similar meeting in Washington Wednesday night although the players showed up. "There are too many politicians in Washington who would like to make these negotiations into what I'll call a political basketball in deference to the sport of football," explained Theodore Kheel, the owners' labor counsel. "We will accept any other city besides Washington.

However, the owners agreed ton."

However, the owners agreed to allow the Kansas City players to report to practice despite a lockout that has kept the striking veterans out of camp. Coach Hank Stram of the Chiefs has said his team will need at least a week of practice for the All Star game against the collegians on July 31 in Chicago.

ASKED

"If the Kansas City camp were opened would the (Players) Association direct the Kansas City players to report and play the College All Star Game?" the owners asked Wednesday. "If the Players Association is willing to so direct the Kansas City players the Kansas City camp will be opened immediately."

The owners got their answer when Baltimore end John Mackey, president of the Players Association, said:

"As active players we are fully aware that the Kansas City Chiefs will need at least one week to prepare for the College All Star Game and we hope that all NFL teams will be in camp by Saturday.

"However, we feel that it is basically unfair and not in the best interests of all NFL players whom we represent to allow one team to practice while 25 other teams remain idle."

REMOTE

The owners' spokesman said, "As a practical matter I think this means the All Star Game can't possibly take place because the chances of a settlement by Saturday are so remote."

The Players Association also said it had received "the 100 per cent support of the Kansas City players late Wednesday night no matter what course is taken." The Chiefs veterans stand to lose one-fourteenth of their annual salaries if they don't play in the charity game because that is their payment for playing.

The owners, who reluctantly agreed to enter into mediation, have said they "foresee a lengthy strike by the Players

Little Leaguers Advance

Champion teams from the Marinwood, Strawberry, Hamilton-Loma Verde and San Rafael- national leagues won last night to gain berths in tomorrow night's semifinals of the Marin County Little League Team Championship baseball tournament.

Twelve teams have been eliminated in the first two rounds of the tourney, which precedes the start next week of the annual Little League all-star tournament.

11 ERRORS

The Marinwood White Sox got a perfect three-for-three performance from Mike Tibbetts, and took advantage of 11 Sausalito errors to bomb the Seals, 12-1. The White Sox scored four times in both the third and fourth innings to put the game out of reach.

Kevin Tracy doubled with men on second and third in the fourth inning to give the Strawberry Ravens a 3-2 victory over the Pirates of the Novato National League. Jim Jorgensen went the distance on the mound for the Ravens.

The Hamilton-Loma Verde Pirates scored three runs in the first and were never headed as they eliminated Novato's other team, the American League White Sox, 3-1. Kevin Collins went all the way for the Pirates.

FINE PLAY

The San Rafael National's Bank of Marin team survived a harrowing final inning to stop the Greenbrae Oaks of the Kentfield League, 7-4. With Greenbrae at bat in the bottom of the sixth and one out, Steve Colombo fielded a ground ball behind the mound, stepped on second for the force and threw to the plate to nail the runner coming home.

Marinwood will meet Strawberry at Castro Field in Gallinas Valley (San Rafael), and Hamilton-Loma Verde will face San Rafael at Rancho School in Novato in semifinal round games tomorrow at 6 p.m. The championship game will be played Saturday, 1 p.m. at Castro Field. No games are scheduled today.

SPORTING GENTRY: BARBARA PARCHER

Gymnastics Talent, Beauty To Match

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Although she missed making the United States team for the World University Games by a fraction of a point, pretty gymnastics specialist Barbara Parcher still flashes a pretty smile and isn't discouraged.

Miss Parcher, 22, a product of Terra Linda High School who went on to win gymnastics top honors at Sacramento State College, has just completed a stay at Tamalpais High School where she was a gymnastics consultant in a summer school program.

A June graduate at Sacramento State, she returned to that school this week to work with the Division of Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

She won the intercollegiate championships last year in the NCAA national gymnastics meet and was one of the competitors earlier this month in the tryouts for the World Games team, held at Terre Haute, Ind. She missed making the six-woman team by a fraction of a point. That team will compete in the World University Games, in Italy, next month.

"I'm also planning to work this summer as a gymnastics teacher at a camp in Gualala (Mendocino County)," she said before leaving Tamalpais High. "I have gotten so much from gymnastics I feel a need to put something back into it. That's why I like to teach it."

To be a champion gymnast, a girl has to be very proficient on the parallel bars, balance beam, side horse vault, and be a good dancer, the event officially called "floor exercise."

Barbara got her start in gymnastics at Terra Linda High, but admits, "I wasn't very good then." She continued in gymnastics at San Francisco State College, working under Andrea Schmid, a former Hungarian Olympic team member.

She later transferred to Sacramento State as a junior and worked under coach Kathy Shelly, a Corte Madera woman who had got her schooling in Marin Catholic High when she lived in Marin.

The turning point in Miss Parcher's gymnastics career was her transfer to Sacramento State, she said. "That school has a very strong program and I worked out five days a week."

In her junior year she finished 12th in the inter-collegiate nationals and improved all the way to the top the following year. Last summer she was a member of collegiate national all-star gymnastics team that toured overseas for seven weeks, in Europe, the Mid-East and North Africa.

"It was a fantastic trip," the pert blonde bubbled. "The people were just great. They really rolled out the red carpet for us."

Miss Parcher, who stands just under 5-foot-1 and weighs just over100 pounds, is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Parcher who live in Terra Linda but are now on a trip to Alaska. Barbara has two brothers, Armond, 30, and David, 20.

Usual practice sessions take up about two to three hours a day when she is in rigid training. "But that's just five or six days a week. No one should work on a sport seven days a week. That's too much."

Her biggest thrill so far in gymnastics was her oversea tour last summer. "When you're representing your country you really feel proud," she said. "It's something that you can't really explain."

She plans to become a graduate assistant teacher and coach at Sacramento State in the fall.

WEST BEATERS

Phillies Claim California Title

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Philadelphia Phillies were back home Thursday, taking with them the National League championship of California.

Wednesday's 5-2 victory over the San Francisco Giants ended West Coast appearances for the Phils in 1970 and gave them an overall record of 14 wins and only four losses in games at San Diego, Los Angeles and San Francisco. They swept six games from the Padres and were 4-2 in Los Angeles and San Francisco.

CHAMPIONS

"It has been a tremendous road trip and we claim the championship of California," said Phil manager Frank Lucchesi after the game. "We won seven out of eight this trip —three straight in San Diego, two out of three in Los Angeles and two straight in Candlestick Park."

Phil righthander Jim Bunning was Wednesday's winner, holding the Giants to five singles to pick up his 99th National League win against 79 losses. He was 118-87 with the Detroit Tigers before leaving the American League.

Bunning also helped out with his bat, driving in two of the five Phils runs with a sacrifice fly in the third and a single in the seventh.

FALTERS

The well-travelled Bunning almost went the distance until he faltered in the ninth. Dick Selma came in to get pinchhitter Dick Dietz for the final out after Ron Hunt was hit by a pitch and pinchhitters Willie Mays and Willie McCovey delivered singles for the second San Francisco run.

The first Giant run did not take much power as Bobby Bonds led off the first with a single, stole second, went to third on an infield out and came home after Hunt's sacrifice fly.

Bunning's sacrifice fly after Terry Harmon's leadoff triple in the third tied the score and Don Money singled home Tony Taylor in the sixth to put the Phils ahead. Two unearned runs in the seventh were driven in by Bunning and Taylor. Doubles by Mike Ryan and Byron Browne in the ninth accouted for the final run.

PERRY'S LOSS

Bunning ran his 1970 record to 8-9 while the loss went to Gaylord Perry, now 14-9. Don McMahon pitched the ninth for San Francisco.

Bunning, who has hit more than 150 batters in his career, plunked Ron Hunt in the ninth inning. It was the 21st time this season Hunt has been hit by a pitch and the 122nd time in his National League career. He holds the league record in that category.

The Giants rest today and begin a long road trip Friday with a doubleheader in Montreal.

Marin Team Unbeaten

Central Marin's 13-year-old Babe Ruth League all-stars defeated Travis Air Force Base, 6-2 last night to remain undefeated in the Vacaville all-star tournament. Ed Anderson, Central Marin's ace righthander, pitched the team to its third tourney victory and into tonight's semi-final round against Santa Rosa.

San Rafael Tennis In Semifinal Round

The Marin County Junior Tennis Tournament moved into semifinal matches today at Albert Park courts in San Rafael, with finals scheduled for tomorrow.

The tourney, co-sponsored by the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department and the Independent-Journal, was paired down yesterday in quarter-final matches.

A's Bullpen Ace Jim Grant Does His Thing: 15th Save

OAKLAND (UPI)—Jim Grant is a tough man to beat in the late innings.

The "Mudcat," an outstanding starter in his younger days, now is 34 years old and one of baseball's most skillful short-relievers.

He saved his 15th game of the season and lowered his earned run average to a stunning 1.03 Wednesday night by pitching two perfect innings ad preserving a 4-3 win for the Oakland A's over the Senators in Washington.

Grant heads a bullpen which is among baseball's steadiest.

Jim Hunter, supposedly the ace of the A's, has 13 victories to his credit. But he hasn't won since the Fourth of July and he lasted only four innings Wednesday night. Spotless relief by Rollie Fingers, winning pitcher Marcel Lachemann and Grant kept the deficit respectable and allowed the A's to win it coming from behind.

Trailing 3-1 into the top of the eighth inning, Felipe Alou led off and drilled his seventh homer of the year to bring Oakland within a run of the Senators. Then Washington starter Casey Cox walked Sal Bando and the Senators' premier reliever, Darold Knowles, came to the mound.

Knowles has saved 20 games for Washington but the figure didn't faze the A's. Joe Rudi, pinchhitting against the lefty, rifled a double to the right-centerfield wall, scoring Bando all the way from first and tying the score at 3-3.

Knowles then walked Dick Green intentionally and ruined the strategy with a very unintentional error. In attempting a pickoff play, he flung the ball wildly beyond first base and allowed Rudi to sprint home with the winning tally.

The victory was the third in a row for Oakland but left the club 10 games behind the Twins, who also won Wednesday night.

Jackson, Oakland's slumbering slugger who whomped 47 homers last season, has only 14 this year. However, he cracked two more hits Wednesday night to continue his sharp play since the All-Star break. Jackson now is batting .238, an improvement of 10 points in only two games.

The A's open a 12 game homestand Friday night against New York.

Pirates Win, Gain Ground On Mets; Cubs Bomb Reds

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Bruce Dal Canton is smart enough to know his place.

Dal Canton, a 28-year-old pitcher for Pittsburgh who graduated from California (Pa.) State College and teaches high school biology in the off-season, made his first start for the Pirates in three years a winning one Wednesday night.

Dal Canton appeared in 57 games last seasan and in seven the year before, all in relief, but was pressed into service as an emergency starter because of injuries to Pirate hurlers Steve Blass, Bob Moose and Bob Veale. The 6-foot-2, 209 pound righthander responded with a neat seven-hit effort over seven and two-thirds innings before tiring as Pittsburgh downed the Atlanta Braves 5-3.

ONE-TIMER

"This was a one-time start for me and I know I belong in the bullpen," Dal Canton said while accepting congratulations for his performance. When asked if he had any pre-game jitters, he answered: "I was just concerned about doing the job. I figured on throwing as best as I could for as long as I could."

Pirate manager Danny Murtaugh agreed Dal Canton will be returned to the bullpen . . . but maybe not just yet.

"I will start him again if the other three (Blass, Moose, Veale) can't take a turn," Murtaugh said. "We'll have to wait and see. Once we're sound again with our starters, Bruce goes back to the bullpen. We need him there. He knows that."

11 HITS

The Pirates backed Dal Canton with an 11-hit attack, including four safeties by Manny Sanguilen and a two-run single by Dave Cash. The victory was Dal Canton's fifth against only one loss and increased Pittsburgh's lead to two games in the National League's East Division as second place New York lost to San Diego 5-4 in 10 innings.

Elsewhere in the NL, Chicago blasted Cincinnati 10-2, Los Angeles overcame Montreal 12-10, Philadelphia trimmed San Francisco 5-2 and Houston downed St. Louis 13-9.

In the American League, Boston beat California twice 7-4 and 8-3, Cleveland downed Chicago 6-2, Milwaukee topped New York 4-1, Oakland shaded Washington 4-3, Minnesota edged Detroit 2-1 and Baltimore nipped Kansas City 4-3 in 13 innings.

Ivan Murrell singled home Al Ferrera with two out in the 10th to help San Diego past New York. The Mets had taken a 4-3 lead in the ninth on Bud Harrelson's sacrifice fly but the Padres tied the score in their half of the inning on Nate Colbert's 20th homer off Tom Seaver. Ed Spiezio also homered for San Diego. Jack Baldschun got the win in relief and Nolan Ryan took the loss.

HICKMAN BACK

Jim Hickman, returning to action after being sidelined a few days with a kidney infection, knocked in four runs, three of them with his 21st homer, and Billy Williams slugged his 27th round tripper to pace Chicago over Cincinnati. Bill Hands stopped the Reds on six hits in raising his record to 12-7.

Tom Haller's grand slam homer highlighted an eight-run outburst in the seventh inning which carried Los Angeles past Montreal. The Dodgers were trailing 10-4 before scoring all eight of their runs in the seventh with two out. Rookie Von Joshua also homered for the Dodgers while Bob Bailey and Ron Fairly connected for the Expos.

Association because of the extreme seriousness of the current impasse."

To solve the problems besetting them, Mackay said the players negotiation committee "is anxious to commence negotiations with the NFL owners in an around-the-clock effort to resolve all issues under discussion."

TWO CHOICES

Ken Bowman, a vice president of the Players Association, warned, "We feel the owners are attempting to break this association. This hardline stand is now even more effective since the National Football League Players Association has only two choices: 1. To buckle under and accept the owners' proposal, or 2. To continue to seek the mutually acceptable agreement with the resulting possibility that a ballplayer may have to leave the country to play professional football."

The owners also have indicated they have "considered the possibility" that the entire season may be canceled.

Pepitone Draws Suspension

SPORTS—PEPITONE—130 3

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Joe Pepitone, who packed his hair dryer and left the Houston Astros on Tuesday, was suspended without pay by the club Wednesday night.

The Astros announced the suspension after arriving here to begin a series with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Jim Wynn, who went 3-for-3 as the Astros beat St. Louis 13-9, said, "we miss him." But he added, "I don't believe the Joe Pepitone issue has disrupted the club. He's doing what he thinks is right. Some of the ballplayers are for him, some are against him. But he'll get straightened out and we'll be for him when he comes back. Joe's the kind of guy who can really help a team."

Cesar Geronimo, an infielder from the Astros' columbus, Ga. farm club, was called up by the Astros to replace Pepitone.

Pepitone was back in Brooklyn, N.Y., signing autographs at his hair styling salon and explaining his gripes against the Astros.

The controversial first baseman-outfielder said a trade might be the best way to solve the dilemma.

Pepitone was traded last winter by the New York Yankees to the Astros for Curt Blefary. He didn't get along in Houston with either general manager Spec Richardson or manager Harry Walker.

U.S. Vs. Russia In Track; Richeys Continue To Win

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

LENINGRAD — Lacking in big name stars but high on morale, the young U.S. track and field team arrived in Leningrad yesterday for today's meet with a powerful Soviet squad on the rough and ragged asphalt track at Lenin Stadium.

Missing from the American team were such stars as Lee Evans, Charlie Green and Marty Liquori, who are competing on their own in Holland.

Dominating an international track and field meet yesterday in the small southern Dutch town of Maastricht, Evans won the 200-meter dash in 21.4 seconds and captured his specialty, the 400-meter run, in 47.8. Liquori, America's best middle distance runner, took first in both the 1,500 and 3,000 meter runs.

Tennis

CINCINNATI — Defending champion Cliff Roichey and his sister Nancy continued to win yesterday during the third day of singles competition in the Western Tennis Championships.

Richey of San Angelo, Tex., had a few uncomfortable moments before polishing off Patricio Cornejo of Chile, 6-0, 3-6, 6-3. Nancy, the top ranked and top seeded U.S. woman tennis player, blasted Gail Hansen of Palo Alto, 6-0, 6-1.

Stan Smith of Pasadena, Calif., the No. 1 ranked U.S. player, overpowered Ony Parun of New Zealand, 6-2, 6-2.

LONG BEACH, Calif. — Tennis star Billie Jean King underwent surgery on her right knee at a Long Beach hospital Wednesday.

A hospital spokesman said "she came through the operation beautifully."

Mrs. King previously had an operation performed on her left knee.

Baseball

MINNEAPOLIS — ST. PAUL — Jim Perry pitched perfect baseball for five innings and went on to record his 15th win of the season last night as Minnesota edged Detroit, 2-1. Perry, 33, brother of the Giants' pitcher Gaylord Perry, allowed only two hits but needed late inning help from reliever Ron Perranoski to become the winningest pitcher in the American League this season. Perry has seven losses.

Jim Merritt of the National League Cincinnati Reds also has 15 wins.

CHICAGO — Ernie Banks was placed on the disabled list for the first time in his 17 year career Wednesday because of a chronic aggravation in his left knee.

The veteran first baseman injured the knee six weeks ago, and has played sporadically since then, aggravating the knee each time.

Boxing

NEW YORK — Floyd Patterson, former two-time heavyweight champion, has agreed to meet Charlie "Devil" Green of New York in a 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden Sept. 15.

Patterson, who holds the distinction of being the only heavyweight to lose and regain his crown, has been inactive since Sept. 14, 1968, when he lost a bout to Jimmy Ellis in Stockholm, Sweden.

Bowling

AKRON — Akronite Don Johnson's 11th place finish in the Houston Sertoma Open has increased his lead in the weekly money winnings of the Professional Bowling Association.

Johnson received an $800 check for his finish in the Houston Open to give him $37,265 this season. Nelson Burton Jr., who thus far has earned $31,750, is in second place.

Drake Nine Continues Torrid Pace

The Drake Pirates continued their torrid pace in the Marin County Joe DiMaggio Baseball League last night, winning their 11th game against only three losses as they bombed Presidio, 16-6.

Terra Linda demolished Healdsburg, 23-0 last night in Healdsburg. The Trojans wore out three Healdsburg pitchers with 16 hits, while John Klingler fired a one-hitter for the win.

The Italian Club stayed a half game behind Drake with an 11-7 win over Mill Valley. In other games Toby's Truckers shutout San Marin, 5-0, and Holiday Magic downed Annex Motors, 5-3.

EXPLOSION

Ken Zepponi tripled with the bases loaded to highlight an 11 run fifth inning as Drake exploded against Presidio. John Billings added a triple and single to the attack, while the San Francisco team fed the fire with nine errors.

It wasn't Clifford Hall's fault that Mill Valley dropped its second game of the season to the Italian Club. Hall belted a single, double, and triple, and knocked in four runs. Scott Kaplan and Bob Brown each doubled and singled to pace the winners.

FANS 11

Mickey Simmons struck out 11 batters and Tom Olson doubled and smashed a three-run homer to give Toby's Truckers their victory over San Marin. Simmons allowed only three hits and was never in trouble.

Gary Nelson lined a two-run double in the first inning and Dave Urquhart singled home the winning run in the sixth as Holiday Magic beat Annex Motors.

Amateur Skiing Status Clearer

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Coach Wally Schaeffler says the nebulous definition of amateur status has been clarified in relation to the United States ski team.

Schaeffler and his skiers, who stopped off here Wednesday en route to a July 30-31 meet in Australia, said several safeguards have been instituted by the U.S. Ski Association to assure that skiers get no personal reward from endorsement of commercial ski equipment.

BOWLING TIPS

By MARION LADEWIG

In the course of the natural backswing, the ball should reach shoulder-height. This happens as the third step (with right foot in four-step delivery) is completed. For most women this length of a backswing will produce sufficient speed and balance.

Bueler Hurls Three-Hitter At Vallejo

Novato's American Legion baseball team has clinched at least a tie for the second half of its league season by blanking Vallejo 5-0 yesterday behind the three-hit pitching of Dennis Bueler.

Novato finished the regular season with an overall record of 11 wins and 5 losses. In the second half Novato was 6-2. Napa, now 5-2, plays Vacaville Saturday and if Napa wins will play Novato in a playoff game Sunday in Vallejo. A Napa loss will give the Novato nine sole possession of the second half title.

Bueler struck out 15 batters and walked none yesterday in coasting to the victory at Vallejo's Wilson Park. Novato was led at the plate by left fielder Tom Zechlin and right fielder Jim Thompson, each with two hits.

A Packed Program For British Games

EDINBURGH, Scotland (UPI)—It's gala day for track and field fans today at the ninth British Commonwealth Games with no fewer than 10 gold medal events included on a packed and varied program.

The Meadowbank Stadium schedule on the sixth day of the Games, playing so far to packed houses with attendances way above the most optimistic expectations, is rivaled only by the windup program Saturday which is capped by the colorful and spectacular closing ceremony.

But for track purists, today's menu takes some beating. And the highlight of all is that supreme test of fitness and sheer guts, the incomparable marathon in which men drive themselves to the limits of physical endurance.

Pre-event favorite in a very strong field was Eddie Clayton of Australia, the 6-foot-2 draftsman from Victoria who has the world's best marathon time of two hours, eight minutes, 33.6 seconds to his credit.

Ben Hogan Plans To Play In Westchester Classic

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI)—Ben Hogan, who made a two-week reappearance on the golf tour in May, plans to play again next week at the $250,000 Westchester Classic in New York.

Hogan flew to New York today to present a portrait of himself to Golf House—the headquarters of the United States Golf Association.

Following that Hogan said he would play several practice rounds over the Westchester Country Club course in preparation for the tournament.

"I'm putting better," Hogan said Wednesday. "Maybe because I moved the ball forward. It was a nerves thing with me. They're better now. I guess I don't have the same problems I used to have."

Hogan said the knee problem which kept him out of active golf for two years is still with him, but has improved slightly.

Ron Blum scored 20 points to lead McGillicuddy Construction Co. to a narrow 72-70 victory over Jarcik Insurance last night in Drake Summer Basketball League action.

In other games in the Drake High School gym in San Anselmo, Bob Greenman scored 21 in Harvey Wallbanger's 66-59 victory over Dan Coleman Associates (Terry Overlid 20 points), and San Rafael Travel won by forfeit over Sausalito Boat House.

Good Start

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bob Feller became the only major leaguer to pitch a no-hitter on the opening day of the season when he stopped the Chicago White Sox, 1-0 on April 16, 1940.

Unknown Leads 49er Sprint

GOLETA (UPI)—When the San Francisco 49ers ran their traditional 40-yard training camp race a few days back, an unknown from San Jose State College led the field.

He is Walt Blackledge, a 6-3 wide received who clocked 4.65 in the 40-yard sprint. He's hoping to make the squad as a free agent, to fulfill one of two ambitions.

This is his third pro football camp, and he has yet to stick on a regular season roster. In addition, he still has one semester left before receiving his degree from San Jose State.

"I'm going back to school, whether I make the team or not," Blackledge said Wednesday.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Divide Capital Outlay For Retirement Fund

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am nearing retirement age and need good safe income. I will have a sizable cash sum from my company, built up over the years. How can I best invest this? — P.W.

A I would favor dividing investment capital — 50 per cent in high-grade bonds for conservation of principal and high yield and 50 per cent in good quality common stocks for possible inflation protection as well as generous income.

In the first category, I would select either five-year notes or five-to-10 year call-protected bonds. Five-year notes such as General Foods 8¼s or RCA 9s sell to yield about 8.1 per cent to maturity. Longer-term issues such as the American Telephone 8¾ per cent debenture or Dow Chemical 8⅞s with 10-year refunding protection are suitable.

For remaining capital, you can select from a broad list of low-multiple, high-yield conservative common stocks. Industries such as utilities, petroleum, telephone, food packaging and distilling offer growth prospects, with (at this time) limited downside risk. I would include American Brands, American Telephone, National Distillers, Pacific Lighting and Standard Oil of California.

Q Recently I overheard the word congenerics when some bankers were talking. What does it mean? — J.C.

A Bankers, I understand, have coined this word to cover the one-bank holding companies which had reached a nationwide total of 890 as of December, 1969, up from 550 at the end of 1965 and 117 at the end of 1955. How soon this new word gets into public usage will probably depend on the stock market's recovery and the extent of public participation therein.

As a corporate innovation, congenerics are evidently here to stay and expand so long as their diversification moves remain "generic" in character. According to legislation now in process, acquisitions must be either related to banking operations or designed to meet some specific need of the bank's customers, if federal regulation of these new holding companies is to be avoided.

Kiel Ship Canal Is Busiest In World

BONN (UPI) — Already handling four times as many ships as the Suez at its peak, the Kiel ship canal, world's busiest, is to be widened and reopened at a cost of 600 million marks ($162 million) to carry still more vessels between the North Sea and the Baltic.

In 1969, an estimated 87,000 ships from 50 countries carrying about 60 million tons of cargo used the canal, the administration reported.

Rail Signals Awarded

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — L.M. Ericsson Telephone Co. has obtained a $10 million contract from the Danish state railways to install automatic and remote control signalling equipment in the Copenhagen area..

ADDITION TO SAN FRANCISCO SKYLINE

This new 600-room tower addition to the St. Francis Hotel will rise 441 feet above street level. It will feature five outside elevators, a huge sky bar and a block-long Japanese garden on the roof of the connecting hotel building. Bethlehem Steel Corp. ironworkers have begun erection of the steel. William L. Pereira and Associates is the architectural firm and Chin and Hensolt are the structural engineers. Dinwiddie Construction Co. is the general contractor.

Leading Banks Said Ready To Help Lockheed

NEW YORK (UPI) — A group of the nation's major banks were reported to have agreed in principle to a big financial package to rescue troubled Lockheed Aircraft Corp.

The New York Times said it had learned the proposed financial aid package is big enough to keep Lockheed in business in substantially its present form. Lockheed presently is the nation's largest single defense contractor.

A spokesman for Lockheed in New York said the Times story "appears to be very close to the banks' attitudes as we know them." He said the company would comment officially later.

The Times said the financial package would run from $300 million to $430 million and that it would have to be guaranteed by the federal government. The Times also said the package will include a controversial $200 million contingency fund to help cover cost overruns on the giant C5A cargo plane program.

New List Published

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Reserve Board has posted a revised list of 390 over-the-counter stocks to which it is applying stock credit or margin rules. Generally the required margin that must be put up by the buyer is 65 per cent.

Peace Hopes For Mideast Lift Stocks

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market got a strong lift near the final bell today from a statement by President Gamal Abdel Nasser that Egypt has accepted the U. S. proposals for a peaceful settlement of the Middle East conflict.

The UPI Marketwide Indicator showed a gain of 0.56 per cent on 1,526 issues crossing the tape. Of these, 679 advanced and 483 declined.

The Dow Jones Industrial Average of 30 selected blue chips was ahead 8.01 at 732.68.

A turnover of over 11 million shares compared with 12,460,000 shares Wednesday.

Some early enthusiasm was provided by a new Viet Cong appeal for U.S. backing of a new coalition government in Saigon.

Analysts described the initial advance was a repetition of Wednesday's "peace rally."

In the latest development, the Viet Cong—with North Vietnam's approval—appealed for U. S. backing of a new coalition government in Saigon.

The newest appeal was regarded as the most optimistic since the deadlocked Paris peace talks began Jan. 19, 1969.

A remark by Arthur F. Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, also provided early support.

Burns told the House-Senate Economic Committee that long-term interest rates have declined in recent weeks, equity prices have made some recovery, and a much calmer atmosphere has come to prevail in financial markets.

Eastman Kodak, which reported lower earnings for the June quarter, was a major feature. It traded a block of 262,900 shares at 65, off 2 1-2, for institutional investors.

Closing quotations included IBM up 3 at 257, Du Pont up 3 1-4 at 122 3-8, Jersey Standard up 1 1-4 at 59 7-8 and General Electric up 1 3-8 at 76.

Nixon Gets Model Bill On Crime

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate approved today and sent to the White House a model anticrime package for the nation's capital.

Alhough the bill's provisions would immediately affect only the District of Columbia, it was recommended to Congress by President Nixon as a possible model for state legislatures.

The most controversial sections of the bill were the "no-knock" and "preventive detention" sections, both of which had been recommended by President Nixon.

PROVOKE DEBATE

These two provisions, in addition to some less celebrated ones, provoked a week-long debate as a coalition of liberals and constitutional conservatives sought to stop the measure.

The "no knock" provision provides police can enter homes and buildings without notice, after obtaining a special warrant from a judge if they believe that evidence, primarily drugs, would otherwise be destroyed.

The pretrial detention provision permits a judge to hold for up to 60 days without bail pending trial a defendant accused of a violent crime if the judge thinks he might commit another violent offense if released.

Opponents also fought a section which permits court-ordered wiretapping in the investigation of major crimes, and another which transfers to adult court 16 and 17-year-olds, accused of crimes such as murder, armed robbery and forceable rape.

OTHER PROVISIONS

Other provisions never in question were a reorganization of the local courts, including the addition of 17 judges; the creation of a Washington, D.C. bail agency for people released pending trial; and a new public defender service system for the poor.

Sen. Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., floor manager of the bill, said the "no knock" provision only codified existing law and conformed to a Supreme Court decision allowing no-knock entry if a police officer feels his life would be endangered or evidence destroyed if his presence was made known.

Tydings also called the pretrial detention provision fully constitutional. He said the Eighth Amendment of the Constitution, concerning bail, is taken from the British bill of rights which he said "has always been interpreted in that country to authorize pretrial detention of dangerous persons."

He was challenged mainly by Sens. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., and Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., who termed both provisions unconstitutional.

Candlemaker Maxine De St. Aubin of San Rafael lights up her latest creation—a multicolored, 400-pound candle intended for display at the Trident Restaurant in Sausalito. The candle, three feet high and two feet wide, required 45 gallons of wax and took three weeks to make.

Tear Gas Bombs Thrown From Gallery Into House Of Commons

LONDON (UPI) — A man shouting "Belfast, see how you like it," threw two tear gas bombs from the public gallery on to the floor of the House of Commons today.

Lawmakers, choking and coughing, fled from the chamber filled with billowing smoke and gas fumes.

The first bomb bounced across the floor of the chamber and rolled under the crowded opposition Labor Party front bench filled with Labor Party leaders. One of them, Mrs. Barbara Castle, secretary for employment and productivity in the former Labor government, was helped from the chamber.

The second bomb landed near the government front bench.

The speaker, Dr. Horace King, still wearing his robes and wig, was helped from the chamber by attendants and officials.

The bombs burned two holes in the green carpet to the right of the table in the center of the chamber.

A youngish man in the third row of the public gallery, wearing a brick colored pullover sweater was grabbed by attendants as he raised his arms and shouted.

Some witnesses understood him to shout "how do you like that, you bastards."

The man later was led away by police. He was not identified immediately.

It was the first known bombing of the House of Commons.

Spectators sitting in the gallery near the man pulled away from him as attendants rushed in to grab him.

Billowing clouds of smoke and gas filled the crowded chamber. Reporters who remained in the press gallery to see what was happening finally had to rush out with streaming eyes, burning throats and smarting lungs.

Most of the smoke and fumes rose to the press gallery. The visitors' gallery escaped most of the smoke clouds.

The explosions occurred just at the end of the daily Commons question period. Prime Minister Edward Heath was among those who had just finished answering questions. But he already had left the chamber.

The session was suspended indefinitely.

Two policemen at the main entrance refused to allow anyone who had not been in the building at the time of the explosions to enter it, even with police passes.

13 Radicals Indicted In Bombings

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A federal grand jury handed down indictments Thursday against 13 members of the radical Weatherman group on charges of conspiracy to commit bombings in four cities.

Attorney General John N. Mitchell said the indictment stemmed from an investigation begun after an explosion last March 6 destroyed a brownstone town house in New York City. The bombings cited in the indictments occurred in Chicago, New York, Detroit and Berkeley, Calif.

The indictment was returned by a grand jury in Detroit.

IN NEW YORK

According to the indictment, several of the 13 defendants were in the house in New York City when the explosion occurred. "Dynamite bombs were assembled" on the premises, the grand jury said. Three persons were killed in the explosion with only two positively identified.

A federal grand jury in Chicago indicted 12 members of Weathermen in April on charges of conspiracy and interstate travel to incite riots in that city last October. Only one of them, Linda Evans, has been apprehended. Miss Evans, 23, of Ft. Dodge, Iowa, and several of the Weatherman members indicted in April also were named in the Detroit indictment.

The 13 accused and 15 other persons named as co-conspirators, the indictment said, intended to "use bombs, destructive devices and explosives to destroy police installations and other civic, business and educational buildings throughout the country and to kill and injure persons therein."

The group was charged with agreeing to organize a central committee to direct bombing operations with members being assigned to Chicago, New York City, Detroit and Berkeley.

In addition, the indictment said, the group decided to establish "clandestine and underground 'locals,' consisting of three or four persons" which would be under the command of the "central committee" and which would carry out the actual bombing of police stations and other buildings.

DEFENDANTS NAMED

Named in the indictment were:

Miss Evans; Mark Rudd, 23, a leader in the Columbia University riots whose last known address was New York City; Bernadine Rae Dohrn, 28, lately of Oak Park, Ill.; William Charles Ayres, 25, lately of Chicago; Kathie Boudin, 27, lately of Chicago; Cathlyn Platt Wilkerson, 25, lately of Chicago.

Dianne Maria Donghi, 21, lately of New York City; Russell Todd Neufeld, 23, lately of Hempstad, New York; Jane Spielman, 23, of the Bronx, New York; Ronald David Fliegelman, 26, lately of Wyncote, Pa.; Naomi Ester Jaffe, 27, New York City; Robert Gaylord Burlingham, 24, of Suffern, New York, and Larry David Grathwohl, 23, whose last known address was Cincinnati.

FBI REPORT

Kent Guardsmen May Be Charged

AKRON, Ohio (UPI)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation has concluded the killing of four Kent State University students was "not necessary" and six National Guardsmen who fired the fatal shots could face criminal charges, the Akron Beacon Journal said today in a copyrighted article.

The FBI report, the newspaper said, also concluded that the shootings were "not in order" and the crowd of some 200 students could have been dispersed by more tear gas or would have broken up if the Guard had started making arrests.

The newspaper said the FBI reported the guardsmen would be charged if it is determined the confrontation was not a riot.

The Beacon Journal said the FBI findings suggest that because there was no immediate threat to life or property, the demonstrators would not be considered rioters.

The newspaper said the FBI has the names, addresses and ranks of the six Guardsmen whom it claims fired the fatal shots.

However, the Beacon Journal said if it was determined riot conditions existed, the Guardsmen could not be prosecuted.

The Justice Department will determine if charges will be filed.

The FBI report said the firing lasted 11 seconds and a total of 13 persons were struck by bullets. Four were hit in the front and the other nine in the side or back, the Beacon Journal said.

The newspaper said the report is signed by Jerris Leonard, Chief Of The Civil rights division in the Justice Department.

Demo Asks Ouster Of Two Pentagon Aides

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. William Moorhead, D-Pa., accused two high-level Pentagon officials today of breaches of security and called for their resignations.

The congressman also charged that the administration was seeking to "discredit, intimidate and silence" advocates of economy in defense spending.

The officials named by Moorhead were Jerry W. Friedheim, deputy assistant secretary of defense for public affairs, and Richard G. Capen Jr., assistant for congressional relations to Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird.

Moorhead's demands made at a news conference and in a speech prepared for delivery to the House, were the latest round in a dispute between the Defense Department and an informal group known as Members of Congress for Peace Through Law.

Last week, the department claimed that a report by 28 members recommending cutbacks in 14 major weapons systems contained classified material and that the group's leaders refused to submit it to the Pentagon in advance so that security details could be deleted.

Moorhead said he had learned that copies of a draft of the report somehow obtained by the Defense Department were distributed to selected members of the House and Senate Armed Services Committee, so that they could be ready to rebut it.

The copies sent to Capitol Hill, Moorhead said were not double wrapped, nor did they carry any classification stamp, both required by security regulations.

Russians Plan Settlement Before Israeli Withdrawal

LONDON (UPI)—Authoritative Communist diplomatic sources said Thursday the new Soviet plan for a Middle East settlement contains large chunks of the American plan plus a revised version of the plan first offered by the Russians last January.

The Russians called for a detailed package plan, to be accepted by the Arabs and Israel, signed and sealed by them and guaranteed by the big powers before full Israeli withdrawal from occupied territory. Previously Russia asked for withdrawal first.

Although the American plan calls for a 90-day cease-fire, the Russian plan sets no time limit. It also calls for the creation of demilitarized zones and the use of the Suez Canal and the Tiran Strait by Israel, provisions of an earlier plan.

The diplomats said the Russian plan was worked out during the three-week visit to Moscow of Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser, who, they said, approved the plan. They said the Russians were "flexible" since failure to reach a settlement could bring a confrontation betwten the United States and Russia.

The sources said Russia would apply presure to Syria, which never recognized the 1967 U.N. resolution, and the Arab guerrillas who are intent on fighting their own battle. The guerrillas are expected to

First Real Break In Paris Talks

PARIS (UPI)—The Viet Cong, with Hanoi's approval appealed today for U.S. backing of a new coalition government in Saigon. And in a formal statement the Viet Cong said any other problem in the Vietnamese war can be settled if Washington withdraws its support of the present Saigon regime.

It was the most optimistic development in the deadlocked talks since they began on Jan. 19, 1969. Diplomatic observers said it appeared the Communist negotiators had assigned overall priority to negotiating with the United States on the possibility of forming a coalition from all factions.

President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam has always ruled out any possibility of cooperation with the Viet Cong. Diplomatic observers said Saigon has had the upper hand on Allied negotiating decisions concerning political matters since the talks began.

BACKS COALITION

Mme. Nruyen Thi Binh, Viet Cong foreign minister and chief negotiator in Paris, said in New Delhi Wednesday her movement would agree to a coalition that would include some members of the current Saigon government — specifically excluding Thieu, Vice President Nguyen Coa Ky and premier Thkan Thien Kheim.

Emerging from today's 76th Vietnam peace talks session, Viet Cong delegate Dinh Ba Thi said in a formal statement:

"The urgent question presently is the one which demands that the United States give up its support for the dictatorial and warlike administration of Theiu-Ky-Khiem in order to allow the South Vietnamese population to decide itself its own destiny without outside interference, and that it (the United States) puts an end to the inhuman penitentiary regime and to the barbarian acts of the American puppets in South Vietnam.

"CAN BE SETTLED"

"These urgent and basic problems having been resolved, any other problem relating to the stoppage of war in South Vietnam can be settled."

Before Thi read the formal statement the Communists had appealed for U.S. backing for a coalition government and said in private the issue was negotiable.

At the same time, Hanoi accused the United States of bombing and shelling North Vietnam for three days and said Washington must "assume all the consequences." This could include a new boycott of the peace talks if the attacks continue, observers said.

North Vietnamese delegate Nguyem Minh Vy called on U. S. acting delegation chief Philip CM Habib to discuss the Viet Cong's 10-point program, which includes the new coalition cabinet in Saigon.

U.S. Paratroopers Abandon Base

SAIGON (UPI)—The U.S. Command announced today that American paratroopers had abandoned base camp Ripcord under fire and in the face of three months of heavy Communist pressure, a costly ambush on Wednesday and the loss of two giant helicopters.

The Wednesday ambush killed 12 paratroopers and wounded six in the costliest single battle for U.S. troops in three months. It was announced as the U.S. Command reported the loss of 66 Americans in combat last week had pushed the 10-year U.S. death toll in Indochina past the 43,000 mark.

At least 32 Americans of the U.S. 101st Airborne's 3rd Brigade have been killed and 148 wounded in ground action around the Ripcord outpost since July 1, and an unknown number of others have been killed or wounded in shelling attacks. The post is 25 miles west of Hue and near the Laotian border.

The command said evacuation of the base began Tuesday and was completed today with the aid of CH47 Chinook and UH1 troop-carrying helicopters under mortar, automatic weapons and small arms fire.

The U.S. Command said one of the Chinooks was shot down today with no loss of life but that the giant craft was destroyed by mortar fire.

The CH47 crash triggered an explosion of ammunition and there was "moderate to heavy damage," but the only injuries were aboard the helicopter.

Spokesmen said the Communists near the base on a hilltop seven miles east of the fog-shrouded A Shau Valley took "very heavy casualties and material losses" from U.S. air and artillery strikes but that it was decided to close it down.

"Ripcord's closing will provide additional troop units for offensive operations against the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese in Thua Thien province," a spokesman said.

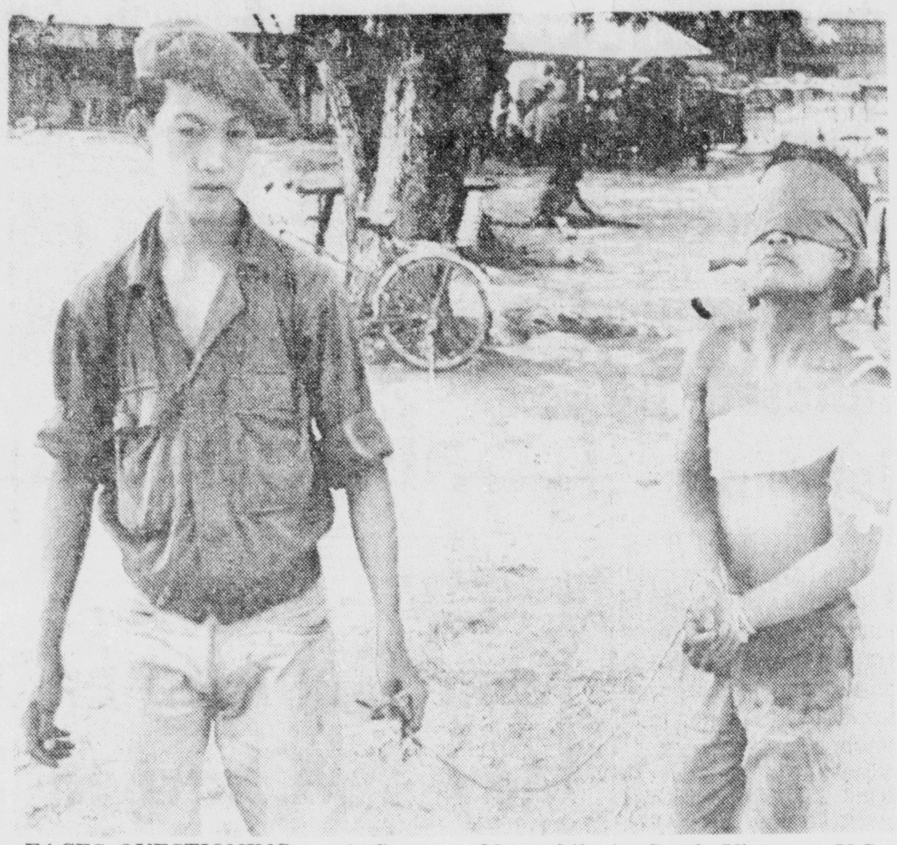
In the ambush about a mile and a half from Ripcord, Communist infantry attacked a company-sized force with mortar, rocket grenades, and small arms fire, touching off a six-hour battle. The Americans called in artillery and repeated strikes by Air Force Supersabre and Phantom fighter-bombers. Communist losses were unknown.

The weekly casualty report said a "continued decrease" in the level of Communist attacks appeared the main factor as South Vietnamese losses dropped slightly to 321 dead and 792 wounded, with guerrilla deaths put at 1,338.

Three Vietnamese civilians were reported killed and seven wounded Tuesday when they walked into a U.S. mine field north of Saigon and detonated one of the explosive devices. The incident is under investigation.

There were two Cambodian —Guerrilla troops blew up a bridge between Phnom Penh and Kompong Som, Cambodia's only deepwater port, during the night, blocking the flow of trucks carrying oil and supplies from the port to the capital.

—Prime Minister Lon Nol of Cambodia, concluding two days of talks with Thai officials in Bangkok, announced Thailand had agreed to send troops to Cambodia. He said he did not ask them how many or where they would be sent.



FACES QUESTIONING — A Cambodian soldier leads a Viet Cong prisoner into district headquarters at Kompong Speu for questioning. He was wounded and captured. Meanwhile in South Vietnam, U.S. paratroopers abandoned their base camp near Hue due to a new ambush and heavy Communist build-ups. (UPI Radiophoto)

India Pilgrims Drown

NEW DELHI (UPI)—A wall of water from an overflowing river in the Himalaya Mountains has drowned more than 200 persons, sweeping away a caravan of buses and other vehicles carrying them home from a religious pilgrimage.

Villagers near the Hindu shrine of Badrinath said it was the worst flooding on the Alaknanda River in 50 years.

Indian press reports said the motorcade, carrying 600 pilgrims from Badrinath, was halted by rising waters 40 miles south of the city Tuesday night. Nearly 400 persons scrambled up a hillside to safety before the surging waters swept away 15 buses, five taxicabs and two trucks.

Tour Bus Overturns

BRISBANE, Australia (UPI) —A bus loaded with tourists overturned today on Fraser Island, off the coast of the state of Queensland, killing seven persons and injuring 39 others.

Dawn Wilson of Melbourne, one of the injured passengers, said the bus was descending a steep hill when the driver tried to shift into low gear but failed. She said the bus gathered speed, hit a tree and overturned.

She said the bus broke in two, spilling the 45 passengers and driver into brush on either side of the roadway.

Agnew Won't Swap

WASHINGTAN (UPI) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew won't substitute for ABC commentator Paul Harvey.

Harvey suggested in a recent broadcast Agnew swap jobs with him for a day. Agnew didn't comment, but ABC News president Elmer Lower said Agnew wouldn't be allowed to be a commentator on ABC.

"Actually, under long-standing ABC news policy, news broadcasts and commentary are written and presented on the air only by professional newsmen, such as Paul Harvey, who are under contract to ABC," Lower said in a statement.

He said Harvey's suggestion was made in a light-heated manner."

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—The Louisville-Jefferson County Air Board has recommended six sites for a porposed $230 million intercontinental jetport to the Federal Aviation Administration. Airport director Foster V. Jones said none of the six sites are located in Jefferson County but are within 35 miles of downtown Louisville.

Crime Campaign Set

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Attorney General John N. Mitchell says the Nixon administration will try to wipe out organized crime in the United States before the country's 200th brithday in 1976.

"We hope the nation's bicentennial celebration can receive as a present the elimination of organized crime," Mitchell said Wednesday after presiding over the first session of the National Council on Organized Crime.

Mitchell said one-fourth of the estimated 5,000 Mafia leaders had already either been jailed or forced into retirement.

"We're making quite a dent," he said. "Some are retiring to Florida; others are incarcerated in jails. The top management is involved and you just can't replace top management."

The dead included Franca Sardina, 21, of San Diego, Calif.

Flood Warnings Up

ATLANTA (UPI)—Remnants of tropical storm Becky dumped heavy rains on much of the Southeast and the Weather Bureau warned today of possible flash flooding in five states.

The Washington Weather Bureau issued flash flood watches for portions of northern Georgia, western South and North Carolina, southwestern Virginia and southeastern West Virginia.

The squally center of Becky, with maximum winds of 15 to 25 miles per hour, was near the northern Alabama-Georgia border early today, moving slowly north.

Goldwater Applauds

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Barry Goldwater says there wouldn't be any Vietnam war now if he had been elected president in 1964, or if more presidents had shown the courage of President Nixon when he invaded Cambodia.

"There might not be much of North Vietnam left, but we wouldn't have a war going on over there," Goldwater said Wednesday.

Goldwater made his remarks on the CBS radio show, Capitol Cloakroom.

Testimony Reveals Military Weapons Stolen, Then Sold

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Everything from bazookas to bomb components are being pilfered from West Coast military arsenals and bartered on the militants' black market, often in a straight swap for drugs, congressional testimony has revealed.

California officials, describing the "astonishing" disappearance of the iVetnam-bound weapons from guarded compounds, told a Senate subcommittee Wednesday even some police-confiscated weapons entrusted to the Army for safekeeping have vanished in recent months.

"I think it came as a great shock to the armed forces (to find out) just how much they were losing," said Charles A. O'Brien, California's chief deputy attorney general. "I don't think they had any notion there was such a demand for munitions."

In the fifth day of hearings on domestic terrorism, O'Brien told the Senate Investigations subcommittee how some stolen arms were eventually recovered by police in raids or through outright purchase by undercover agents.

One recent haul, he said, netted 94 pounds of plastic explosives, 39 grenades and 10 bazookas, all stolen from Fort Ord, Calif. He said agents "bought" it for $4,000.

"I found it astonishing that weapons in this amount could disappear from a military base," O'Brien said.

So, apparently, did subcommittee chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark. He ordered his staff to begin an "immediaee inquiry" into the theft, beginning at the Pentagon.

"This is more distressing than I thought it would be when I started these hearings," McClellan said.

Overpass Plunge Kills Father, Girl

LIVERMORE (UPI)—A station wagon plunged off a 40-foot high overpass Wednesday, killing Herman L. Guidry, 45, of Oakland and his daughter, Faye Etta, 13.

A California Highway Patrol officer said Guidry's car was hit from the rear by a car that was trying to pass him.

Guidry had been sandblaster at the Mare Island Naval Shipyard in Vallejo.

Ex-Mayor Of Newark, Four Others Guilty

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI)—Former Newark Mayor Hugh J. Addonizio and four others were convicted Wednesday on charges of extortion and conspiracy which the government called "cold-blooded, calculated" corruption in the state's largest city.

The Federal Court jury found all five defendants guilty on all counts in the 64-count indictment arising from a kickback scheme from which the defendants allegedly netted $1.4 million from companies doing business with the city of Newark.

The convictions carry maximum sentences of 1,280 years in jail and $640,000 in fines for each defendant. U.S. District Court Judge George H. Barlow set no date for sentencing.

Convicted with Addonizio were former city attorney Philip Gordon, former Public Works Director Anthony LaMorte and reputed Mafia figures Joseph Biancone and Ralph Vicaro.

The case for the defense was badly damaged by the testimony of key prosecution witness Paul Rigo, head of Constrad Inc., an engineering firm handling Newark city projects.

Rigo, an engineer, swore he personally handed over $225,000 on 63 different occasions to city officials, including one time when he handed $4,000 to Addonizio in the mayor's office at City Hall.

Cereals Under Attack On Nutrition Counts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Senate subcommittee was told today most brands of dry cereal provide little nutrition and many of the least nutritious brands cost the most and are advertised heavily on children's television shows.

Robert B. Choate, a civilian engineer who has worked on a number of government nutrition projects, said poor children particularly suffer as a result of misleading commercials equating strength and athletic prowess with a brand of breakfast cereal.

"The worst cereals are huckstered to the children on a totally antinutritional basis equating sweetness with health and ability, while the very few good cereals are sold to adults in a manner all but defying nutrient cost analysis," Choate said in testimony prepared for the Senate Consumers subcommittee.

Choate gave the subcommittee a study of 60 cereals. Forty of them, he said, have so little protein, iron, calcium, and vitamins that "they fatten but do little to prevent malnutrition."

Of the 60 brands, he said, "clearly the best from a nutrient standpoint" were Kellogg's Product 19, General Mills' Kaboom and General Mills' Total. He rated six others "nutritionally meritorious." They were Nabisco 100 Per Cent Bran; Quaker Oats Life; General Foods (Post) Fortified Oat Flakes; Kellogg's Special K; General Foods (Post) Super Sugar Crisp; and Kellogg's Sugar Smacks.

Some of the least nutritious brands, according to Choate's chart, were Nabisco Shredded Wheat; Quaker Oats shredded wheat; Kellogg's Sugar Frosted Flakes; General Foods (Post) Honeycomb; Ralston Purina Sugar Frosted Chex; Ralston Purina Corn Chex; General Foods Post Toasties; General Foods Post Krinkles, and Kellogg's Shredded Wheat.

Brief Recovery

SALEM, Ore. (UPI)—Police quickly recovered a bicycle a Willamette University student said had been stolen. But while police had it parked outside the station house it was stolen again.

Arab Willingness Aids Peace Effort

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Egypt's avowed willingness to stop shooting and start talking peace in the Middle East lent new emphasis today to the U.S. attempt to get the Arabs and Israelis headed toward a settlement.

President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt was expected to elaborate on his nation's response to the American plan this afternoon (noon EDT) in a major policy address marking the 18th anniversary of his rise to power.

Cairo delivered its initial reply Wednesday, asserting it was willing to accept the U.S. proposal for a temporary cease-fire along the Suez Canal while informal talks get under way with the Israelis under the supervision of the U.N. mediator, Ambassador Gunnar V. Jarring.

Egypt at the same time said it was standing firm on its demand for the withdrawal of all Israeli troops from territory captured in the 1967 war — something Tel Aviv has refused to do.

Official sources in both Cairo and Washington termed the Egyptian reply "positive" and Nixon Administration officials went ahead with plans to discuss it with the Israelis and Soviets. Israeli officials have said they cannot accept a temporary cease-fire along the canal without some guarantee the Egyptions and Soviets will not use the respite to build additional antiaircraft missile sites along the waterway.

A leading Israeli newspaper, Maariv, said in its morning edition the government already has decided to reject the plan but has not yet told the Nixon Administration. Government spokesmen denied it.

Yitzhak Rabin, the Israeli ambassador to Washington, was to return to Tel Aviv at the weekend for discussions on the U.S. plan. Israel said Wednesday it will have no reply until after Nasser's speech today. The Soviets, too, have withheld their response to the American plan even though they were said to have urged Nasser when he was in Moscow earlier this month to seek a political settlement.

Nasser returned to Egypt from the Soviet capital Friday, consulted with his aides and came up with the reply delivered Wednesday to Donald Bergus, the U.S. representative in Cairo, by foreign minister Mahoud Riad.

Riad later conferred separately with the Soviet and French ambassadors to Cairo on the response. His undersecretary, Salah jgohar, went to Amman and Damascus to tell Jordan and Syria about it.

Even as Cairo was asserting its willingness to enter indirect negotiations, its war minister, Gen. Mohamed Fawsi, warned the "enemy will not give up occupied territory until he is forced to do so."

"The enemy," he said, "thinks by those fierce raids (along the Suez Canal) and by the tons of bombs dropped that he can impose surrender on us."

The Egyptian general said in a message to his troops that the daily. Israeli air raids "have surpassed in intensity the worst battles of World War II."

Pot Count Dismissed, Search Ruled Illegal

A charge of possessing about eight plastic bags of marijuana and a small amount of hashish against Jacqueline Sabes, 23, of Gate 6½, Waldo Point, has been dismissed in Marin Municipal Court after Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. ruled the search of her houseboat was illegal.

Miss Sabes was arrested April 27 after drug agents armed with a search warrant went through the boat. They said they found marijuana throughout the boat and in her purse.

Greek Jet Hijackers In Custody In Cairo

CAIRO (UPI)—Egyptian officials have taken into custody six Arab guerrillas, including a blonde girl, who seized an Olympic Airways jet and held its passengers hostage in Athens until the Greek government promised to free seven Arabs from jail there.

The Olympic 727 jetliner flew back to Athens from Cairo early today with the five-member Greek crew aboard. The guerrillas had forced the plane to Cairo Wednesday night after releasing 53 passengers they held in the jet on the ground in Athens during nearly eight hours of negotiations with Greek officials.

The guerrillas got the promise Greece will release the seven jailed Arab commandos Aug. 22. Two of them are charged with killing a 2-year-old child in a grenade attack against the Athens office of El Al Israeli Airlines in November.

The Middle East News Agency (MENA) said the guerrillas were under guard as they left Cairo Airport but made no mention of whether they were jailed or whether charges were filed against them. Egyptian officials were questioning them.

New Trails Council Will Meet Tonight

Marin Trails Council, a newly formed organization to promote riding and hiking trails throughout Marin, will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the Edward K. Wachsman residence, 50 Palm Drive, San Rafael.

According to one member, veterinarian James H. Steere, the group also is seeking to iron out differences between hiking groups and horse riding clubs over trail use.

About 90 per cent of car thefts in the United States are committed by amateurs, says the National Automobile Club.

Army Approves Vaccine Against Meningitis Form

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army has approved general use of a vaccine against a sometimes-deadly form of meningtis that plagues military bases and kills children, the Army Surgeon General's office said today.

The vaccine has proved so effective in experiments with more than 30,000 volunteer recriuts that it has become an accepted Army vaccine and will be used during this winter's meningitis season, a spokesman said.

The caccine was tested on Army recruits beginning in January, 1969 at Ft. Dix, N.J.; Ft. Polk, La.; Ft. Knox, Ky.; Ft. Bragg, N.C., and Ft. Lewis, Wash. It is being used this week for the first time as an officially approved Army vaccine to stem an unusual summertime outbreak of meningitis at Ft. Dix, where about a dozen men were stricken with the disease that attacks the brain and nervous system.

From January 1967 to February 1970, Indian customs officials seized 251 reels of pornographic films being smuggled into the country, according to an official statement.

Reed Schools Ask Volunteers For Four Committees

Citizens interested in serving on any of the Reed School District's four standing committees have been asked to submit their names to Interim Supt. Stanley H. Friese.

Appointments to the committees expired June 30 and new members now are being sought to fill the vacancies on the finance, research and instructional assessment, school facility and transportation and drug abuse committees, Friese said.

Names will be submitted to the board of trustees for final selection, Friese said. He described the function of each committee:

Finance — Analyze the financial affairs of the district; Facilities — analyze the needs and maintenance of schools, grounds, equipment and transportation; Research — Analyze methods of evaluating instructional programs and evaluate existing programs; Drug Abuse — Study ways of combating drug abuse.

Here's A Burglar Who Was Thirsty

A burglar in San Anselmo stole the makings for a whale of a cocktail, police reported today.

Taken from the American Legion Log Cabin at Sonoma Avenue and Los Angeles Boulevard were 11 quarts of scotch whisky, 12 quarts of bourbon, 10 quarts of vodka, three quarts of gin, two quarts of brandy, two quarts of vermouth, two quarts of creme de menthe — and a blender.

The thief, who broke into the building between 10:30 p.m. Tuesday and 10 a.m. yesterday, also took two $10 checks and a supply of souvenir helmets, guns and knives.

Search Fails To Find Missing Man

An extensive search of the Green Gulch Ranch area yesterday by more than a dozen sheriff's deputies as well as bloodhounds failed to produce any trace of a 24-year-old Mill Valley man missing since Monday afternoon.

Duncan Greene was last seen when he left the Marin Community Mental Health Center at noon. His car was found Monday night on the ranch property, which is near Muir Beach.

Doctors at the mental health center said that Greene has been depressed for several months and described him as suicidal. Sheriff's officers said the search would continue today on a less intensive basis.

Officer Arrests Suspect At Dam

An 18-year-old Tamalpais Valley man was arrested today on suspicion of possessing marijuana after a Mill Valley policeman reportedly caught him smoking a pot cigarette at Cascade Reservoir.

Booked into county jail and held on $315 bail to appear in Marin Municipal Court today was Daniel Martin Klopf of 239 Green Street.

Police said an officer was checking the dam area for illegal campers at 7:20 a.m. when he saw Klopf sitting by the trail smoking a suspected pot cigarette. Two plastic bags containing a small amount of suspected marijuana were found in Klopf's pockets, police said.

Four Protesters Get Jail Penalty

PALO ALTO (UPI) —A Superior Court judge sentenced four persons to jail Wednesday for their parts in an anti-ROTC demonstration at Stanford University.

Judge George H. Barnett sentenced each to five days in jail and fine each $100 for each count of civil contempt, violating an injunction against classroom disruptions.

TALKS

key to peace lies," Vy said. "One must say that it is now—as it always has been in the past—in the hands of the United States."

Diplomatic observers with access to Hanoi and Viet Cong delegations said their readiness to make concessions over the issue of a new administration in Saigon might lead to concessions from the opposite side of other points of the tangled military and political situation.

Habib called on the Communists to agree to an "impartial outside inspection" of prisoners of war camps and supply a complete list of prisoners. "This need is especially urgent in regard to those prisoners you hold in South Vietnam, whom you have not only refused to identify at all, but who have never been allowed to correspond with their families, despite the statements by your own representatives that they are permitted to do so," Habib said.

The Communists, however, ignored Habib's plea and pressed on with their coalition proposals and accusations of U. S. shelling in North Vietnam.

Vy said, "A certain number of communes have been shelled and bombed in the Democratic Republic of (North) Vietnam by planes and artillery based south of the 17th parallel for three days.

"The Nixon administration must assume full responsibility for the consequences arising from these grave acts," Vy said.

Thi said the South Vietnamese government has stepped up what he called "ferocious acts of terror" against the civilian population of the country. He did not elaborate.

His attacks on Washington's and Saigon's refusal to consider the Communist demand for a new coalition government in South Vietnam was taken by observers as indicating formation of such a coalition was a priority aim of the Hanoi and Viet Cong negotiators at this time.

Arrest Leads To Drug Probe

An 18-year-old San Anselmo girl was arrested yesterday on suspicion of possessing marijuana when her purse was searched after a suspected shoplift, San Rafael police reported today.

She was later cleared of the shoplift.

Marion Griffith Sproul of 251 Crescent Road, San Anselmo, was booked into Marin County Jail after a security agent of J.C. Penney Co., San Rafael, found the can of suspected pot, police reported.

Miss Sproul later gave a police officer more suspected marijuana from her purse, police said.

She was released on her own recognizance to appear in Marin Municipal Court tomorrow.

Dissolution Of Marriage Asked

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Actress Patty Duke has instructed her attorney to file for dissolution of her three-week marriage to rock concert promoter Michael Tell.

Miss Duke's attorney, David Licht, said Wednesday the 24-year-old Academy Award winner asked him to file for the divorce.

Miss Duke, who won an oscar for her portrayal of Helen Keller as a child in the "Miracle Worker" and an emmy for her role in television's "My Sweet Charlie," married Tell June 24 at a Las Vegas, Nev., wedding chapel.

Her four-year marriage to producer Harry Falk ended in divorce March 3.

Marine's Appeal In Killings Denied

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Pfc. Samuel Green, 18, Cleveland, one of four Marines charged with the shooting deaths of 16 South Vietnamese women and children last February, has failed to win a temporary injunction blocking his court martial.

U. S. District Court Judge William K. Thomas ruled Wednesday that he could not grant the injunction until other legal action such as appealing the court martial verdict, has been taken.

The Cleveland Marine's attorney, James Chiara, claimed in the suit that Green acted on military orders and that no war had been declared by Congress. He also raised the question of the constitutional right of a trial by Green's peers.

Population At Alcatraz Up: A New Papoose

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The population of Alcatraz Island has increased by one, a papoose born to Mr. and Mrs. John Trundell and named "Wovoka" after a Paiute medicine man.

Trudell, one of the leaders of Indians who occupied the former federal penitentiary in San Francisco Bay, returned to the mainland Wednesday to announce the child was born Monday and is "squalling, strong and healthy."

Dr. Larry Brilliant, who officiated, said he believed it was the first child born on the island and certainly the first Indian.

Indians seized the island eight months ago seeking to turn it into a tribal cultural center. Trudell, originally from Nebraska, is a Sioux.

Sentencing Date Set In LSD Case

A sentencing date of Sept. 21 has been set in Marin Superior Court for Frank Joseph Bonomolo, 23, of Novato, who has pleaded guilty to a charge of selling LSD last year.

Bonomolo and his younger brother, George Tipton, 20, had been arrested in May, 1969, after drug agents said they had been running a drive-in style narcotic and drug sales business at their father's Novato service station.

Novato police said that the brothers offered a variety of drugs to young users and did a large amount of business in selling small amounts of illicit drugs to drive-up trade.

The younger brother, who pleaded guilty to selling marijuana, is serving a term in the Marin County Jail.

Utility District Studies Budget

Directors of the Bolinas Public Utility District last night discussed an operating budget for 1970-71, but made no firm decision on any budget items, clerk Jane Boyer reported.

Mrs. Boyer said the board does not have information on engineering costs for a joint sewage disposal system the district is constructing in cooperation with the Stinson Beach County Water District.

Directors will meet for further budget discussion and to adopt a publication budget Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the district office, 270 Elm Road. Cost figures will be presented at that time, Mrs. Boyer said.

Gas Line Blaze At Novato Home

A Novato man, trying to locate a leak in a gas line, set fire to his carport and laundry room at 33 Grove Lane, according to Fire Chief Jack Kidder.

Alexander Davidson received minor burns on the back of his hand, arm and face in the resulting fire, Kidder reported.

The gas fumes had accumulated in the detached laundry and storage area and were ignited when Davidson tried to locate the leak. The fire did damage estimated at $2,500 to the building and $600 to the contents, Kidder said.

The Reed School District board will meet tonight at 8 p.m. at Del Mar School to hear a report on the educational program for 6-8 grade students, not tomorrow as announced by the board yesterday in the Independent-Journal.

MIDEAST

comply with a truce if not actually agreeing to it.

At the same time, the Communist diplomats said Russia agreed to give Nasser more "defensive" MIG21s and SAM3 missiles but not offensive weapons since that could lead to a direct U.S.-Russian confrontation.

Broadly, the sources said the Russians call for this procedure:

—A truce of undefined length.

—Both the Arabs and Israel commit themselves "from the outset" to accept the U.N. Mideast resolution with calls for Israeli withdrawal from occupied Arab territory.

—The United States and Russia, and possibly Britain and France, to approve a detailed peace plan and procedure, to get U.N. mediator Gunnar V. Jarring to start negotiations as soon as possible with the two sides, on the Rhodes-type pattern of separate talks with each side and with very detailed outlines from the big powers;

—The Israelis to stand committed to withdraw from all occupied Arab lands, but negotiations on the future of some lands.

—The Gaza Strip, Sinai with the Canal Zone and, Shar El Sheikh which dominates the straits of Tiran to be demilitarized outright;

—The Golan Heights to be returned to Syria, not to be demilitarized, but "supervised" by a big power or U.N. force, while Jerusalem be returned to Jordan, apparently with some international safeguards for free access to holy places;

—The Palestinians to be given the west bank of the Jordan and aid in resettlement as well as readmission to Israel of some of them;

—Declarations of intent to be deposited with the United Nations and the big powers to guarantee the arrangements;

—They would include in effect the recognition of Israel and of agreed borders;

—Withdrawal would be phased. For instance, in the Canal Zone, the first phase under the Soviet plan provides for a pull back on either side by about 10 miles, the next by about the same distance etc.

Shop Is Given Sign Approval

The San Anselmo Design Review Committee last night approved plans submitted by Kaufman's Specialty Shop, 540 San Anselmo Avenue, for a canopy and portable sign on the store's frontage on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Also approved was a request by Senor Alfredo restaurant, 115 San Anselmo Avenue, to add a dracaena palm to a planting area.

The commission recommended approval of plans submitted for a Coinette Laundry at 11 Madrone Avenue, but ordered a roof sign structure removed from the building and a permanent irrigation plan submitted for planting areas.

Suspect Held In Two Deaths

MIAMI (UPI) — Police arrested a Miami cab driver early today on charges of killing two women in a tomato field Monday after the daylight robbery of the Coral Gables Western Union office.

The suspect, Milton Niport, 37, was arrested after he stepped off an airliner from Los Angeles at Miami's International Airport shortly after midnight.

A dozen officers were waiting at the debarking ramp when Niport stepped off the plane. He struggled briefly with the officers, but quickly was subdued.

Niport was charged initially with the murders of Mrs. Blanche Delores Palacino, 31, the day manager of the Western Union office, and Mrs. Judy Lamb.

Andres M. Sandoval, 17, of 201 Sixth Street, Petaluma, was arrested yesterday at 10:25 p.m. on suspicion of possession of benzedrine.

Sandoval was booked into Sonoma County Juvenile Hall. Police said they found the drug in his possession in Walnut Park, Petaluma.

A hair dryer and tape cartridges valued at $100 were reported stolen from a station wagon belonging to Mary E. Baird of Ephrata, Wash., between 7 p.m. Tuesday and 8:30 a.m. yesterday.

Theft Conspiracy Count Admitted

Walter W. Daly, 37, San Francisco bartender, has pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of conspiring to commit burglary at the former Tiburon home of William Penn Patrick, cosmetics magnate.

A second charge of burglary against Daly was dismissed.

He is to appear in Superior Court Aug. 10 for setting a sentencing date.

Sheriff's deputies said two men entered the home at 5 Audrey Court on May 1 apparently looking for a safe kept there when Patrick lived in the house.

They forced the occupant, Bonnie Lee Hart, and a maid into a bedroom at gunpoint, according to deputies, and after failing to find a safe, left in a car stolen in Alto. Two other men waited in the car, officers said.

Daly was arrested after witnesses saw the men change cars and gave a description of the car registered to Daly. The other three men are still being sought.

Vaccinations For Rabies Scheduled

A rabies vaccination clinic sponsored by the Marin County Department of Public Health and the county Veterinary Medical Association will be held from 6 to 8 p.m. today at the Corte Madera public safety building.

Due to confusion over dates, some people have been advised the clinic was scheduled for next week, reported Marilyn Wilson, Corte Madera police dispatcher.

Other clinics are scheduled for 6 to 8 p.m. Tuesday at Ross School, July 30 at the Woodacre fire station, Aug. 4 at Point Reyes Station fire station, Aug. 6 at the Mill Valley corporation yard, Aug. 11 at Marion School in Novato, and Aug. 13 at the San Rafael school administration building.

critical to the national security," Moorhead declared. He said the two "appear to be guilty of breaches of security."

He also challenged the Pentagon to back up its charges by bringing legal action against himself and others who allegedly violated security laws.

"If the Pentagon's charges cannot be proved, I suggest that some high-level resignations are in order. In particular, I suggest that Mr. Friedheim and Mr. Capen should resign forthwith," he said.

Burglary Case To Higher Court

Stephen Robert Carrino, 22, of San Rafael and Dolores Marie Burke, 27, of Fairfax were bound over yesterday to Marin Superior Court on a charge of burglarizing a San Anselmo residence July 5.

They are to be arraigned Monday.

They were arrested after police found Miss Burke in a car outside a house at 37 Indian Rock Road and then watched Carrino emerge from a second story porch door.

Vacancies On Panel

Novato Mayor Douglas M. Merrill has asked all civic organizations interested in having a representative on the Novato Beautification Committee to contact City Mgr. Charles A. Brown. There are three vacancies on the committee.

Tiburon Panel Approves Red Hill Plan

Preliminary plans for a 95-unit townhouse development on Tiburon's Red Hill have been examined by the city's board of design review, planning director Wayne E. Moody has reported.

The townhouses would sell for about $70,000 and would be located on the top of the hill, board members were told Tuesday. A two-story parking garage would be built at the base of the hill and would serve to hold a portion of the slide-prone hill in place.

Moody said the plans call for funiculars to carry residents from the parking garage to the units.

The board members gave the project "their enthusiastic approval" and asked the applicant, Leonard Cahn, to work on details and bring the plans back when they are complete, Moody said.

The Tiburon design review board also:

OAKS — Approved plans for a six-unit apartment project in Mariner Oaks on the condition that the 35-foot-high roofs be lowered to 30 feet and that they be shingle.

PIZZA — Approved a three-square-foot sign for Biagio's Pizza, 15 Main Street, conditional on the city council's approval of an encroachment permit to allow the sign to extend over the sidewalk.

MOBIL — Denied Mobil Oil Co. permission for three signs to be placed on service islands at a station at Beach Road and Tiburon Boulevard.

ELECTION — Chose Allan Thompson as chairman to replace Peter MacGowan.

ORIGINAL AMERICAN

Prince Lighfoot Works Hard As Yurok Tribe Representative

By FRANCIS DOZIER JR.

Timm Williams of Fairfax is 46. But in a more profound sense he has been around for many more years than that.

He is an original American — a Yurok Indian.

In many ways Williams — widely know as Prince Lightfoot — is a living symbol of his people. He is the official spokesman for his tribe, which numbers approximately 36,000 and is scattered around the Hoopa Valley Reservation above Eureka in Del Norte County near the Trinity and Klamath rivers.

Williams has been employed by the Matson Navigation Co. in San Francisco for 15 years and is now chief documentation clerk in the records department of the export division.

But, unselfishly, he devotes his time toward the betterment of his people in every manner that is available to him.

Among his outside activities is as president of the California Reservation Indians Health Board, which is centered in Berkeley, a body which is endeavoring "in vain," he says, to contract with the federal government to have funds that are allotted for the health needs of the reservation Indian turned over to Indians.

"So far," he said, "we've only gotten one fourth of what we've asked for because they feel as they always have that Indians are not capable of managing their own affairs."

He also serves on the Marin County Human Rights Commission and formerly, served as that group's representative to the county youth commission.

Williams has been known as Prince Lightfoot to thousands of Stanford University football fans since 1951. He is the official mascot of the team, nicknamed the Indians.

An intensely proud man, he is loquacious but soft-spoken. Lately he has spoken out on one of the many problems that is bothering him and his people — hippie-types who imitate Indians.

"I like everyone else, call them hippies for want of a better word, but I generally like to stay clear of labels. These people are wearing their hair as long as they can, wearing beads and are quick to say that they are living like Indians and are put down by society for that reason.

"Well, I call them 'shoppers' who are 'shopping' for causes. This year it has been the Indian's cause; next year it might be something else. The black man's cause is pretty old to them, so who knows what cause they might take up next."

Williams says he tells groups in his travels and lecturers that imitation Indians can go home and cut their hair and take a good bath and then be accepted by society. But, the Indian, he says, can cut his hair and scrub his skin as hard as he can and he is still not accepted by the whole of America's society.

Yet, Williams said, imitators have, for the most part, been alienated from their families, whereas the Indian family is the most closely-knit social unit that you will find.

"The first regard of the Indian child was to pattern his life in the traditional tribal way so that his parents could be proud of him because he was proud of his parents," said Williams.

As to the future, Williams plans to continue his efforts to aid his people and expose their burdens.

"I am quite religious in my belief — I let God direct all my efforts," he said. "Each man was put on earth for a specific reason. You can look at my life's work and tell very well what my calling has been."

PREPARING FOR WINTER DOWNPOURS

Two Fairfax School District workmen, Fred Deneau and James E. Campbell, labor in Fairfax Creek at White Hill School to correct past erosion in advance of this winter's rains. San Anselmo City Councilman Warren R. Perry said Tuesday the creek bed had been enlarged to twice its original size and would dump tons of debris into Corte Madera Creek in San Anselmo. Fairfax Supt. H. Reginald Hammond, however, said yesterday riprap was installed and the creek realigned without increasing its size to "stabliize the situation." He predicted less erosion than in the past and said the tree at right and another might be saved by the $3,000 job. "There's no question in my mind that it (the creek) is in much better condition now," he said. (Independent-Journal photo)

Panel Studies Delinquency, Drug Curbs

School, probation and police officials have their roles in combatting juvenile delinquency and drug problems, but the key is to convince the juvenile himself.

This was the consensus of six members of the Juvenile Delinquency Prevention Commission who met yesterday in the Hall of Justice with Youth Coordinator Gwen M. Monroe.

Commissioners agreed that too often, each agency isolates itself from the others in dealing with delinquency and blames the others for not following through.

"Everybody seems to blame probation," said Gerald Green. "But look at the insurmountable problem. When parents, schools and police can't do anything more, they shove the problem onto probation and tell them, 'Okay, cure him'."

Rev. James Upshaw said the problem may appear insurmountable, but the commission must proceed on the assumption that some solution is possible.

Commissioners said they recognize that home environment and parents are major factors in delinquency, but in most cases, not much can be done about these.

They recounted experiences they had encountered during interviews they conducted with school, police, judicial and probation officials from April through June in an effort to pinpoint the juvenile delinquency problems and try to find solutions.

Chairman Gary Giacomini announced that yesterday's discussion will be continued at 4 p.m. Aug. 12 in Room 254 of the Hall of Justice. He said new officers for the next 12 months also will be nominated.

College District Trustees Discuss Tax-Bond Proposal

Marin Junior College District trustees last night discussed a tax-bond proposal that would finance the first stage of construction on a North Marin campus without increasing the present tax rate.

The plan was proposed by Thomas C. Place, mathematics instructor and president of the college cabinet. He said it has the unanimous approval of the cabinet, which includes deans and department heads.

It calls for two measures to be put before voters of the district Nov. 1:

1. A $17 million dollar bond issue to complete construction at the Kentfield campus to capacity of 5,000 students and build the Novato campus to capacity of 2,000 to 2,200. This would be amortized through a tax rate of about 17 cents.

2. Replacement of the present 35-cent construction tax with a 25-cent increase in the general operating tax rate (now at the statutory 35 cents per $100 assessed valuation).

The district last year levied an additional 7.8 cents under new legislation permitting an override, without voter approval, to produce matching funds for building projects financed in part by the state. The cabinet plan calls for dropping this.

Three of the four district trustees present at a discussion meeting is the college testing center seemed to favor the proposal. The fourth, Harry J. Moore of Novato, questioned the amounts and was unconvinced the program had been worked out for greatest benefit to the North Marin campus at least cost.

Dale A. Fleming, the college's director of planning, pointed out the $17 million would not be the total outlak for construction at the two campuses. That would be $27.5 million, but the additional funds would come from the state and federal governments.

Moore said he understood from previous discussions that 75 per cent of construction would be at Novato. Fleming said the program shows 57.4 per cent for the north campus and 42.6 per cent for Kentfield.

"We have spent many millions of dollars on the Kentfield campus and now we're talking about 42.6 per cent of $27 million more," objected Moore. "If we have to spend $11.5 million more down here, then let's provide more for the north campus."

Trustee Robert E. Rogers wondered whether the ballot measure could specify how much would be spent on each campus. Trustee Theodore C. Wellman proposed a board resolution setting forth what will be done with the money — similar to the resolution which accompanied the 35-cent tax increase proposal in 1962, binding the district to spend that money only on construction.

To iron out such proposals, and give the figures another close look, the board scheduled another session for Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the testing center. It will follow a session on equipment in the same room Monday at 8 p.m. There will be no regular board meeting next week, pointed out chairman Elizabeth M. Deedy.

Novato Council Plans Park Bond Election Third Time, No Date Set

(Ed. Note: this report of Tuesday' night's meeting of the Novato City Council did not appear in all copies of yesterday's Independent-Journal, and is therefore here reprinted.)

The Novato City Council urged on by citizens and special interest groups, decided last night to attempt a third bond issue election for park purchase and development.

The $850,000 issue proposed is for purchase of 67 acres of the O'Hair property at the corner of Novato Boulevard and Sutro Avenue, initial development of the property for use as a park and completion of Pioneer Memorial Park.

Voters defeated a $2.5 million park bond issue in January 1968, and a $2.3 million proposal to buy the same land and develop it failed in June after getting 53 per cent of the vote, with two-thirds voter approval needed.

The council made no decision as to whether to try to hold a special election on the bond issue in September or to place the issue on the November general election ballot.

City Mgr. Charles A. Brown told the council that a supreme court hearing set for October on a Massachusetts case could reduce the vote requirement for passage to 50 per cent plus one vote.

Councilman Wayne Womack said that he felt the issue could hurt the chances of a street bond issue urgently needed by the city, but he voted with the other council members to direct the city manager and staff to begin paperwork necessary to bring the bond issue to the polls.

"I don't want to be the obstructionist if it's the will of the community," Councilman George Quesada said, explaining why he voted to attempt the election though he favored acquisition of less expensive property between the O'Hair property and the Lion's Club Park.

Two representatives of the Novato Junior Chamber of Commerce, president Robert K. Madgett and vice-president Robert A. Anderson, told the council that state law required a petition with signatures totaling 15 per cent of the voters in the last gubernatorial election to hold the election if the issue proposed is found to be substantially similar to the issue in the June 2 election.

The Jaycees volunteered to circulate the petition to remove all doubt of the legality of the election.

Irving Perlman, of 1581 Hill Road, told the council he represented the North Marin Unit of the Marin Conservation League in advocating the acquisition as soon as possibly of the O'Hair property. He said the league preferred a park less developed than was proposed in previous bond issues.

Several other citizens spoke for the issue.

Leo R. Andrade, of 1510 Vallejo Avenue, opposed the issue because of cost in a city already faced with steeply rising taxes and proposed a smaller developed park with baseball diamonds, a tennis court and swimming pool surrounded by a strong fence to minimize policing problems in the area.

The city staff was directed to present a resolution to the council at a meeting at 8 p.m. next Tuesday to initiate scheduling of the election.

The Novato City Council also:

PIZZA HUT — Set a joint meeting of the council and planning commission Aug. 3 to study Ben Ostlind's renewed request to allow construction of a Pizza Hut restaurant at the corner of Machin and DeLong Avenues. It then placed the request on the Aug. 12 agenda for action, contingent upon receipt of a comprehensive downtown development master plan.

INTERCHANGE — Set for Tuesday discussion of the San Marin-Atherton Avenue interchange on the planned Highway 101 bypass with a representative of the state Division of Highways.

PLANNED COMMUNITY — Placed on the Aug. 12 agenda discussion of means of enforcing current zoning for planned communities with greenbelts in areas in which ownership has been divided and for controlling division of land parcels in areas with planned community zoning.

ANNEXATION — Introduced an ordinance approving the annexation of two properties owned by John Kelly and Daniel Wise which are surrounded by incorporated areas. Kelly protested the annexation, but no majority protest was registered since Wise owns the larger parcel.

CLOSED SESSION — Held a closed session to discuss the possible hiring of a new employee.

Mill Valley Needs Items For Exhibit

An appeal for paintings, photos and memorabilia of pre-1900 Mill Valley to be used during the city's 70th birthday celebration was made last night by the city art commission.

Persons with such objects or other items of historical interest were urged to lend them to the city for inclusion in an exhibit which will be hung in the gallery of the public library on Sept. 4, commission chairman Lyman Emerson said.

Donations, which will be returned after the exhibit closes Sept. 25, may be brought to the library on Aug. 27 or will be picked up by art commission volunteers the next day. A form available from Emerson at 230 Miller Avenue explains the procedure.

Exhibits will be placed in various store windows as well as at the library, Emerson said. Models of early houses and the city's old mill and a vintage printing press will be included, he said.

The birthday celebration is a joint effort of the art commission, the Mill Valley Arts Guild, the Chamber of Commerce and Lucretia Little, city historian.

Skunk, Killed By Dog, To Get Rabies Test

A skunk that may have been rabid was killed by his dog at his yard at 1080 Rosalia Drive, Novato, Kenneth L. Bockrath reported Tuesday to Novato police.

The skunk was turned over to the Marin County Health Department for testing. Bockrath was advised to keep his dog confined until it was learned whether or not the skunk was rabid.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, speaking in French, was the first president to make a radio broadcast in a foreign language.

Marin City Residents Win Official Developer Position

The Marin Urban Development Association, a group of Marin City residents, will act as official purchaser and development of vacant lands in Marin City, the Marin County Housing Authority has decided.

The Marin County Redevelopment Agency approved the association as developer last week and the authority's approval, given at a special meeting yesterday, was the final step needed, Wallace K. Shepherd, interim director of the housing group, reported.

Shepherd said preliminary approval by both bodies will give the development association exclusive negotiating rights for development for nine months. During that time it will have to come up with a feasible project, he added.

The Marin County Housing Authority also:

CONTRACT — Awarded a contract for installation of ventilating fans in 300 units of public housing in Marin City to Alvis Allen and Sons of Marin City whose low bid for the work was $58,000.

SENIORS HOUSING — Approved a development program to provide 56 units of senior citizen housing in Tiburon and voted to forward the application for the $995,712 project to the Department of Housing and Urban development. Shepherd said the housing will be built by a private developer and purchased by the housing authority under the accelerated turnkey program.

Three Girls Hurt In Two-Car Shoreline Crash

An 18-year-old San Francisco girl was reported in good condition today at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Francisco with a fractured right ankle and leg received in an auto accident Tuesday.

The California Highway Patrol reported her car hit the rear of a car making a turn from Shoreline Highway to Flamingo Road in Tamalpais Valley at 12:20 p.m.

Officers said the other driver was Barbara G. Lane, 26, of 25 Cardinal Road, Tamalpais Valley. Joan Fraser, 7, of 54 Reed Boulevard, Strawberry, a passenger in her car, said she would see her own doctor for a bump of the forehead, officers said.

A passenger in the Conidi car, Norma Messina, 17, of San Francisco, was treated at Kaiser for a bruised jaw.

Car Crash Hurts San Leandro Pair

A San Leandro couple was reported in fair to good condition today at Marin General Hospital with injuries received when their car crashed through a Highway 101 guardrail in Corte Madera Tuesday and landed on a frontage road on its roof.

Elwin J. Allen, 65, suffered multiple cuts and bruises and Edna M. Allen, 60, received a fractured left arm and multiple rib fractures, the hospital reported.

The California Highway Patrol said the accident occurred at 5:15 p.m. because Allen's car skidded when he braked to avoid backed up traffic.

Says Crash Hurt Arm

Debby Owen, 18, of 41 Ridgewood Drive, San Rafael, was treated last night at Marin General Hospital for pain in her left arm reportedly resulting from a San Rafael auto accident.

Police said they had no report of the accident.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Equality Bills For Women Advance

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Five bills aimed at ending alleged sexual discrimination in education were approved Wednesday night by the Senate Education Committee.

All the measures by Sen. Mervyn Dymally, D-Los Angeles, were sent to the finance committee on voice votes. They would:

—Require the state colleges and urge the University of California to review hiring practices and correct any inequities in the hiring and promotion of women.

—Require the state colleges and urge the university to take steps toward having women in their graduate schools "more nearly reflect the changing role of women in the professions."

—Require elementary and high school textbooks to "include accurate portrayals of both men and women."

Women favoring the bills told the committee that members of their sex were held back from hiring and advancement as professors and deans.

Professors tell women "they shouldn't get degrees but should have babies instead" charged Dr. Susan Ervin-Tripp of the university's Berkeley campus.

"Since Eve ate the apple women's progress has gone steadily downward," said Dr. Emily Card, a political science faculty member at the UC Irvine campus.

Miss Card said that because women earn less money than men, "women find that they are not in fact valued" and added they should have "equal rights to equal pay.'"

"I do feel oppressed," she said. "I feel like members of minority groups."

Jay Michael representing the university said the women's "allegations are mostly true."

He said that of 1,800 professors at Berkeley, 45 were women. Michael added it was possible "fewer women ought to become professors than men, fewer women prepare themselves to become professors than men."

Dymally voluntarily killed two other bills calling for day child care centers at the university and colleges because of a shortage of state funds.

Another two measures calling for more women on the state Coordinating Council of Higher Education and its staff were held for a later hearing, Dymally said later, however, they had virtually no chance of approval.

UNRUH LOSES

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assemblyman Jess Unruh's absence from the legislature to campaign for governor has contributed to the defeat of his bill to prohibit new oil drilling in the Santa Barbara Channel.

The Assembly rejected the proposal Wednesday on a 40-22 vote, only one vote short of the 41 required for passage to the Senate.

Unruh, Democratic nominee for governor, was absent and reported by his campaign headquarters to be holding "private meetings" in Southern California when the vote occurred.

But Assemblyman Alan Sieroty, D-Beverly Hills, a co-author, kept the measure technically alive by announcing that he would seek to have the defeat reconsidered.

The bill calls for banning any new oil or gas drilling on state-owned tidelands in the scenic cnannel effective next April 1.

Additionally, it declares oil operations in the channel an "ultrahazardous activity," a condition which would hold an oil company strictly liable for any damage its operations caused.

BANS NAMES

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Publication of the names, addresses and phone numbers of police officers would be prohibited under a bill which won the approval Wednesday of the Assembly Criminal Procedure Committee.

The measure by Assemblyman William Campbell, R-Hacienda Heights, would ban publication with malicious intent and with intent to obstruct justice. It was sent to the floor on a split voice vote.

FIRST VETO

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan has vetoed a bill for the first time in the 1970 legislative session, refusing Wednesday to sign a measure by Sen. George Moscone, D-San Francisco.

The objective of the bill was to establish in law that an investigating officer testifying in a criminal trial is to be considered hostile to the defendant. An aide to Moscone said that presently the officer must be proven hostile in each case.

BILLBOARDS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill banning advertising billboards from California routes designated as "scenic highways" was approved 61-0 Wednesday by the Assembly and sent to the Senate.

Assemblyman George W. Milias, R-Gilroy, said his bill was designed to eliminate the "Joe's Place, Coca Cola, Pepsi Cola, 10 miles down the road" signs which dot California highways.

SMOG PLAN

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A seven-week-long impasse has crumbled in the Assembly with approval of a bill designed to get air pollution-causing lead out of gasoline by 1977.

The measure by Assemblyman Peter F. Schabarum, R-Covina, had been the object of a bitter tug-of-war among major oil companies which spilled from the Assembly floor to the back corridors and cloakrooms.

Some members complained that newspaper advertising campaigns designed to convince the legislature to take a tougher stand on removing lead from gasoline implied lawmakers had "sold out" to the oil industry.

The bill was passed to the Senate on a 62-5 vote Wednesday.

When it gained final approval it had been restored essentially to the same form in which it reached the Assembly floor June 8. However, Schabarum did tighten it to further reduce the amount of lead which could be contained in gasoline during the phaseout period before 1977.

MARRIAGES

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan Wednesday signed a bill aimed at making it more difficult for teen-agers to get married.

Authored by Republican Assemblyman James A. Hayes of Long Beach, the bill gives judges the power to order youngsters under 18 years old to receive counseling before being married. It does not change the current requirement that persons under 18 need the consent of their parents to marry.

REJECTED

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A bill requiring cities and counties to reject building permits, subdivisions or zoning changes which would cut off public access to the ocean or other large water areas was defeated Wednesday by the Assembly.

The bill by Assemblyman John Dunlap, D-Napa, was rejected on a 35-27 vote, with 41 votes needed for passage.

POLL TIME

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A bill closing the election polls at 7 p.m. instead of 8 p.m. was rejected Wednesday by the Assembly.

The measure by Assemblyman Paul Priolo, R-Pacific Palisades, was defeated on a 30-32 vote with 54 favorable votes needed for approval.

Under the bill, the polls would have been closed an hour earlier in areas like Los Angeles County where ballots are collected and taken to a central location for counting. Results could not be released until 8 p.m.

2-YEAR PLAN

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A measure allowing the California legislature to hold continuous two-year sessions moved to the Senate today after winning Assembly approval.

The proposed constitutional amendment by Speaker Robert T. Monagan, R-Tracy, received lower house passage Wednesday on a 55-4 vote, one vote more than it needed for passage.

The plan would make the legislature the nation's first state legislative body to adopt a modified congressional system for its session. It also requires legislative committees to hold virtually all their meetings in public.

DEDUCTIONS

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Birth control legislation limiting the number of children California parents can claim as state income tax deductions to two has passed the Senate Revenue and Taxation Committee.

Sen. Anthony Beilenson, D-Los Angeles, the author, told the committee Wednesday he believed the clear implication arising from the current system of tax credits for children "is that the state approves of couples having as many children as possible."

TAKING IT EASY

Two teen-agers involved in building an "instant park" at Adrian and Rosal ways in Santa Venetia take it easy while protecting newly laid sod from too early use. Neal Zappa (left) and Chey Deem, both 14, were among a group of 15 young teens hired by the Gallinas Village Community Services District to help turn what had been a weed grown and dusty lot into a grassy park. Many of the teen-agers received their first paychecks for the work. (Independent-Journal photo)

5 Years To Life For Bar Murder

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Earl Preston Paige, 51, of San Francisco, was sentenced to five years to life in prison yesterday in Sonoma County Superior Court for second-degree murder.

Paige had pleaded guilty after the first-degree murder charge was reduced. Judge Kenneth M. Eymann also sentenced him to serve a concurrent term of up to 10 years for felony wife beating.

Paige was charged with the April 5 shooting death of John Robert Perry, 26, of Petaluma. The shooting took place in a Windsor bar when Paige found Perry sitting beside his estranged wife, Naomi, 49.

Paige had also been accused of kidnaping his wife after the shooting and assaulting her later in a Healdsburg motel where he accused her of romantic involvements with Perry.

Peck Withdraws Mental Health Post Application

Dr. Harris B. Peck yesterday formally withdrew his name from consideration for the position of director of the Community Mental Health Center at Marin General Hospital.

In a telephone conversation with Ray K. Bollinger, hospital administrator, Peck said he was declining the position because his family preferred to remain in the Los Angeles area and because the mental health center lacked teaching affiliations with Bay Area universities.

Bolinger said the screening committee which recommended Peck would continue to recruit for the position.

Peck was told last week the position was no longer being held open for him, as he had delayed too long in reaching a decision.

2 Groups Agree On Sign To Lynwood Park

After three years of discussion, the Lynwood Park Improvement Association and the North Marin County Water District have agreed on a sign for the entrance to the area.

President Harold K. Blue on Tuesday told the association, according to secretary Sharon Colosi, that the sign on a traffic island at Sunset Parkway and South Novato Boulevard will be constructed within a few weeks.

The water district agreed to replace the sign it took down when it built a pumping station and fountain there three years ago, but there had been no agreement on design.

The association also put off to a future meeting a request by Babe Silva, head of a fund drive for a Novato boy's club, to help get membership pledges of $2 a month for the club, she said.

The club will not hold an August meeting, she said.

A rose, New Dawn, was the first plant in the U.S. to receive a patent in 1931.

YOU THINK YOU'VE GOT IT TOUGH!

Marinite Tells Bleak Tale Of Russia

By WAYNE RATLIFF

Think food prices are high?

How does $1.56 a dozen for very small, often rotten eggs or $2.28 a dozen for better eggs sound? How about oranges at 40 cents each in May or vodka at $8.80 a half liter, or little more than a pint.

Now, with prices like that, imagine making $110 a month and you have some idea what life is like for the average Soviet citizen, according to a Marinite who returned recently from six months in the Soviet Union.

George A. Logvy, a 34-year-old math, science and social studies teacher with Reed Union School District, was among 40 educators chosen from among 5,000 Russian-speaking applicants to represent the U.S. on a cultural exchange exhibit entitled "Education—USA."

Logvy, who lives at 242 Alameda de la Loma, Novato, said he went with a 20-man group that toured three areas where no U.S. exhibit had been permitted to tour previously — Baku, in the Azerbaijan Republic; Tashkent, Uzbek Republic; and a small academic and scientific community near Novosibirsk, Siberia.

The exhibit was attended by 10,000 to 12,000 people daily, six days a week, and there was opportunity for visiting other cities — including Moscow, Kiev, Leningrad, Novgorod, Tablisi and Samarkand — he said, and to talk to their people.

The Soviet Union, far from having solved its problems in producing enough consumer goods, is having more trouble than ever producing enough of some goods, particularly good, Logvy said.

He observed people standing in long lines in Novosibirsk to get horse meat sausage and frozen meat which was very fat and smelled bad, indicating that meat and eggs were items in extremely short supply in most areas of the Soviet Union. Vegetables were available only in season in most areas, and green onions were the only green vegetables always available, he said.

Logvy noted that there were no canned goods except herring in stores he saw, and that flour, sugar and similar staples were packed in poorly constructed sacks that were used over and over again. The coarse brown, grayish and white breads of the country were sold unwrapped, he said.

"The beer was terrible," he added with a smile, "but we drank it."

Wages in the Soviet Union are very low, Logvy said, with an average salary of 100 rubles a month ($110 at the official rate of exchange). Teachers, for example, get raises to 150 rubles a month after 25 years service. There is an income tax that amounts to about 13 per cent of most single persons' incomes, and there is an additional tax on couples who have no children, he said.

Special shops have been set up in larger Soviet cities for foreigners, Logvy said, offering lower prices — such as $2 a half-liter for vodka — and a selection of merchandise that is not available to the ordinary Soviet citizen without one of the mainstays of Soviet culture — "blat".

"Blat" is a polite Russian term for what we would call bribery, Logvy said, and the economy wouldn't work without it. It takes "blat" to get almost anything, from the papers necessary to get a job to the pass needed to travel outside a citizen's home town.

Cab drivers who don't happen to be going your way already can be made to see the light of reason by slipping them a little money, he said, and one can get almost bearable service in the State-owned restaurants with a little "blat."

Without it customers in restaurants can expect to spend at least three to four hours to get one meal. Waiters and waitresses tend to be surly, slow and highly unreliable; and customers are expected to avoid inconveniencing them by splitting the bill among different parties at the same table or not having exact change ready, he said.

Clothing is usually drab and poorly made, but the quality and quantity available is improving, he said. Cosmetics and similar luxury items are difficult to obtain. Only one color of nail polish is sold, and that in bottles without applicator brushes, he said.

Some interests of the young people appear to be much like those of their U.S. counterparts, according to Logvy. Long hair and bell-bottom trousers are in style, and there is much interest, usually frustrated by high cost or unavailability, in stylish clothing and music.

Blackmarket Beatles records, usually cheap reproductions on one-sided flexible plastic discs, sell for as high as 70 rubles. Imitations by German, Italian and even Russian groups are often passed off as genuine Beatle records.

Most popular music available in the Soviet Union is of the "big band" type, and many young people don't quite understand what rock music is, although they discuss it enthusiastically. Often their understanding of the genre is based on one or two records, Levy said.

Ecology does not appear to be much of a problem in the Soviet Union, Logvy noted. The people do take their wildlife seriously, but the smaller populations of most regions and lower level of industry keep man from being a serious threat to the environment yet.

The people seem to be unusually fond of children, and their love of flowers is apparent everywhere, he said. People give flowers as gifts, keep them in their homes and shops and even carry them on the streets, he said.

Individuals in the exhibit's audience very seldom would admit that the Soviet Union had any internal problems at all, including the shortage of food and other goods, Logvy said, but the people opened up when given opportunity to talk to the Americans alone.

Some problems brought up were the extremely high divorce rate, prevalence of problem drinkers, shortages of housing, poor health care, inefficiency of most public transportation (subways, where they exist, were highly praised, however), lack of entertainment and crowded schools, Logvy said.

Soviet people suffer from a lack of information about the outside world, particularly the U.S., Logvy said, and have a somewhat distorted picture of it.

When Logvy told one man he was from California, the man replied, "Oh yes, that's the place with the low houses."

Further conservation revealed that the man thought the rest of the country was covered with skyscrapers because there wasn't enough room to build smaller apartment houses or single family houses.

Some people are very concerned with the exploitation of our workers by bankers and worry about the safety of our people with all the gangsters having gunfights in the streets, Logvy said.

The general picture of the U.S. is that it is falling apart very rapidly, with constant rioting in the streets, extremely widespread unemployment and an economy on the brink of collapse. There is a generally positive view of California, however, especially San Francisco, he said.

It's 'Tut-Tut' On Loitering In Larkspur

Larkspur city fathers tut-tutted over the ill manners of loitering street people last night, but took no action on complaints by theater manager Richard Figeriod, speaking for himself and other downtown businessmen.

Probably the only solution would be a 24-hour downtown foot patrol and other action that would more than double the police department budget, City Mgr. Kent Bathurst said.

Figeriod complained that idle young "outstanding citizens" — as he termed them — were blocking firms' dorways, sitting on top of movie-goers' and shoppers' cars and spewing foul language.

"Am I supposed to take that kind of abuse from these people?" he demanded.

Police Chief Howard Clark explained there was little action to take, since court decisions have done away with old vagrancy and loitering laws.

"Those kids try you on for anything and everything . . . to heckle you and say, 'let's ride the Establishment'," Clark said.

Raymond C. Kesner, former council candidate in the audience, chimed in that public education was needed to force the courts to be less lenient with anti-Establishment youth. And, he said, "there are certain things that attract these people" to the theater area "including his own movies . . . I suggest he think about showing a different type of movie."

The Larkspur City Council also:

CLERK — Delayed to Aug. 5, action on Bathurst's recommendation that city clerk and city manager posts be combined; named Bathurst interim city clerk with Barbara Bruton as deputy, accepted the letter of resignation of City Clerk Judy Rae Beal and ordered a commendation resolution prepared for her.

ABAG — Voted to give Corte Madera Town Councilman Holmes S. Norville, the city's representative to the executive council of the Association of Bay Area Governments, a free hand to follow his own judgment in voting on the 1970-1990 Bay Regional Plan to be decided July 30.

LETTER — Replied to Raymond C. Kestner's letter urging withdrawal from ABAG by suggesting he circulate petitions for a vote on the regional plan.

CLOSED — After a 15-minute closed session with Bathurst on pending litigation over damage to Bon Air Bridge, took no action pending receipt of an Army Engineers report due early in August.

Councilman William G. Fleckles was absent.

The price of gasoline, excluding taxes; is only about two cents above the average price in the 1920s, says the Petroleum Institute.

Fairfax Parks Panel Seeks Bigger Budget

Fairfax Parks and Recreation Commission is seeking a capital improvements outlay of $24,965 more than six times the amount recommended in the city's proposed 1970-71 budget.

The disparity came under scrutiny last night as the Fairfax City Council, sometimes sidetracked by details, plodded through a four-hour review of the proposed public works and parks budgets.

Councilmen aroused the ire of the commissioners when they adjourned shortly before midnight by a 3-2 vote rather than continue into the recreation budget.

Commissioner David R. Seyler pointed out that part-time Recreation Director Anthony J. Barbera after a "lot of work" was ready to report, and felt it was the council's duty "to at least listen to him."

Seyler said that commissioners sat through two-and-a-half hours of discussion on the public works budget, and "as a courtesy" to them the council should take up the recreation budget.

Councilmen Lee Nelder, Robert R. Souza and Cornelis Van Vliet voted to adjourn while Francis J. O'Connell and Mayor Frank J. Egger opposed adjournment.

The motion to adjourn came after the council learned that the commission wasn't requesting a full-time recreation director, as previously believed, but asking for more time for a part-time director. Some councilmen felt this made discussion of the recreation budget less urgent.

Parks and recreation commissioners requested a parks budget of $41,471, allocated thus: $8,200 for implementing city park plans, $7,500 for purchase of toilets at city park, $7,500 for tennis court development, $1,000 for improvements to the recreation director's office and tiny tot areas, and the balance in operating expenses, including salaries.

City Administrator Frances Lestanguet, however recommended a parks budget of $18,725 (compared to $19,362 last year), allocated thus: $2,500 for implementing the park plan, $500 for toilets and the balance in operating expenses.

Councilmen agreed to review the proposed recreation budget, $14,661, as compared to $14,228 last year, at 8 p.m. next Wednesday (July 29) at the Fairfax Women's Club.

After lengthy discussion about a $250 item for Little League, the council voted to have the account designated Fairfax Little League Park Improvement.

Mayor Egger explained the funds go to the league only for improvements at the park, not as they had in the past for general use by the league.

Councilmen, reviewing the budget but taking no action, also pondered the proposed public works expenditures, engineering $4,500, streets, $80,815, and street lighting, $20,000.

Street Supt. Edgar Phillips requested an additional street maintenance man, pointing out he occasionally has to pull the mechanic off his post to help out.

He said he had only a two-man crew and when one man was sick or on vacation, he was left with one.

When council was reviewing proposed projects for the year, Phillips contended costs could be cut if the city crew were used rather than contracting for the jobs.

Councilmen asked Mrs. Lestanguet to look into the possibility of hiring an additional man on a temporary basis so jobs could be undertaken before the rainy season.

Mrs. Lestanquet proposed expending $930 for repair of Canyon Road, $5,820 for Arroyo Road bulkhead, and $3,500 for Meerna Avenue drainage.

Phillips also requested $5,000 for repair of Crest Road and $3,000 for repair of the bridge at Bridge Court, saying these costs could be cut if the work were done by the city crew.

The council adjourned until its next budget session at 8 p.m. Monday at the Fairfax Women's Club when the proposed general and police budgets will be reviewed.

Lob Ball, Rock Music Scheduled

An unusual combination of lob ball and rock music will be presented free at 5:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Marion School grounds.

The lob ball contest will be played between the Fugs, sponsored by the Redwood Electric Co., the Radio Onders, sponsored by Radio Station KYA in San Francisco, according to Ray Hetrick, manager of the Fugs.

The Rats will furnish live music before the game and Shalom will play music after the game.

Library Tieup Plans In Area Move Ahead

Larkspur and San Anselmo readers soon may be able freely to use each other's libraries — and the policy eventually may extend to mutual pacts between the two cities and San Rafael, Mill Valley and Sausalito.

The Larkspur City Council last night informally agreed to let the Larkspur Library Board go ahead with a mutual powers agreement with San Anselmo, recommended by Larkspur Librarian Richard A. Kilbourne and already informally approved by the San Anselmo council earlier this week.

Cooperation between the five municipal libraries eventually will give readers access to 225,000 volumes and save money by cutting down duplication in buying books for the participating libraries, Kilbourne told the council.

Book borrowers would be able to check out books from any participating library, but would have to return the volumes to the library from which they came.

90 Shows Open $4 Million Loss

NEW YORK (UPI)—In the 1969-70 season, 90 shows opened on and off Broadway. Figures indicate when the ledgers are completed, the shows will have lost nore than $4 million.

The state Attorney General's office said Wednesday the shows represent a total investment of about $12.5 million and have so far lost $1.4 million, and many of the shows have not yet made final tabulations.

The average capitalization for Broadway shows was $310,000, and the average for an off-Broadway production was $47,000.

Only 65 Broadway and off-Broadway productions are scheduled for the 1970-1971 season, the office said.

Annual Legislative Session Delays State Budget

California's second consecutive late budget caused the California Taxpayers' Association's Sacramento staff to do some digging into the records to find out how long the last-minute budget cliff-hanger has been going on.

It found that the first time the legislature continued arguing "up to the wire" over the budget was in 1959, Gov.Edmund G. Brown's first year in office. Governor Brown didn't get to sign his first budget until June 30 — the only year before 1965 when it was not adopted until the last day of the fiscal year.

IN BYGONE YEARS, however, it was not uncommon to complete the budget long before the deadline.

The taxpayer record-diggers went back as far as 1937, when Gov. Frank Merriam signed what was then a biennial budget on May 4.

Nine times since then, they found the budget has been signed in April. The earliest date was in 1950, when Gov. Earl Warren signed the budget on April Fool's Day. (We don't know whether that date was any more appropriate for the 1950 budget than it would have been for the 1970 one.)

Governor Warren signed the budget on April 21 in 1948. Gov. Goodwin J. Knight signed budgets on April 7 in 1954, April 13 in 1956, and April 27 in 1955. Governor Brown got two April budgets: April 23 in 1962 and April 25 in 1960.

FOUR OTHER budgets were signed in May, and 13 in June. (There are fewer budgets than years since 1937, as until 1947 the budget was biennial instead of annual.)

It remained for Gov. Ronald Reagan to be the first who did not receive a state budget until after the June 30 close of the fiscal year — on July 3 last year and July 4 this year. But the cliffhanger trend started before he took office. Governor Brown did not get the budget until June 30, the final day, in 1965 and 1966. Reagan got it on June 30 his first year, and one day earlier, June 29, in 1968.

What has brought about the change?

A probable reason seems to be the new system of legislative sessions.

Back in the biennial budget days, the legislature wanted to get the budget out of the way early so it could get down to other business. When annual budgets were instituted, the legislature still met only biennially to pass new laws. In the "off years," its session was solely to draw up the budget. With nothing else before them, the legislators went right to work on that job, and these "off years" produced most of the April budgets.

In 1966, the state constitution was changed to provide for annual legislative sessions. And every budget since than has been a "cliff hanger." Two out of four have failed to pass by deadline.

WE RECALL that there was much talk in promoting that change about how it would enable the legislature to be more businesslike and do a better job.

The opposite seems to have resulted. Annual legislative sessions seem to have accomplished principally three things: (1) They cost the people of California more money in pay for the legislators and their staffs. (2) They result in a late budget. (3) They result in a bigger budget.

Maybe this is a bit of "progress" we could do without.

Tires Re-Used

Tires are made to withstand destruction. This is excellent. Nobody wants to drive on tires which may disintegrate.

But it does create a problem which we can see almost everywhere we drive in this country: piles of used and virtually useless tires. In some underveloped countries, these tires are used as the soles of a sturdy sandal. But mostly they are left, like the hulks of the cars they once adorned, to litter some roadside lot.

Now, however, the Firestone Co. has started a distillation plant, which fractionally distills tires into their chemical components. It is expected to be an economic success. Eventually Firestone plans to have 10 such plants throughout the country, reclaiming hundreds of thousands of old tires.

Another healthy step in converting our society from a waste-maker into a conserver.

'Ban On Autos' Very Promptly Reduces Yosemite Park Crowds

By JACK COOPER

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — A week or so ago the people who run Yosemite Park made a small administrative change.

They barred automobiles from a part of the valley up near the Mirror Lake end, and put in some buses for those who enjoy scenery but not bunions.

A sort of internal management affair, you might think, and probably all to the good.

It might have gone almost unnoticed, except for the well-publicized jubilation of the enemies of the automobile.

THIS MINOR change in park regulations was promptly ballooned into a "victory over the automobile," or "the beginning of the end for automobiles" at Yosemite.

Just as promptly occupancy in overnight facilities in the park fell off as this message got abroad.

Last week end, at what is normally the height of the season, one-third of the rooms, cabins and whatnot were empty.

This ought to make it plain that any place Joe California can't get to by car is a place he doesn't want to go.

The most popular recreational activity, a federal survey showed a few years ago, is to pile into the car and go look at the scenery.

This offends certain purists, to whom scenery is to be enjoyed only afoot or on horseback. But it is true, nevertheless, and the best way to keep Yosemite empty for the exclusive enjoyment of packers and hikers would be actually to keep automobiles out.

IN OLDER TIMES, when the Sierra Club was concentrating on "rendering accessible the mountain regions of the Pacific Coast," the head of the National Park Service posed proudly for National Geographic Magazine at the opening of the Tioga Pass Road.

Of course, in those days, the automobile was not the ordinary man's transportation, as it is today. Ownership was pretty well limited to the well-heeled, and few dreamed of its future universality.

Psychologists might make something of the coincidence of universal automobile ownership and the decision of the Sierra Club and others that "accessibility" was no longer compatible with "preservation."

But the swift reaction of the public to what large numbers of it thought was a ban on autos at Yosemite is what interests us.

Can't Swallow 'Economy Upturn'

Hopefully you printed the headline in tonight's (July 20) I.J. with tongue in cheek.

Since the economy is not some abstract, esoteric concept but is people buying and selling goods and services, then any damn fool knows the economy can't take an "upturn" and unemployment in its present numbers continue to rise.

Either this administration is indulging in its same sorry non-think or this is simply elcetion year rhetoric aimed at what they can only believe is a gullible citizenry. Underestimating so many people is probably one of the things that "frightens" Mr. Chet Huntley. Frankly it scares the hell out of me too — especially when I realize Mr. Nixon's finger is so near THE button.

Honestly, now do you really believe the average Joe Blow is swallowing this drivel?

Letters Helping Hanoi's Prisoners

I was most pleased and thankful to see that you chose to reprint the editorial from the Pottsdown Mercury on the prisoners of war. I don't know if you are aware that the entire first three pages of their June 18 edition, which contained that editorial, consisted of some articles about the POW/MIA situation, but mostly it had letters and their Vietnamese translations from various Pottstown citizens asking for humane treatment and eventual return of prisoners of war. This particular edition had an exceptionally wide circulation, enabling people who copy in Vietnamese the letter they preferred.

The families of men held prisoner or missing in Southeast Asia honestly feel that a show of concern for our men from the American people will result in better treatment for their husbands and sons. Hanoi still refuses to abide by the Geneva Convention articles concerning POWs. However, since the letter-writing campaign really got under way last fall, we have seen some tangible results: 70 per cent of our men have been held prisoner over there has come out in the last seven months; over this six-year period, families were allowed to send only three packages to their men — in January Hanoi announced they would accept packages every other month. These may seem like small concessions, but we feel they are a direct result of the pressure for humane treatment of POWs being put on the Hanoi government by foreign governments and the American people.

North Vietnam has as much as stated that they can't understand what all the fuss is about over "only" 1,500 men. If every American who cares about the fate of the POWs would take the time to sit down and write a letter of concern, I am convinced that it would help to ensure that these men survive their captivity.

Law Enforcement And Cascade Dam

What a fuzzed-up kettle of caterpillars that Cascade Dam question is getting to be. . .

It is about time the silent majority real property owners voice their candid opinion on such a vital question. This to keep our Mill Valley environs neat, decent and beautiful. Only the property owners are stuck with the high cost of the cleanup and damage done. This by a crusty breed of raucus interlopers. . .

The silent taxed real property owners through our silence now reap contempt by these free-loaders. They feel they are in the saddle. . . At the next meeting the night the Cascade trespass law was disguised was George Kervin, a member of Mill Valley Youth Commission. . ."If people get arrested, it would bring the wrath of the Mill Valley youth," he said.

One is led to believe in that stupid statement a veiled threat against law enforcement. . .

Mayor (George) Wickham had a valid point, said, "A fire in the Cascade Dam area would be a catastrophe to those who disagree or agree, who live in that area."

We property taxpayers regardless must see that our budgeters do some hard pencil work on other budgets. This to find the wherewith to revitalize our police force by adding more men to it. We property owners have silently vegetated in slumber far too long. We better wake up!. . .

University Off On An Ego Trip

I would like to commend your editorial of July 22 on the University of California. As a very dissatisfied U.C. student who is withdrawing from the university for that reason, I can only say that the university does a very poor job of educating people. The university is on an ego-trip, concerned only with its prestige, its research, and a few of its top students. As suggested recently through the criticisms of some members of the regents, the university seems to measure its standards by how many it can flunk out rather than how many it can educate.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Senator Tydings, Fighting Crime, Alienates Both Left And Right

WASHINGTON — Cannon to the right of him, to the left of him — that is the beleaguered position of Maryland's Sen. Joseph Tydings. On the one hand he is the sponsor of the Disdrict of Colombia Crime Bill with its no-knock and preventive arrest provisions so odious to liberals. On the other he is under intensive fire from the gun lobby, determined to defeat him in November for sponsoring a gun-registration proposal bottled up in committee for two years.

If he succeeds in putting over the crime bill, as he thinks he can, Tydings will have alienated the liberal and perhaps also part of the black vote. They will either stay home on election day or go for his Republican opponent, who is likely to be Rep. J. Glenn Beall Jr., in his first term in the House.

TYDINGS MAKES the case that the crime bill does no more than write into law — and more equitably — practices that today are discriminatory. High bail set in hundreds of cases is, in effect, preventive detention, since the judge knows the suspect cannot make bail. He is held to insure that if turned loose he does not commit another crime.

Many senators on both sides of the aisle reject this rationalization. Few issues over the years have stirred such profound fear of the repressive arm of government breaking through the constitutional guarantees of freedom for the individual. This deep-seated concern has produced a curious combination. Sen. Sam J. Ervin of North Carolina, a Democrat and strict constructionist, joined with Sen. Charles E. Goodell of New York, one of the most liberal members of his party, to introduce a substitute measure.

It contains all the fundamental reforms to end the abuses in the clogged district courts while eliminating no-knock, preventive detention, extension of the right to wire-tap, and other provisions liberals consider so destructive of basic American freedoms. The issue has a thrust far beyond the District of Columbia, since if the restrictive measure is passed it will be taken as a model in many states.

TYDINGS REGARDS his gun-registration proposal as simply another piece in the fight against crime.

But the emotion it generates, fanned by one of the most powerful lobbies in the country, could defeat him. An organization called Citizens Against Tydings is raising money throughout the country. A flier for a rifle association in Medford, Ore., carried this appeal: "Help defeat Sen. Tydings. Buy a raffle ticket." Similar appeals are being made in many states.

Powerful as the gun lobby is, it is difficult to pinpoint its leverage and its resources. A spokesman for the National Rifle Association, with its 1,200,000 members, disclaims lobbying actively for or against candidates.

A careful survey by Congressional Quarterly showed the indirect, if not the direct, power of NRA. The association's magazine, the American Rifleman, can generage great opposition to any gun measure whether state or federal. An NRA official said that perhaps half a million letters stimulated by the Rifleman would be a good guess.

MARYLAND'S politics are strange, to say the least. One of Tydings's opponents in the primary is George P. Mahoney, the perennial candidate who finances his runs out of his construction fortune. In 1966 Mahoney conducted an openly racist campaign with the result that many Democrats voted for the Republican, Spiro T. Agnew, who was the winner.

Surely, Mahoney should rest on the claim that he gave the nation the most controversial vice president in history.

Dictator 'Friend Of Poor' Menaces Bogota Regime

By PHIL NEWSOM UPI Foreign News Analyst

Fusagasuga is a city of 60,000 which calls itself the city of flowers. It lies about half way along the road which runs steeply down the mountainside from Colombia's capital, Bogota.

It is the home of Luis Lombana, a heavy-set, grizzled man who is the owner of a small restaurant. His friend Jaime Ortiz is a flower merchant.

They grumble against President Carlos Lleras and the political conservative who is to succeed him on Aug. 7, 46-year-old Misael Pastrana Borrero. They long for the return of former dictator Gen. Gustavo Rojas Pinilla who, they recall, built the highway through Fusagasuga the better to reach his own town at the foot of the mountain, Melgar.

They grumble about the gasoline tax and tight money. Lombana recalls that under Rojas a man could buy a lunch for one and a half pesos. Now it is around 10.

THEY ARE AMONG those upon whom Rojas and his field manager daughter, Sen. Maria Eugenia Morena-diaz, count to send rivers of blood flowing through Colombia until Rojas regains his former power.

Rojas claims last April's election was stolen from him and has declared that until he is declared winner of the election, "There will be no peace in Colombia again."

Rojas, considered by his critics as one of Latin America's most ruthless dictators in recent years, was one of four candidates running under Colombia's unique political system which dictates that the office of president must alternate between a Liberal and a Conservative every four years.

THE SYSTEM came into being after Rojas' forced resignation in 1957. He had taken over in 1953 at the request of the political parties after a breakdown of the constitutional system and years of violence in which tens of thousands died.

Rojas ruled by decree, ended press freedoms and built up a feared secret police force. Finally forced out in 1957, he went into exile, returning a year later to be convicted of corruption, to serve two years in prison and to be deprived of his political rights.

The Colombian supreme court restored his rights in 1967.

Now 70, he turned the 1970 election campaign into a class struggle. He appealed to the poor against what loosely could be called the establishment. He promised to reduce taxes and increase government spending on education. He also promised free medical and dental care for the poor.

UNFORTUNATELY, there was just enough truth in his allegations to make his campaign a powerful one.

In Bogota, unemployment stands at around 12 per cent, although there are no accurate figures. In a country of 20 million people, more than 70 per cent of the goods and services go to 25 per cent of the population.

Lleras has won the admiration of businessmen, bankers and the upper middle-class at home, and of international organizations abroad for his successful development of the Colombian economy. On the other hand, Rojas won his support from the lower middle-class and the urban poor who have been squeezed by taxes and creeping inflation.

It was against Rojas' threat to take power by violence if necessary that Lleras, on the eve of the opening of congress Monday, declared a state of emergency.

ART BUCHWALD

Sorrowful Spot Above Potomac: Burial Ground For Dead Reports

WASHINGTON — This is a government of reports and studies. No matter what happens in this nation, the first solution is to appoint a commission to study it. The commissions take one year, two years, some even longer, and then they make their report to the President. If the President agrees with the report, it's released to the nation. If he or his staff disagrees with it, it's buried. But where?

Just by chance I discovered the secret burial grounds of reports and studies made by presidential commissions. The cemetery is located on a hill overlooking the upper Potomac. It is quiet and deserted, and only the chirping of birds or the call of a hoot owl can be heard.

MR. GOTTFRIED Snellenbach has been caretaker of the burial area for government reports since the Harding administration, and after I assured him I would not dig up any of the graves, he let me enter the large well-kept grounds.

"We've got some of the great reports of all times buried here," Mr. Snellenbach said. "We've got reports that cost $20 million, and we've got reports that cost $2,000, but in the end they all wind up here, buried six feet under."

"Sir, what kind of reports are resting here?"

"It might be better to ask what kind of reports aren't buried here. We have reports on violence, studies on blacks, students, unemployment, the economy, the Communist threat, housing, health care, law and order. You name it, and we've buried it."

"HOW DOES a report find its final resting spot in this setting?"

"Well, as you know, the President is always appointing a commission to study something or other, and after the study they're supposed to hand in a report. Now, lots of times the President has no intention of paying any attention to the report, and it's dead before it's even written. Other times someone on the President's staff reads a report handed in by a commission and says: 'This stuff is dynamite. We have to kill it.'

"In some cases the President says 'Let's release this report to the press and then bury it.' Occasionally a report will just die of heartbreak because nobody pays any attention to it.

"IN ANY CASE, after the report is dead, it has to be buried, because if you're President you don't want someone finding it at a later date and using it against you.

"So every week each report that has died is placed in a pine box and loaded on a government hearse and brought up here, where we have a simple ceremony before lowering it into the ground.

"If it's a blue-ribbon panel report that's been killed in action, we give it a 21-gun salute. Otherwise, we lay it to rest with as little fuss as possible."

"THIS CEMETERY goes for miles and miles," I said.

"No one knows how many reports have been buried here by the different presidents."

"Mr. Snellenbach, this is a beautiful cemetery and very impressive. But why does the government go to so much trouble and expense to keep it up for nothing more than paper reports?"

"You must understand that most of the men asked to serve on presidential commissions are very important citizens. They spend months and years working on these reports, and they feel very close to them. When their reports are killed or buried, these men feel a personal loss. Many days you will see them sitting here next to the tombstones of their studies, tears rolling down their cheeks. No matter how long you work here, it still gets to you."

Swim Ban Imposed At Kent Lake

Because of critical fire danger, the Marin Municipal Water District board yesterday banned swimmers in the spillway area below Kent Lake and prohibited all fires on the district's watershed lands.

The swimming ban is a roundabout way of preventing cars from parking on the road from Sir Francis Drake Boulevard up to the spillway.

Although "no parking" signs have been posted on the road, Marin County Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom reported in a letter to the board that as many as 40 and 50 cars a day are parking there anyway.

Bloom's letter called the Kent Lake and Bolinas Ridge area "one of the most critical parts of the county" and said that with cars on the road it would take at least 30 minutes for fire fighting equipment to get through.

William R. Seeger, general manager of the water district, in recommending the swimming ban to the board, said the cars belonged to swimmers as well as to those who drive up to see the swimmers.

Part of the problem, Seeger said, is that the swimmers are not always clothed.

"Sometimes it's a terrible and horrible place to be," he said in reference to the nudes.

The prohibition of fires on district lands is effective immediately and will remain in force until Jan. 1, 1971. Exempted are the picnic area at Lake Lagunitas and the area near the log cabin at Phoenix Lake.

The Marin Municipal Water District board also:

TANK — Awarded to the low bid of $71,225 from General American Transportation Co. of San Francisco a contract for construction of the Escalle water tank in Larkspur.

ATTORNEYS — Approved payment of $200 in attorney's fees to the San Rafael firm of Riede and Elliott for services in conjunction with criminal charges brought against the district stemming from the killing of about 3,000 fish earlier this year. The charges were later dropped.

FINANCE — Approved a joint agreement engaging the San Francisco firm of Stone and Youngberg as financial consultant on the Sonoma-Marin Aqueduct project. The district is undertaking the project with the Sonoma County Water Agency and the North Marin Water District.

BONDS — Generally approved a contract to engage Stone and Youngberg as financial consultant for the district's own $50 million bond program, but held over official approval until certain revisions are incorporated into the contract.

TANK — Directed Seeger to negotiate a fee with San Rafael appraiser Edward P. Morphy for appraisal of land needed by the district for construction of a water tank on White Hill near Fairfax.

WEEK — Declared Aug. 9-15 "Willing Water Week" and urged citizens to develop a wider understanding of the "contributions, the services and the future needs" of the district.

MEETING — Adjourned to its next regular meeting at 1:30 p.m. Aug. 12. A continuation of a public hearing on the district's intention to form an improvement district to provide sewerage facilities in Southern Marin is scheduled for 8 p.m. that night.

Egypt Ready To Talk Peace With Conditions

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Egypt was reported ready today to discuss a negotiated peace in the Middle East—with conditions. But the conflict went on, and Israeli planes bombed Egypt's Suez Canal defenses today for the 63rd consecutive day and struck guerrilla bases in Jordan.

The official Egyptian position was to be set forth by President Gamal Abdel Nasser in a speech marking the 18th anniversary of his rise to power. The Cairo speech at 12:30 p.m. EDT was being broadcast throughout the Middle East by radio and television.

One interpretation of Egyptian policy came today from the official Communist newspaper Pravda in Moscow which said Egypt is prepared for the first time to acknowledge the existence of Israel as an independent state.

With this optimistic report came a statement in the Soviet army publication Red Star which said fortification of Egypt's Suez Canal antiaircraft defenses was proceeding apace in a buildup that has helped Egypt break Israel's mastery of the air.

In Washington, the Nixon administration was reported pleased by Egypt's "positive" response to a Mideast peace proposal made by Secretary of State William P. Rogers. But it was acknowledged the over-all outlook for the proposal remained uncertain.

There were several snags. Egypt maintains that the 1967 U.N. Security Council resolution which helped end the Six Day War called for the withdrawal of Israeli forces from "all" captured territory. Israel and many other nations do not see it this way.

Another snag was in Rogers' proposal for a three-month cease-fire to permit United Nations peace efforts to get moving.

Reports On Water District Bond Projects Given Nod

In preparation for an $11.5 million bond election this November, the Marin Municipal Water District board yesterday approved two reports outlining projects to be financed by the bonds.

Gen. Mgr. William R. Seeger presented the reports to the board and explained the two projects: a three-year district facilities improvement program and the first stage of the Marin section of the Marin-Sonoma Aqueduct from the Russian River.

The first stage of the aqueduct project calls for $4 million to construct a pipeline connecting North Marin Water District facilities in Novato with Marin Municipal facilities at Hamilton Air Force Base.

The district improvement program through 1974 allocates $1,280,500 for transmission mains; $2,789,880 for distribution systems; $1,520,000 for storage tanks; $292,500 for pumping plants; $195,000 for increasing the district's centralized control capabilities, and $1,300,000 for enlarging the San Geronimo treatment plant.

As was done when the board approved a 25 per cent water rate increase earlier this month, members of the board yesterday said they had no choice but to approve the projects.

In addition to the November bond election, the board has already approved in principle four more bond elections in the next 20 years to finance a total of $21,533,600 in district improvements and the district's $30,378,000 share of the Russian River water plan.

$100 Burglar Damage

No Charge In Mishap

No charge has been filed in Marin Municipal Court against Paul Edward Giampaoli, 21, of Fairfax, arrested July 12 on suspicion of felony drunken driving after a one-car accident in San Rafael.

AT THE KNEE HEM LENGTHS SHOWN IN FASHION OPENER

The Junior League of San Francisco first participated in the outdoor fashion luncheons presented by the Northgate Group of the Marin Art and Garden Center in 1947 when 35 guests enjoyed the shaded center grounds in Ross. Yesterday Junior Leaguers and two members of the Northgate Group were models for the first in this summer's series of six luncheons. Mrs. William Morris models a striped nylon shell in navy and white with a navy skirt.

WEARING a pewter and white check dress of a wool blend is Mrs. Robert Clark, a member of the Junior League of San Francisco, who modeled several ensembles at the fashion show yesterday in Ross. Junior League members also were waitresses.

Deaths By Poison Rise

CHICAGO (UPI) —Children will eat anything, poisonous or not, cautions a child safety consultant for the National Safety Council.

Consultant Richard Winsor said that more than 2,200 persons, one-fourth of them under five years of age, died in 1967 from swallowing poisonous household products.

Home poisoning deaths from all types of liquids and solids increased 6 per cent to 1,800 from 1,700 that year Council statistics show.

With the increasing number of potentially toxic household products and medicines on the market each year, these figures may increase even more unless mothers take the necessary precautions to protect their children," Winsor said.

In homes where children are in the crawling, climbing or toddling stages, products such as cleansers, detergents, wax and bleach should be stored on high shelves rather than in those under the sink, Winsor said.

MRS. JOHN Busterud models another navy and white outfit. This one is a dress with a six-gore shirt and button belt. Over 400 women and special guests, the Ross Town Council, enjoyed a salad luncheon and strawberry shortcake under sunny skies and 68 degree temperature.

A WHITE RIBBED knit sweater dress was modeled by. Mrs. Charlene Dorst at the fashion show in Ross yesterday to the delight of over 400 guests who applauded when it was announced that there would be no midis shown.

Women's Lib Bill Expected To Pass

By RAY MOSELEY

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Women's liberation has come to Congress. It could produce a revolution in the country's laws, with such consequences as:

—Women drafted into the Army.

—State laws intended to protect women workers wiped off the books.

—Men's colleges forced to accept women.

—Men allowed to collect alimony and child-support payments from their divorced wives.

A proposed constitutional amendment for women's rights, that could have all the above consequences, has been collecting cobwebs in Congress for 47 years. But now both the House and Senate are preparing to act and a prime sponsor, Rep. Martha Griffiths, D-Mich., said "I think it will pass."

The amendment would read: "Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex. Congress and the several states shall have power within their respectice jurisdictions to enforce this article by appropriate legislation."

Mrs. Griffiths has collected 218 signatures, a necessary majority, on a petition to bring the proposal out of the House Judiciary Committee. She plans to force a vote on the petition Aug. 10. If the vote carries as expected, she hopes to muster the necessary two-thirds vote in the House for adoption of the proposed amendment that same day.

Meantime, a Senate Constitutional Amendments subcommittee has scheduled a vote on the proposal Thursday and a committee source said "more than enough votes" are assured for passage. Seventy-nine senators, well over the necessary two-thirds, are cosponsoring it.

If Congress adopts the proposal, three-fourths of the states must ratify it before it could become part of the Constitution.

Support comes from such varied groups as the Women's Liberation Movement and the President's Task Force on Women's Rights and Responsibilities. Opposition is led by the powerful AFL-CIO and includes Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee.

"In my opinion," said Mrs. Griffiths, "it probably will make women draftable. But if we are going to abolish the draft and have an all-volunteer army, we probably will have about the same number of women in service that we have now."

She agreed with Celler that protection laws for women workers would be nullified by her amendment but thinks "all of them should be thrown out." Laws that bar women

Designer's Theatrical Show Called One Of Paris' Best

By ALINE MOSBY

PARIS (UPI)—Since Bernard Cornfeld bought into the quiet designing house of Guy LaRoche, it has changed abruptly into one of the liveliest in Paris.

For one thing, LaRoche's winter collection unveiled today —all on a Russian and Central Asian theme—was praised fervently by press and buyers as one of the best in Paris. The Mongolian style coats and Russian peasant dresses, looking like costumes of the Moiseyev Folk Dance Troupe of Moscow, were a far cry from the less inspired LaRoche of yore.

And for the second season LaRoche's male and female models displayed the clothes in a theatrical show in front of three movie screens that showed proper backgrounds for closeups of the outfits.

The show was witty and clever. The male models did a satire on marijuana smokers and sauntered out reading Playboy magazine. The mannequins cried to sad music, acted out little humorous or romantic plots, danced or clowned. All in all, the LaRoche style parade was the best show in Paris.

A LaROCHE spokesman insisted the clothes and spectacle were LaRoche's ideas and not those of Cornfeld, recently deposed head of the Investors Overseas Service (IOS). But the long arm of some showman was evident in the presentation, for example, of a film showing two girls dancing in peasant inspired suits and then running out in real life onto the stage.

LaRoche showed maxi-coats for both men and women lined with curly or shaggy Mongolian fur with fur boots to match. With many outfits, the girls wore peaked Mongolian or Central Asian caps.

Cossack-type knickers tucked into boots were topped by narrow midi-dresses. Enormous capes were lined with Mongolian fur or edged with elaborate jeweled Russian embroidery. High waisted midi-dresses of peasant-like fabric had little jackets and babushka headscarves. Coats, cocktail dresses and floor-length evening gowns sparkled with peasant embroidery.

For those not wishing to look like Moscow or Tashkent of a century ago, LaRoche presented narrow midi-dresses with cumberbunds wrapped around the waist or with fur or slits around the hem. The show was full of capes and capelets, hooded dresses and jackets, culotte midi dresses, jumpers over sweater tops, knickers and boots. The evening line brought back the slinky look with black crepes sporting deeply slit necklines.

The LaRoche clothes for men also got into the Russian mood. For evening the male models wore lame Cossack-type tunics over knickers and boots. There were even two floor-length male "dresses" with glittering Russian embroidery around the high necklines slit to the waist.

La Roche showed no long trousers for women in his show, but Pierre Cardin and Gabrielle Chanel saved that style from extinstion.

BOTH CREATORS included long pants in their fashion shows Tuesday, Cardin showing enough to keep them from being abolished along with kneebaring skirts.

But Cardin showed even more of the newer knickerbocker and gaucho pants that have inundated the Paris collections. Cardin's gauchos, or trousers ending at the mid-calf, are cigarette shaped and fine if you're six feet tall and thin. The Cardin "plus four" puffy knickers and gauchos were worn under maxi coats, ponchos or tops with long flying panels.

Chanel displayed black knit trousers with a multicolored tweed long jacket belted with her usual gold chain.

Cardin, Chanel and designer Gerard Pipart at the Nina Ricci salon also used the just-below-the-knee skirt that appeared short next to the midis and maxis. Cardin's striped jerseys just met the tops of knee length white patent leather boots. Pipart' ent leather boots. Pipart's charcoal gray slim dresses also brushed the tops of brown boots.

Unchanging throughout the entire mini-maxi hysteria, Chanel calmly showed her unbeatable classic suits at the same knee-covering length she always has used.

CHANEL IS virtually the only Paris designer still making "suits" of skirts, jackets and blouses. The other creators need not bother since she does them so well.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Dad Quick To Judge Son's Pals On Basis Of Their Hair Length

DEAR HELEN:

It hit me for the first time last night how prejudiced my father is. He was looking through my year book, and every time he came to a picture of a long-haired guy, he cut down on him.

Dad doesn't know any of these kids. Most are my good honest friends, and several are superior students. The president of our student body had hair to his neck. He won a merit scholarship.

I tried to discuss this with Dad and he started arguing that my brother never wore long hair. He forgets it wasn't the style six years ago.

How come parents have 20-20 vision on things that don't matter, but are blind to what kids really are? — NICK

DEAR NICK:

Counter questions: How come your father never had a chance to know your long-haired friends? Why be surprised at his prejudices when you haven't tried to educate him?

Bring those good kids to the house and let your parents discover what they are really like; and if things are a little hairy at first, you might haul out an old picture of Pop in a crew-cut. H.

DEAR HELEN:

Here's a suggestion for "Topicless" whose friends are constant parent-knockers and she isn't.

Finally I got sick of listening to "My old man this" and "My old lady that" so every time the kids started blasting, I praised my folks — not bragging, but just being factually nice.

It works. You don't feel "topicless" anymore, and after a while the kids start telling you how great your parents are, instead of you telling them. — UNTOPICLESS

DEAR UN:

And I'll bet some of them even began to see a few nice things about their own parents — for a change. Right? — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Like "Topicless," I sorta like my parents. So every time it's parent-knocking time in our crowd, I mention something good about mine. When I started looking for these things, I realized Mom and Dad are even better than I'd dreamed. You'd be surprised how much it helps our relationship. Every day I try to say "I love you — you're great" at least once — and they do too.

And those whispers among my friends — "Man, her parents must be really something!" don't hurt any either. So maybe I can thank the complainers for opening my eyes.

Oh, sure, we still have our disagreements, but you can still sign me — LUCKY

DEAR HELEN:

When my boy friend left for duty in Japan, we made a pact that we'd stay true by only dating people of another race — because we couldn't possibly fall in love with them. Don't you think this is a great way to have fun but still not lose each other? — NOT LONELY

DEAR N.L.:

I think it's a great way to prove you're a couple of snobs. — H.

A Fair Selection Of Vegetables For Shoppers

WASHINGTON (UPI) —USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service reports that food shoppers will find a fairly wide selection of popular vegetables, but only a handful of fruits at stores this weekend. And meat counters will offer only a meager list.

In the meat line, beef roasts and chuck steaks will be offered, while pork, lamb and veal will be scarce. Broiler-fryers are the lone plentiful in poultry.

Vegetable bins will have a good supply of cabbage, celery, sweet corn, lettuce, onions, potatoes and tomatoes. And in fruits, peaches, plums and watermelons will be in excellent supply.

The U.S. Department of the Interior reports best buys in fish include fresh and frozen salmon, fish sticks and portions and canned tuna.

Foods listed on USDA's plentiful foods roster for July include broiler-fryers, honey, fresh summer vegetables, watermelons, fresh and processed lemons and limes, fresh peaches, fresh plums and rice.

Wholesale beef prices are generally lower in Western markets while fresh, and smoked pork prices are mixed.

Pork loins are as much as 8 cents higher in Portland. Spareribs are 2 to 3 cents higher in Portland, but 2 to 5 cents lower in California markets. Fully cooked hams are 3 cents higher in San Francisco, and smoked hams are as much as 6 cents lower in Portland. Sliced bacon is 2 to 3 cents higher in California markets.

Fruits and vegetables in best supply include: bananas, oranges, peaches, plums, strawberries, watermelons, cabbage, carrots, lettuce, onions and potatoes.

Seafood buys to watch for in the West, according to the U.S. Department of the Interior, are rock fish, dover sole fillets, canned tuna, swordfish steaks, silver salmon and halibut.

'Hawaii Abortion Law Good But Prevention Is Better'

HONOLULU (UPI) — Dr. Noni Brar Koch would like to see Hawaii's abortion law never used.

As the new medical director of Hawaii Planned Parenthood, Inc., Dr. Koch is dedicating her efforts to preventing unwanted pregnancies.

"Hawaii's abortion law is wonderful," Dr. Koch said, "but prevention is even better."

The state's hospitals have been averaging about 250 abortions a month since the law went into effect in March. Officials believe the number will reach 3,000 by the end of the first year.

The law permits abortions in hospitals as part of a physician's regular medical practice. Women seeking an abortion must sign an affidavit that they have been Hawaii residents at least 90 days.

Dr. Koch, a native of Panjab, India where it was "bad" for a girl to even look at a boy, said she does not moralize to those who have had an abortion about what their conduct should be in the future.

"GIRLS WHO have had abortions usually want to forget but make sure an accidental pregnancy doesn't happen again," Dr. Koch said.

"If a girl comes in who is sexually experienced or who has had an abortion and wants preventive help, we give it freely," she added.

However, Dr. Koch said, "if a girl is simply curious, I counsel her not to go into sex just for the fun of it."

Dr. Koch finds that too often "the young enter into sex too early and with incredible naivete because of a lack of family communication."

"Frequently, the only dating advice they've received from their parents is to be good and be home early," she said.

Dr. Koch, a gynecologist, has launched an all-out effort to provide free birth control information, clinic service and contraceptive supplies to Hawaii's poor.

Rather than waiting for the poor to come to her, Dr. Koch travels each week in a mobile van, bringing equipment and supplies to clinics located in low-income areas for women unable to afford the services of a private physician. She sees as many as 100 women a week.

DR. KOCH refers those seeking abortions to other physicians since she does not have time for a private practice.

The Koch family is a rare example of extreme planning. Dr. Koch said she underwent voluntary sterilization after the birth of her son three years ago.

"I am disturbed about the misery in the world and the rapid population growth," she said.

"Our main stress is that no woman should have to undergo an unwanted pregnancy or abor-swer."

"These laws generally were passed before 1910 and the real reason was to protect men's jobs," she said. "The Mrs.Griffiths said her proposal would revamp Social Security laws, under which a widow can collect her husband's due but a widower cannot be paid his wife's benefit.

As for domestic relations laws, Mrs. Griffiths saw no reason why alimony and child-support requirements should not apply equally to men and women, and says most lawyers believe the majority of domestic laws are outdated.

Buying Shore Park Lands Big Project

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — Completion of land purchases for Point Reyes National Seashore within a year to 18 months was predicted yesterday by Joseph Rumberg, regional director for the National Park Service.

The opinion followed a vote by the House of Representatives yesterday to appropriate $30,943,733 more to round out the proposed 53,000-acre seashore park. Rep. Don Clausen, R-First District, told the Independent-Journal the sum had been agreed on in a conference report on Department of the Interior spending for fiscal 1971.

The House action goes back to the Senate for expected quick agreement. The upper house had acted earlier on the Interior funding bill.

Together with the $7.1 million appropriation signed earlier this month by President Richard M. Nixon, the congressional action puts some $38 million into the hopper to acquire some 25,000 acres still in private hands.

"I am hopeful that these purchases can be completed by the end of fiscal 1971," Representative Clausen said in Washington, D.C.

Rumberg agreed that "we're not talking about any great length of time. . .Our land acquisition people seem to be quite optimistic" that most of the parcels will be purchased at a negotiated price.

Willis P. Kriz, acting land acquisition officer for the seashore, predicted earlier this month that at least 85 per cent of the land could be quickly purchased, but that the remainder might be involved in court condemnation proceedings.

Park service action to take immediate possession of land in case of disputed prices is unlikely, Rumberg said yesterday, but the immediate-taking strategy was urged by Olema rancher Boyd Stewart, one of the prime Marin County movers in the successful effort for more federal funds.

Private land values in the seashore area are rising 7-10 per cent a year, he warned, and condemnation suits "could drag on for years," making even the new money insufficient to complete the task.

He recalled that when he was in Washington this spring with Marin boosters for the seashore fund, Sen. Alan Bible, D-Nevada, chairman of the Interior Committee, said Congress should not "take any chances" and should appropriate the full $38 million sought by the Interior Department, to avert more erosion by escalation.

"At this time," said Rumberg, "the Washington office is very reluctant to go the declaration of taking route." But, he said, "we're not really talking about any great length of time" in completing the land purchase.

Some trades still are possible to reduce further cash outlay for the seashore, the regional park chief added.

Arraigned On Two Burglary Counts, He Now Faces Four

Floyd Kermit Ware, 19, of San Francisco, awaiting trail on two previous burglary charges, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on two new counts of burglary and possessing stolen property.

Ware, who had been out on bail in the previous cases, was arrested Tuesday in connection with the burglary of the home of Susan Mills of 77 Ridgecrest Road, Kent Woodlands.

A neighbor called the sheriff's department to say that two young men had come to his home about 9:30 a.m. asking for work and he became suspicious when they had no tools and were driving a shiny new Plymouth Barracuda.

A car of that description was stopped shortly afterward on Magnolia Avenue in Larkspur, and deputies said that a color television set, stereo equipment, two mink coats and a candelabra mirror were found inside.

The articles were later identified as having come from the Mills home.

Ware was booked into Marin County Jail and his companion, Michael James Abercrombie, 17, also of San Francisco, was booked into juvenile hall on suspicion of burglary.

Judge Peter Allen Smith yesterday set Ware's bail at $10,000. His case was continued to today for entry of plea.

Suspect Admits Cheating Motels

Wilbur L. Myhre, 32, of Seattle, Wash., pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to two charges of defrauding Corte Madera motels and five additional counts of the same charge were dismissed.

Judge Peter Allen Smith continued the case until today for a report on whether Myhre will be released without bail while awaiting sentencing.

Myhre was arrested Sunday after he was identified as the man who switched names and hairpieces for each visit to two Corte Madera motels, where he skipped out on bills totaling about $300.

Suspect Denies Officer Assault

Kenneth Vernon Ross, 25, of San Francisco, has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to charges of felony assault upon an officer and disturbing the peace. A preliminary hearing was set for Tuesday, July 30.

Ross, clad only in a coat, was arrested by California Highway Patrol officers as he walked along Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Lagunitas last Thursday.

Officers said that Ross threw a punch at one of them.

WALTER MATTHES
To sing leads

Matthes Gets Inverness Festival Role

Bass-baritone Walter Matthes will sing leading roles in two operas scheduled as major events in the annual Inverness Music Festival to be presented Aug. 14-16 and 23 at St. Columba's Church and Amphitheatre.

The operas are Bartok's "Bluebeard's Castle," to be presented Aug. 15 at 8 p.m. the church, and Smetana's "The Bartered Bride," to be staged Aug. 16 at 2 p.m. in the amphitheatre. Matthes has done extensive rewriting of the English translation for "The Bartered Bride."

A native of San Francisco, the singer completed his musical training at the Staatliche Hochschule Fur Musik in Munich, Germany. He has performed the last two seasons with the San Francisco Opera and in the last San Francisco Symphony season performed the three roles of the narrator, the soldier and the devil in Stravinsky's "L'Histoire du Soldat," under the direction of Seiji Ozawa.

He appeared in Marin in Thompson's "Mother of Us All" and at Mills College in Henze's "The Elegy for Young Lovers" and directed several Milhaud operas there.

Festival information and tickets are available by writing Box 2, Inverness 94937.

Visiting VIPs' Hours Will Be Kept Secret

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department has decided that for security reasons it will not give out the specific times in schedules for official vistors to the United States.

One department official said several incidents prompted the change in policy, including the attempted assassination of Nationalist Chinese defense minister Chiang Ching-Kuo in New York earlier this year. Henceforth, the movements of official visitors will be listed only by date and place.

20 Light Quakes

POZZUOLI, Italy (UPI)— Twenty light earthquakes jarred this ancient Roman seaport Tuesday and Wednesday. Scientists said none of the tremors was strong enough to cause damage. Thousands fled Pozzuoli earlier this year because of a seismological phenomenon known as slow earthquake, which caused the city to rise.

Novato Proposal For Low-Cost Housing Backed

The Committee For Adequate Housing For All has decided to back a Novato Planning Commission recommendation to require 10 per cent of a proposed housing development be low cost.

The question of requiring Standard Growth Properties to provide low cost housing on at least 10 per cent of its proposed 1,000 units in the San Marin East area of Novato is due for discussion by the city council on Tuesday.

The committee planned to send a position letter to the council and ask Novato individuals and groups to push the idea.

However, the board shied away from immediate involvement in a Fairfax City Council decision to drop out of the leased housing program if the one-year residence requirement is dropped, and another by Mill Valley rejecting cluster development by Cal-Fong Investment Co. in the Alto Bowl area.

Officers elected were Margaret Azevedo, chairman; William Lewis, vice chairman; Ellen Wagner, secretary, and ex-officio member Neil B. Little, treasurer.

Jury Awards Field, Firm $300,000

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Pollster Mervin Field of Belvedere was libeled by an unsuccessful political candidate and he and his firm are entitled to $300,000, a Superior Court Jury ruled Wednesday.

The decision was against William Penn Patrick, San Rafael cosmetic manufacturer who had said Field's California Poll had been "bought" during the 1966 Republican gubernatorial primaries.

Jurors awarded $50,000 to the field Corp. in general damages, $50,000 in punitive damages and $200,000 to Field personally.

Patrick, competing in the 1966 election against former Mayor George Christopher of San Francisco and Ronald Reagan, had said the poll had been "bought" by the Christopher organization.

The poll in question showed Christopher and Reagan running ahead of Patrick. Reagan won the primary and the general election.

Field, who had asked $4 million in damages, said that "we do not hold that public opinion polls are above criticism."

"What was at issue," he continued, "was the protection of all honest persons against malicious and baseless attacks."

Oakes In Pain – Condition Fair

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Richard Oakes, the Indian militant who was struck with a pool cue June 11, was reported in pain Wednesday after physicians drained fluid from around his lungs.

He was listed in fair condition, although a hospital spokesman said his condition was "not considered dangerous" at this time.

Before suffering pleural effusion, he had recovered consciousness and been able to sit up and eat.

Police arrested a Samoan as a result of the tavern beating.

New Teacher Staffing Plan Draws Study

The Kentfield School District board drew up a list of board needs and wishes yesterday in discussion with a teachers' group studying differentiated staffing, a concept intended to make better use of personnel.

The group started its study of differentiated staffing this summer, Supt. Anthony G. Bacich reported, and has met with groups of parents, students, teachers and administrators to learn what each considers its needs from the school system. The study is to continue through the year, Bacich said.

The board's list of needs included these points.

1. To encourage, use and compensate outstanding performance.
2. To provide time to fully plan programs and communicate them.
3. To identify and use the staff's strengths.
4. To carry out programs to maintain confidence in the schools by the staff and the community.
5. To make maximum use of facilities, supplies and staff in the light of decreasing financial support.
6. To make schools flexible, creative and stimulating to meet the needs of teaching students in a changing world.
7. To individualize instruction so each child can meet his potential.

The teachers study group will report periodically to the board on its findings.

The board accepted the resignation of iDane Sorrels, primary teacher at Greenbrae School, and met in closed session to instruct Bacich for salary negotiations with teachers.

Development Talks

Planning for community development will be discussed by the Marin City Council today at 8 p.m. in Manzanita Center. The group will also consider a communitywide survey it is making to determine what kinds of development residents need and want.

Panel In Impasse Over Barricades

Two Sausalito businessmen claimed today that the city government is blind to the city's commercial welfare, and two city officials claimed that the controversial Bridgeway parking barricades are a step toward improving the city's appearance.

The claims and counterclaims came during the "Marin Sounding Board" panel program broadcast this morning on KTIM radio.

Participants were Robin Sweeny, councilman; H. Eric Borgwardt, city planning director and interim city manager; Robert Bauerle, president of the Sausalito Businessmen's Association, and Eugene Hiller, a director of the businessmen's association.

The controversial parking ban on two blocks of downtown Bridgeway will reach the two-thirds mark of its three-month trial Saturday. The panel's businessmen and city spokesmen found practically nothing to agree on in the dispute, except that hippies loitering in the area are a separate issue.

Borgwardt argued that the downtown blocks are suffering from "an identity crisis," that some five businesses there cater to residents' needs but that the rest are visitor-oriented.

He said that particularly during the summer, Sausalitans can easily shop downtown in the early mornings, but that afternoons find Sausalito suffering an influx of visitors that could almost "be termed human pollution" and forces pedestrians to walk in the street to make headway.

Borgwardt stressed that "we're in an era of change . . . sole reliance on the auto and turning half our city over to the auto" must be solved by ou.er-area parking and shuttle transit to the shops.

Mrs. Sweeny contended that the embattled barricade plan has helped, and reported that a notebook in city hall contains many favorable comments by residents but only three complaints.

Hill argued that "gross inequities" resulted from the parking ban and that businesses had reported up to 35 per cent loss in volume since May 25. He said the traffic flow has not improved during commute hours, and that normal parking turnover means that loss of the banned spaces affects 700 cars daily.

He declared Sausalito's businessmen feel "frustration with the council's closed minds."

Bauerle cited those frustrations as the reason for 115 businessmen organizing the new association, and chided the council for always "turning to the businessmen for any kind of program they want to put across" but forgetting that it should "also protect the businessman."

Mrs. Sweeny countered that businessmen in the Sausalito Chamber of Commerce including the president, Trade Fair merchant Raymond Roy, had endorsed the parking ban test and still do. She said that the recently-discovered lack of police powers to handle Bridgeway traffic and parking are being mended by drafting an emergency ordinance for council action soon.

Although Mrs. Sweeny said no price tag could be put on a long-range solution to the traffic and parking problems, Borgwardt estimated that replacement of downtown parking with lots at Marinship and shuttle bus service might be as high as $1 million.

The panel's debate will be rebroadcast on KTIM at 10:05 a.m. Sunday, according to moderator Kitty Oppenheimer.

Fire Loss $22,000; 2 Families Displaced

Two families instead of one were displaced in a fire Monday that destroyed a house at 60 Spring Avenue in Lagunitas, Luella M. McDermott, owner of the home said.

She also reported that damage caused by the fire totalled to $22,000, not $17,000.

Townhouses Opposed By Residents

Bel Marin Keys residents are opposed to construction of townhouses in the southern portion of the subdivision by a 5-1 margin, according to preliminary results of a questionnaire.

The community survey was undertaken by a group called the Bel Marin Keys Action Committee, which opposes plans by Eureka Savings and Loan Association, owners of the subdivision, to build 262 townhouse units on 133 acres south of Bel Marin Keys Boulevard near Del Oro Lagoon.

Eureka Savings and Loan has applied to the Marin County Planning Commission to rezone the property from single family dwelling to enable the construction. Action on the rezoning has been delayed until Aug. 24.

Ted Keller, chairman of the action committee, announced the preliminary survey results today, and Richard H. Marcus, president of the Bel Marin Keys Homeowners Association, said a meeting to review them would be held at 8 p.m. today in the community center.

The committee, made up of representatives from the homeowners group, women's club and yacht club, objects that the townhouses would sharply increase density from the present zoning, which would allow 142 single family homes.

Keller said about 100 completed questionnaires have been received by the committee.

Two Boat Owners Report Burglaries

Two boats berthed in the Sausalito Yacht Harbor were burglarized last week, Sausalito police reported today.

Police said a $200 motor was taken between July 12-19 from a 23-foot sailboat belonging to Robert S. Conviser, 1490 Vistazo West Street, Tiburon, and George S. Kuhn of San Francisco told officers fishing reels, poles, a tackle box and a tool box worth a total of $165 were stolen between July 16-19 from his 30-foot cabin cruiser.

Hearing Set In Waitress Attack Case

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A San Francisco man charged with assaulting a cocktail waitress from Mill Valley with a tire iron is scheduled to appear in municipal court here Aug. 5 at 2 p.m. for a preliminary hearing.

He waived arraignment and pleaded innocent to assault with a deadly weapon Tuesday and the hearing date was set yesterday.

The assault charge against Lloyd J. Hartman, 39, stemmed from a Monday incident outside Roland's Cocktail Lounge in the Marina District during which he allegedly attacked Patty Noland, 32, of 31 Millay Place, police said.

Hartman had been ejected from the bar, but apparently waited outside until Miss Noland left shortly after 2 a.m., police said. She was rescued by several customers.

Hartman is being held in city prison in lieu of $1,250 bail.

Pair Charged With Marijuana Offenses

Two men were charged yesterday in Marin Municipal Court with marijuana offenses after being arrested earlier in the day by a drug agent who said he saw them sharing a marijuana cigarette in a car while driving down Highway 101.

Accused of transporting and possessing marijuana was Gordon Lee Shoop, 19, of Monte Rio. Paul Howard Fleischer, 23, of Berkeley was charged with possessing pot.

The agent said that he saw four men in a car near the Marinwood turnoff and stopped them near the Highway 37 exit. He said that Shoop, the driver, told him the other three were hitchhikers.

A brown bag containing three plastic bags of suspected pot also contained an address book with Fleischer's name, he said.

About 10 marijuana cigarettes were also found in the car, and the agent said he smelled a heavy odor of marijuana as he went up to the car.

The two hitchhikers in the back seat were released for lack of evidence.

Shoop and Fleischer are to enter pleas to the charges next Thursday.

Novato Firemen Get Pay Increase

The Novato Fire District board last night granted a 6 per cent pay increase to district employees, according to Fire Chief Jack Kidder.

The raise will cost the district approximately $20,000 this fiscal year, he said. The vote was 4-0, with Commissioner Henry V. Alvarez absent.

The board postponed action on a request by firemen for a shorter work week. Firemen now work 73 hours per week.

Marin Safety Worker Pay Rift Lingers

State mediation efforts have produced no apparent progress in the stalled salary negotiaitons for 200 Marin county safety employees.

Asst. County Administrator John F. Barrows said he met with mediator James Marshall of the State Conciliation Service for about 90 minutes today but they reached no conclusions.

Barrows said the county's position is unchanged — an offer of 7.5 per cent raise for sheriff's deputies and 5 per cent for firemen and communications workers.

The mediator did not set a date for another meeting, but Barrows expected another session would be arranged with the Marin County Employees Association, which is representing the safety employees.

The employees association, represented by manager Randall M. Prevo, is asking for 15 per cent raise for sheriff's deputies, 10 per cent for firemen and communications workers, plus a work week reduction for firemen, who now put in 96 hours per week.

Longer Hours Adopted For Youth Center

Hours of the new Corte Madera youth center will be extended, the Corte Madera Park and Recreation Commission agreed last night.

The commission agreed the center will be open from 7 to 11 p.m. Monday through Thursday and on alternate weekends, reported secretary Marilyn R. Wilson. The commission authorized increasing youth adviser Rick McMullen's paid time to 20 hours a week for the three-month trial period of extended hours.

After discussing recreation needs of the town east of Highway 101, the commission asked consultant Andrew J. Snyder Jr. and Associates to produce a written proposal for a study of the recreation needs.

Snyder suggested a poll of residents be distributed through Granada and San Clemente schools. David I. Freed of 35 Harbor Drive suggested a volunteer group could work with Snyder in polling citizens and reviewing possible recreation sites.

(Snyder, San Rafael's parks and recreation director, also does private consultation.)

The Corte Madera Park and Recreation Commission also:

BAND CONCERTS — Asked recreation coordinator Jacqueline Branch to inquire about bands which might be interested in performing without fee at Sunday afternoon band concerts in Town Park.

DINNER — Was told a hula class will hold a "ukini," a Hawaiian-style pot luck dinner, at 7:30 p.m. Aug. 6 at the recreation center.

MEETING — Adjourned to 7:30 p.m. Aug. 26.

Suspect To Give Plea Today On Molesting

Ronald Paul Rowell, 23, of Novato, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of molesting several little girls in Novato in the period between December, 1969, and March, 1970.

His case was continued to today for entry of plea.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

A Pill To Cure Finessomania Would Save Many A Contract

I have tried to persuade Dr. George Rosenkranz, one of the world's leading pharmaceutical chemists and Mexico's most prominent bridge expert, to do the basic research on a pill that will protect a bridge player against a bad trump break. If he can manage this, perhaps he will then prepare a pill to cure finessomania. Such a pill would have saved a patient in today's case.

FINESSE PLOT

South won the first trick with the queen of diamonds and saw that he would make the game and rubber if he could get two spade tricks. A finesse would do the job if East had either the king or the jack of spades.

Feeling quite pleased with himself, South led a heart to dummy and returned a spade to try a finesse with the queen. West won with the king and returned a heart to dummy's ace.

ANOTHER TRY

Declarer now tried a finesse with the nine of spades, and West collected the trick with the jack. West then led his other heart to give East two heart tricks.

By this time the defenders had four tricks, and were sure to get another in either clubs or diamonds. Down one.

HEALTHY PLAY

South could have made his contract if he had been a healthy man instead of a finessomaniac. He is sure of two spade tricks if he goes at the suit hammer and tongs instead of by way of repeated finesses.

After winning the first trick with the queen of diamonds South should lead out the ace and queen of spades. West takes the king of spades and leads a heart to dummy's king. Now declarer gives up a spade to the jack and gets back to dummy with the ace of hearts to cash the ten of spades. The rest is easy.

Judge Will Release 'Staggered' Drinkers

PADUCAH, Ky. (UPI)—Circuit Judge J. Brandon Price quashed indictments against 17 alcoholics, most of whom had been jailed for nearly three months.

The 17 were indicted on the seldom-used charge of creating a common nuisance after several had been arrested from four to 49 times for drunkenness. Price said he would release the defendants on a "staggered basis."

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, July 23, the 204th day of 1970 with 161 to follow.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter. The morning star is Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1829, William Burt of Mount Vernon, Mich., received a patent for his "typographer", claimed to be the first typewriter.

In 1904, the ice cream cone was born. Charles Menches of St. Louis, Mo., called on a young lady carrying a bouquet of flowers and an ice cream sandwich. She fashioned one sandwich layer into a vase-...thus suggesting a cone type holder for the ice cream.

In 1945, Marshal Henry Petain of France went on trial in Paris to face charges of World War II treason.

In 1968, eight persons, six of them policemen, were killed during a racial disorder in Cleveland.

A thought for the day: Somerset Maugham said, "The tragedy of love is indifference."

5% Of Bonn's Work Force Are Foreigners

BONN (UPI)—About five per cent of the 21.5 million men and women employed in West Germany are foreigners.

At the end of January, the number of foreign workers totalled a record 1,574,700, the government reported. Thirty per cent of them were women.

The largest contingents of foreign workers were Italians, Yugoslavs, Turks, Greeks and Spaniards.

Witness Testifies Youth Shot Brodnik After Fight

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—An eyewitness to the slaying of police officer Joseph Brodnik testified in halting English Wednesday that the policeman was slain with his hands up by a boy who "just shot him."

Six Latin-American youths have been charged with slaying the veteran officer after he stopped burglary suspects in San Francisco's Mission District.

Polish-born Irene Jarzyna, 45, said she saw the shooting from her bedroom window.

She said Brodnik was backing away from the youths when he was shot.

"I see with my eyes," she told defense attorney Charles Garry when he objected to an answer she had given.

Mrs. Jarzyna said she saw two men and six boys milling around on the sidewalk. One of the men was bending over a TV set and radio.

Both Brodnik and his undercover partner, Paul McGoran, were in plainclothes but from the woman's description the man leaning over the suspected stolen items was Brodnik.

She said McGoran suddenly grabbed one of the youths and slammed his head against a wall. The suspect hit McGoran with his right fist and the other boys jumped the policeman, knocking him to the pavement.

Brodnik tried to pull the youths off McGoran.

"Then I see the gun," Mrs. Jarzyna said.

"The boy had gun and I see the man in the whiteshirt was have hands up.

"The boy just shot him."

The prosecution contends Brodnik was shot with McGoran's gun after it was wrestled from him in the struggle.

The defense claims McGoran drew his weapon during the fracas and fired a wild but fatal shot.

Study Asked Of Regent's Transaction

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly Wednesday requested an auditor general's investigation of a business deal involving University of California Regent Edwin Pauley and top UC administrators.

The Assembly approved the house resolution by Assemblyman John Stull, R-Leucadia, on a split voice vote. Stull said he wanted the state auditor general to determine if the deal was "proper" and report his findings to the legislature.

The lawmaker said a nonprofit corporation formed in 1966 by UC President Charles Hitch and other UC officials was involved in a business transaction with Pauley Petroleum, Inc., whose board chairman and chief stockholder is Pauley.

Stull said the corporation borrowed $5.8 million from a bank at an interest rate of 6 1-4 per cent and loaned the sum to Pauley's company at a rate of 6 3-8 per cent. Security for the bank loan was half of Pauley Petroleum's oil and gas holdings with the university corporation acting as agent.

Stull asserted last month that Pauley Petroleum profited by the transaction because of oil depletion allowances in tax returns which "Mr. Pauley has made up to about $760,000 through avoidance of taxes to the federal government and up to $63,000 through avoidance of California corporation franchise taxes."

Profits from the transaction went to the university.

Tahoe Plane Crash Investigation Begun

SOUTH LAKE TAHOE (UPI) —Federal investigators today began efforts to determine the cause of a plane crash which killed six members of a Southern California family.

The Beechcraft Bonanza crashed near a highly flammable propane tank Wednesday shortly after taking off from Lake Tahoe Airport. Witnesses said the plane went down after its engine sputtered.

El Dorado County sheriff's deputies identified the victims as Dr. Joseph Didio; a San Diego obstetrician, his wife Darlene, 30, daughters, Cheryl, 15, Diane, 13, and Michaele, 1 1-2, and son Joseph Jr., 11. Cheryl, Diane and Joseph were Didio's children by a previous marriage and lived with their mother in Thousand Oaks.

The plane was registered in Dr. Didio's name.

The National Transportation Safety Board and the FAA sent investigators to the crash scene. It was the worst plane crash in the airport's 11-year history.

Air traffic controller Brad Haury said the plane was about 300 feet off the ground when it started "having difficulty." The craft veered 90 degrees, clipped the top of a tree and crashed tail-first.

He said the pilot "made a hard right turn, then a left turn, then he descended out of sight behind a line of trees." Haury said the pilot made no radio contact with the tower to indicate trouble.

In Sacramento, the FAA reported the pilot had filed a flight plan listing Brackett Field at Pomona as his destination. But it was believed his ultimate destination was El Cajon Airport in San Diego County. The plane left El Cajon Airport Sunday.

Desert Inn Hit By Hiring Ruling

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI)— Howard Hughes' Desert Inn was guilty of sexual discrimination when it failed to hire Mrs. Arden Johnson as a blackjack dealer, the State Labor Commissioner ruled Wednesday.

Commissioner Stanley Jones, who explained he could not force the casino to hire Mrs. Johnson, said however, her application must be considered on the same basis as those of men.

Mrs. Johnson's application showed she "has just as good a qualification as many and substantially better than some," he continued.

Women have dealt cards in northern Nevada gambling casinos since World War II but not in Las Vegas.

TV REVIEW

Old-Timers Leaving TV Next Month

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Several major personalities will be leaving network television in August. It has long been known that Chet Huntley is departing. And now veteran actor Arthur Treacher, longtime sidekick to Merv Griffin on CBS-TV's late-night series, has also decided to bow out.

On leaving NBC news, Huntley will be occupied with developing a major resort in his native Montana. Marking his retirement, he will appear on the "Today" program July 31 to reminisce and to discuss his future plans.

Treacher, who turned 76 this week and has been in show business for 51 years, will remain with the Griffin series through Aug. 14.

NO DAILY WORK

He says he doesn't want to maintain a daily work schedule in the future. Rather, he will give more of his attention to his chain of quick-service restaurants, and also to a nightclub he owns with Griffin in New York.

Treacher, who was one of Hollywood's most famous character actors years ago, also says he'll consider movie and theatre offers. In the old days, he was well-known by the film-going public for his roles as humorously stuffy butlers.

His movies included "Viva Villa," "Madame Dubarry," "David Copperfield," "Star Spangled Rhythm," "Forever and a Day," "Chip Off The Old Block," "National Velvet" and "Midnight Kiss."

Griffin says he will not replace the British-born Treacher, which means that, of the three network late-nights hosts, only one, NBC-TV's Johnny Carson, will continue to work with a sidekick: Ed McMahon. ABC-TV's Dick Cavett has been a soloist from the start.

LOST DIGNITY

The loss of Treacher figures to deprive the Griffin series of some badly-needed dignity. Since Griffin moved his frequently intelligent syndicated talk show to CBS-TV, he has become so coy in his manner—perhaps to attract a less sophisticated mass audience—that his series is often embarrashing to watch. Treacher is a man of taste. And it is taste that the series needs above all.

In other future program developments announced by the various networks:

—NBC-TV's weekly motion pictures in the coming season will include "An American in Paris" with Gene Kelly; Mel Brooks' superbly wild comedy, "The Producers," with Zero Mostel; and "The Russians Are Coming, The Russians Are Coming," with Alan Arkin and Carl Reiner.

—Chief Justice Warren Burger's "State of the Judiciary" address before a meeting of the American Bar Association in St. Louis will be covered the same day, Aug. 10, in a one-hour prime time report on CBS-TV. NBC-TV previously announced it would carry the speech live at Noon EDT.

Petaluma Rancho Splendor Relives Old Adobe's History

By BONNIE BARD

When Indians and Mexican conquerors roamed California in the early 1800's, Gen. Mariano G. Vallejo, Mexican military commander and director of Northern Colonization lived in veritable splendor in his adobe rancho near Petaluma. All of Marin and Southern Sonoma was his domain.

Vallejo's secluded Old Adobe, now carefully maintained by the state Department of Parks and Recreation, lies three miles east of Petaluma. Only distant subdivisions remind visitors that 125 years have passed since the rancho was in its flower.

During the period in which Mexico held California, land grants were made to more than 800 individuals. Vallejo, then a young army officer, received ten leagues of land from Gov. Jose Figueroa.

Other acreage was added later and soon his land included all of Marin County.

While Vallejo's home in Sonoma was his main living quarters, he and his family spent part of each year at the bustling rancho, where thousands of Indians worked as plowmen, harvesters, herders, domestic servants, weavers, tanners and at other trades. Most were from the Miwok tribe.

The rancho's walls are three feet thick, made entirely of adobe. Lumber used in the construction came from the rancho itself and from trees along the coast. Some of the material was processed at the sawmill of Stephen Smith of Bodega, the first to operate on the Pacific Coast in 1844.

During the construction period between 1836 and 1846, the effects of industrial revolution were felt. Machine-cut nails and cast-iron hinges may be found along with wooden pegs, hand-forged hardware and rawhide.

Historians disagree on the role of the rancho, but the official state version portrays it as a large cattle ranch. The sale of hides and tallow brought wealth to Vallejo, whose Sonoma home and rancho were furnished lavishly.

Most of the furnishings came from Europe and the Orient, as well as Mexico and the United States.

With the "Bear Flag Revolt" by American settlers in Northern California in June of 1846, and the subsequent war with Mexico, the splendor of the rancho diminished.

Some historians see the rancho's role as a fort during the war, but state historians maintain that only noncombat equipment was provided by the rancho.

In 1850, with the advent of statehood, Vallejo became Sonoma County's first state senator.

He leased the rancho until 1857 when it was sold to William Hill Whiteside, who in 1859 sold it to William D. Bliss, a Petaluma attorney, who held the property until his death in 1886.

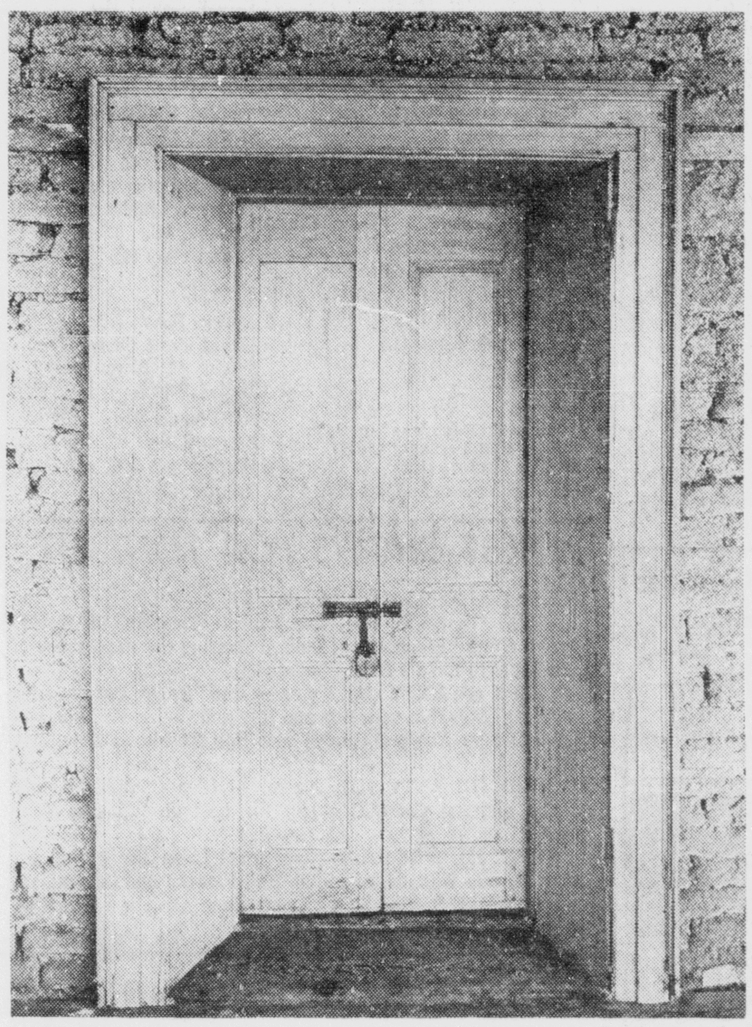
The site fell into disrepair after a long period of rental and was deeded in 1910 to Petaluma Parlor 27, Native Sons of the Golden West. While the organization didn't have the funds to renovate the structure, it did maintain it unitl it was taken over by the state parks department in 1951.

Today park rangers maintain the structure and greet 50,000 visitors annually.

Park ranger William C. Heilbronn, who has been assigned to the park for five years, gives tours to countless school classes.

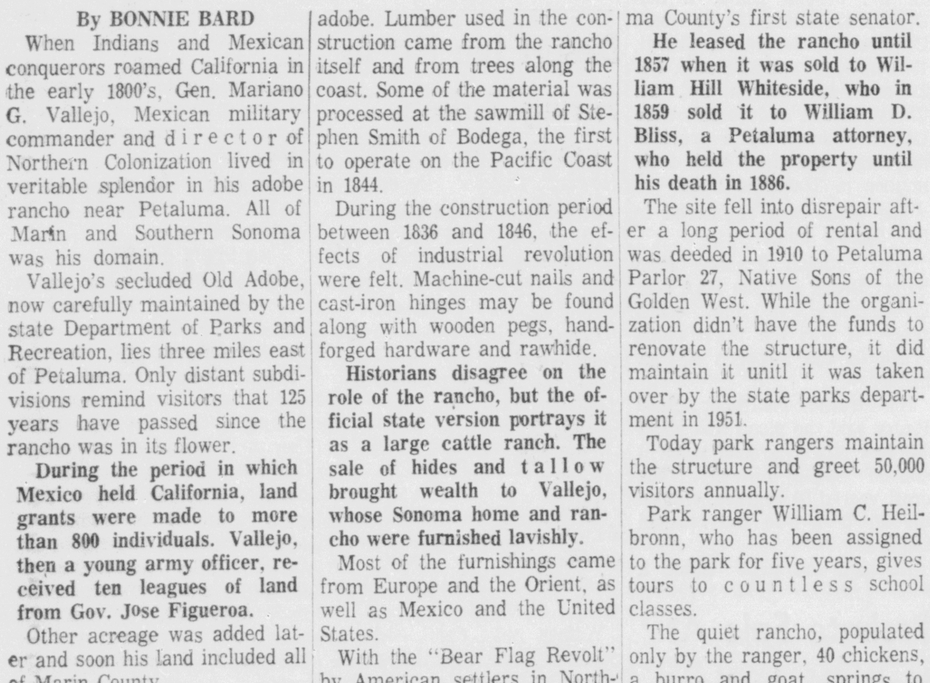
The quiet rancho, populated only by the ranger, 40 chickens, a burro and goat, springs to life once a year for the annual Old Adobe Days Fiesta.

Planned for Aug. 15 and 16, the fete will see Petalumans dressed in period costumes and displaying items from trades of the era that included basket weaving, bread baking, blacksmithing, weaving, pottery making, spinning, dying, tortilla making and flower arranging.



CAREFUL RENOVATION — Doors, woodwork and the adobe walls have been carefully renovated by the state Department of Parks and Recreation. Eighty-five per cent of the structure's walls are original, as well as 20 per cent of the woodwork.

ADOBE FURNITURE — Furnishings, like these in the Vallejo family apartment, are authentic from the Mexican period. Many of the pieces have been donated by visitors pleased to find an appropriate place for family heirlooms.



MEXICAN FLAG — Heilbronn raises the Mexican flag, one of many that have flown over the Adobe, near Petaluma, since 1836.

KITCHEN — While most cooking at Vallejo's rancho was done outdoors, a large indoor kitchen was maintained for storage and preparation of food. Food was abundant, although cooking methods were primitive. Indians ground corn for tortillas with a mano stone and metate. Bread was baked in ovens (rear) heated with charcoal.

WIDE GAP

Football's Big Impasse

NEW YORK (UPI)—A key spokesman for the National Football League owners believes "the college All Star Game can't possibly take place" because of the impasse in contract negotiations with the Players Association.

The two sides, who are $11.4-million apart on pension benefits in the troubled negotiations, were invited to a meeting with the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service in Baltimore today at 1 p.m. The Players Association rented cars Wednesday night for the trek from their nearby headquarters in Washington, but they might find themselves playing a waiting game again.

IMPRACTICAL

The owners' spokesman told UPI the scheduled meeting was "wholly impractical . . . I don't round up everybody and get there in time. I would like to have the meeting rescheduled."

The owners refused to attend a similar meeting in Washington Wednesday night although the players showed up. "There are too many politicians in Washington who would like to make these negotiations into what I'll call a political basketball in deference to the sport of football," explained Theodore Kheel, the owners' labor counsel. "We will accept any other city besides Washington.

However, the owners agreed ton."

However, the owners agreed to allow the Kansas City players to report to practice despite a lockout that has kept the striking veterans out of camp. Coach Hank Stram of the Chiefs has said his team will need at least a week of practice for the All Star game against the collegians on July 31 in Chicago.

ASKED

"If the Kansas City camp were opened would the (Players) Association direct the Kansas City players to report and play the College All Star Game?" the owners asked Wednesday. "If the Players Association is willing to so direct the Kansas City players the Kansas City camp will be opened immediately."

The owners got their answer when Baltimore end John Mackey, president of the Players Association, said:

"As active players we are fully aware that the Kansas City Chiefs will need at least one week to prepare for the College All Star Game and we hope that all NFL teams will be in camp by Saturday.

"However, we feel that it is basically unfair and not in the best interests of all NFL players whom we represent to allow one team to practice while 25 other teams remain idle."

REMOTE

The owners' spokesman said, "As a practical matter I think this means the All Star Game can't possibly take place because the chances of a settlement by Saturday are so remote."

The Players Association also said it had received "the 100 per cent support of the Kansas City players late Wednesday night no matter what course is taken." The Chiefs veterans stand to lose one-fourteenth of their annual salaries if they don't play in the charity game because that is their payment for playing.

The owners, who reluctantly agreed to enter into mediation, have said they "foresee a lengthy strike by the Players

Little Leaguers Advance

Champion teams from the Marinwood, Strawberry, Hamilton-Loma Verde and San Rafael- national leagues won last night to gain berths in tomorrow night's semifinals of the Marin County Little League Team Championship baseball tournament.

Twelve teams have been eliminated in the first two rounds of the tourney, which precedes the start next week of the annual Little League all-star tournament.

11 ERRORS

The Marinwood White Sox got a perfect three-for-three performance from Mike Tibbetts, and took advantage of 11 Sausalito errors to bomb the Seals, 12-1. The White Sox scored four times in both the third and fourth innings to put the game out of reach.

Kevin Tracy doubled with men on second and third in the fourth inning to give the Strawberry Ravens a 3-2 victory over the Pirates of the Novato National League. Jim Jorgensen went the distance on the mound for the Ravens.

The Hamilton-Loma Verde Pirates scored three runs in the first and were never headed as they eliminated Novato's other team, the American League White Sox, 3-1. Kevin Collins went all the way for the Pirates.

FINE PLAY

The San Rafael National's Bank of Marin team survived a harrowing final inning to stop the Greenbrae Oaks of the Kentfield League, 7-4. With Greenbrae at bat in the bottom of the sixth and one out, Steve Colombo fielded a ground ball behind the mound, stepped on second for the force and threw to the plate to nail the runner coming home.

Marinwood will meet Strawberry at Castro Field in Gallinas Valley (San Rafael), and Hamilton-Loma Verde will face San Rafael at Rancho School in Novato in semifinal round games tomorrow at 6 p.m. The championship game will be played Saturday, 1 p.m. at Castro Field. No games are scheduled today.

SPORTING GENTRY: BARBARA PARCHER

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Although she missed making the United States team for the World University Games by a fraction of a point, pretty gymnastics specialist Barbara Parcher still flashes a pretty smile and isn't discouraged.

Miss Parcher, 22, a product of Terra Linda High School who went on to win gymnastics top honors at Sacramento State College, has just completed a stay at Tamalpais High School where she was a gymnastics consultant in a summer school program.

A June graduate at Sacramento State, she returned to that school this week to work with the Division of Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

She won the intercollegiate championships last year in the NCAA national gymnastics meet and was one of the competitors earlier this month in the tryouts for the World Games team, held at Terre Haute, Ind. She missed making the six-woman team by a fraction of a point. That team will compete in the World University Games, in Italy, next month.

"I'm also planning to work this summer as a gymnastics teacher at a camp in Gualala (Mendocino County)," she said before leaving Tamalpais High. "I have gotten so much from gymnastics I feel a need to put something back into it. That's why I like to teach it."

To be a champion gymnast, a girl has to be very proficient on the parallel bars, balance beam, side horse vault, and be a good dancer, the event officially called "floor exercise."

Barbara got her start in gymnastics at Terra Linda High, but admits, "I wasn't very good then." She continued in gymnastics at San Francisco State College, working under Andrea Schmid, a former Hungarian Olympic team member.

She later transferred to Sacramento State as a junior and worked under coach Kathy Shelly, a Corte Madera woman who had got her schooling in Marin Catholic High when she lived in Marin.

The turning point in Miss Parcher's gymnastics career was her transfer to Sacramento State, she said. "That school has a very strong program and I worked out five days a week."

In her junior year she finished 12th in the inter-collegiate nationals and improved all the way to the top the following year. Last summer she was a member of collegiate national all-star gymnastics team that toured overseas for seven weeks, in Europe, the Mid-East and North Africa.

"It was a fantastic trip," the pert blonde bubbled. "The people were just great. They really rolled out the red carpet for us."

Miss Parcher, who stands just under 5-foot-1 and weighs just over100 pounds, is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Parcher who live in Terra Linda but are now on a trip to Alaska. Barbara has two brothers, Armond, 30, and David, 20.

Usual practice sessions take up about two to three hours a day when she is in rigid training. "But that's just five or six days a week. No one should work on a sport seven days a week. That's too much."

Her biggest thrill so far in gymnastics was her oversea tour last summer. "When you're representing your country you really feel proud," she said. "It's something that you can't really explain."

She plans to become a graduate assistant teacher and coach at Sacramento State in the fall.

WEST BEATERS

Phillies Claim California Title

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Philadelphia Phillies were back home Thursday, taking with them the National League championship of California.

Wednesday's 5-2 victory over the San Francisco Giants ended West Coast appearances for the Phils in 1970 and gave them an overall record of 14 wins and only four losses in games at San Diego, Los Angeles and San Francisco. They swept six games from the Padres and were 4-2 in Los Angeles and San Francisco.

CHAMPIONS

"It has been a tremendous road trip and we claim the championship of California," said Phil manager Frank Lucchesi after the game. "We won seven out of eight this trip —three straight in San Diego, two out of three in Los Angeles and two straight in Candlestick Park."

Phil righthander Jim Bunning was Wednesday's winner, holding the Giants to five singles to pick up his 99th National League win against 79 losses. He was 118-87 with the Detroit Tigers before leaving the American League.

Bunning also helped out with his bat, driving in two of the five Phils runs with a sacrifice fly in the third and a single in the seventh.

FALTERS

The well-travelled Bunning almost went the distance until he faltered in the ninth. Dick Selma came in to get pinchhitter Dick Dietz for the final out after Ron Hunt was hit by a pitch and pinchhitters Willie Mays and Willie McCovey delivered singles for the second San Francisco run.

The first Giant run did not take much power as Bobby Bonds led off the first with a single, stole second, went to third on an infield out and came home after Hunt's sacrifice fly.

Bunning's sacrifice fly after Terry Harmon's leadoff triple in the third tied the score and Don Money singled home Tony Taylor in the sixth to put the Phils ahead. Two unearned runs in the seventh were driven in by Bunning and Taylor. Doubles by Mike Ryan and Byron Browne in the ninth accouted for the final run.

PERRY'S LOSS

Bunning ran his 1970 record to 8-9 while the loss went to Gaylord Perry, now 14-9. Don McMahon pitched the ninth for San Francisco.

Bunning, who has hit more than 150 batters in his career, plunked Ron Hunt in the ninth inning. It was the 21st time this season Hunt has been hit by a pitch and the 122nd time in his National League career. He holds the league record in that category.

The Giants rest today and begin a long road trip Friday with a doubleheader in Montreal.

Marin Team Unbeaten

Central Marin's 13-year-old Babe Ruth League all-stars defeated Travis Air Force Base, 6-2 last night to remain undefeated in the Vacaville all-star tournament. Ed Anderson, Central Marin's ace righthander, pitched the team to its third tourney victory and into tonight's semi-final round against Santa Rosa.

A's Bullpen Ace Jim Grant Does His Thing: 15th Save

OAKLAND (UPI)—Jim Grant is a tough man to beat in the late innings.

The "Mudcat," an outstanding starter in his younger days, now is 34 years old and one of baseball's most skillful short-relievers.

He saved his 15th game of the season and lowered his earned run average to a stunning 1.03 Wednesday night by pitching two perfect innings ad preserving a 4-3 win for the Oakland A's over the Senators in Washington.

Grant heads a bullpen which is among baseball's steadiest.

Jim Hunter, supposedly the ace of the A's, has 13 victories to his credit. But he hasn't won since the Fourth of July and he lasted only four innings Wednesday night. Spotless relief by Rollie Fingers, winning pitcher Marcel Lachemann and Grant kept the deficit respectable and allowed the A's to win it coming from behind.

Trailing 3-1 into the top of the eighth inning, Felipe Alou led off and drilled his seventh homer of the year to bring Oakland within a run of the Senators. Then Washington starter Casey Cox walked Sal Bando and the Senators' premier reliever, Darold Knowles, came to the mound.

Knowles has saved 20 games for Washington but the figure didn't faze the A's. Joe Rudi, pinchhitting against the lefty, rifled a double to the right-centerfield wall, scoring Bando all the way from first and tying the score at 3-3.

Knowles then walked Dick Green intentionally and ruined the strategy with a very unintentional error. In attempting a pickoff play, he flung the ball wildly beyond first base and allowed Rudi to sprint home with the winning tally.

The victory was the third in a row for Oakland but left the club 10 games behind the Twins, who also won Wednesday night.

Jackson, Oakland's slumbering slugger who whomped 47 homers last season, has only 14 this year. However, he cracked two more hits Wednesday night to continue his sharp play since the All-Star break. Jackson now is batting .238, an improvement of 10 points in only two games.

The A's open a 12 game homestand Friday night against New York.

Pirates Win, Gain Ground On Mets; Cubs Bomb Reds

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Bruce Dal Canton is smart enough to know his place.

Dal Canton, a 28-year-old pitcher for Pittsburgh who graduated from California (Pa.) State College and teaches high school biology in the off-season, made his first start for the Pirates in three years a winning one Wednesday night.

Dal Canton appeared in 57 games last seasan and in seven the year before, all in relief, but was pressed into service as an emergency starter because of injuries to Pirate hurlers Steve Blass, Bob Moose and Bob Veale. The 6-foot-2, 209 pound righthander responded with a neat seven-hit effort over seven and two-thirds innings before tiring as Pittsburgh downed the Atlanta Braves 5-3.

ONE-TIMER

"This was a one-time start for me and I know I belong in the bullpen," Dal Canton said while accepting congratulations for his performance. When asked if he had any pre-game jitters, he answered: "I was just concerned about doing the job. I figured on throwing as best as I could for as long as I could."

Pirate manager Danny Murtaugh agreed Dal Canton will be returned to the bullpen . . . but maybe not just yet.

"I will start him again if the other three (Blass, Moose, Veale) can't take a turn," Murtaugh said. "We'll have to wait and see. Once we're sound again with our starters, Bruce goes back to the bullpen. We need him there. He knows that."

11 HITS

The Pirates backed Dal Canton with an 11-hit attack, including four safeties by Manny Sanguilen and a two-run single by Dave Cash. The victory was Dal Canton's fifth against only one loss and increased Pittsburgh's lead to two games in the National League's East Division as second place New York lost to San Diego 5-4 in 10 innings.

Elsewhere in the NL, Chicago blasted Cincinnati 10-2, Los Angeles overcame Montreal 12-10, Philadelphia trimmed San Francisco 5-2 and Houston downed St. Louis 13-9.

In the American League, Boston beat California twice 7-4 and 8-3, Cleveland downed Chicago 6-2, Milwaukee topped New York 4-1, Oakland shaded Washington 4-3, Minnesota edged Detroit 2-1 and Baltimore nipped Kansas City 4-3 in 13 innings.

Ivan Murrell singled home Al Ferrera with two out in the 10th to help San Diego past New York. The Mets had taken a 4-3 lead in the ninth on Bud Harrelson's sacrifice fly but the Padres tied the score in their half of the inning on Nate Colbert's 20th homer off Tom Seaver. Ed Spiezio also homered for San Diego. Jack Baldschun got the win in relief and Nolan Ryan took the loss.

HICKMAN BACK

Jim Hickman, returning to action after being sidelined a few days with a kidney infection, knocked in four runs, three of them with his 21st homer, and Billy Williams slugged his 27th round tripper to pace Chicago over Cincinnati. Bill Hands stopped the Reds on six hits in raising his record to 12-7.

Tom Haller's grand slam homer highlighted an eight-run outburst in the seventh inning which carried Los Angeles past Montreal. The Dodgers were trailing 10-4 before scoring all eight of their runs in the seventh with two out. Rookie Von Joshua also homered for the Dodgers while Bob Bailey and Ron Fairly connected for the Expos.

Association because of the extreme seriousness of the current impasse."

To solve the problems besetting them, Mackay said the players negotiation committee "is anxious to commence negotiations with the NFL owners in an around-the-clock effort to resolve all issues under discussion."

TWO CHOICES

Ken Bowman, a vice president of the Players Association, warned, "We feel the owners are attempting to break this association. This hardline stand is now even more effective since the National Football League Players Association has only two choices: 1. To buckle under and accept the owners' proposal, or 2. To continue to seek the mutually acceptable agreement with the resulting possibility that a ballplayer may have to leave the country to play professional football."

The owners also have indicated they have "considered the possibility" that the entire season may be canceled.

Pepitone Draws Suspension

SPORTS—PEPITONE—130 3 ...

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Joe Pepitone, who packed his hair dryer and left the Houston Astros on Tuesday, was suspended without pay by the club Wednesday night.

The Astros announced the suspension after arriving here to begin a series with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Jim Wynn, who went 3-for-3 as the Astros beat St. Louis 13-9, said, "we miss him." But he added, "I don't believe the Joe Pepitone issue has disrupted the club. He's doing what he thinks is right. Some of the ballplayers are for him, some are against him. But he'll get straightened out and we'll be for him when he comes back. Joe's the kind of guy who can really help a team."

Cesar Geronimo, an infielder from the Astros' columbus, Ga. farm club, was called up by the Astros to replace Pepitone.

Pepitone was back in Brooklyn, N.Y., signing autographs at his hair styling salon and explaining his gripes against the Astros.

The controversial first baseman-outfielder said a trade might be the best way to solve the dilemma.

Pepitone was traded last winter by the New York Yankees to the Astros for Curt Blefary. He didn't get along in Houston with either general manager Spec Richardson or manager Harry Walker.

U.S. Vs. Russia In Track; Richeys Continue To Win

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

LENINGRAD — Lacking in big name stars but high on morale, the young U.S. track and field team arrived in Leningrad yesterday for today's meet with a powerful Soviet squad on the rough and ragged asphalt track at Lenin Stadium.

Missing from the American team were such stars as Lee Evans, Charlie Green and Marty Liquori, who are competing on their own in Holland.

Dominating an international track and field meet yesterday in the small southern Dutch town of Maastricht, Evans won the 200-meter dash in 21.4 seconds and captured his specialty, the 400-meter run, in 47.8. Liquori, America's best middle distance runner, took first in both the 1,500 and 3,000 meter runs.

Tennis

CINCINNATI — Defending champion Cliff Roichey and his sister Nancy continued to win yesterday during the third day of singles competition in the Western Tennis Championships.

Richey of San Angelo, Tex., had a few uncomfortable moments before polishing off Patricio Cornejo of Chile, 6-0, 3-6, 6-3. Nancy, the top ranked and top seeded U.S. woman tennis player, blasted Gail Hansen of Palo Alto, 6-0, 6-1.

Stan Smith of Pasadena, Calif., the No. 1 ranked U.S. player, overpowered Ony Parun of New Zealand, 6-2, 6-2.

LONG BEACH, Calif. — Tennis star Billie Jean King underwent surgery on her right knee at a Long Beach hospital Wednesday.

A hospital spokesman said "she came through the operation beautifully."

Mrs. King previously had an operation performed on her left knee.

Baseball

MINNEAPOLIS — ST. PAUL — Jim Perry pitched perfect baseball for five innings and went on to record his 15th win of the season last night as Minnesota edged Detroit, 2-1. Perry, 33, brother of the Giants' pitcher Gaylord Perry, allowed only two hits but needed late inning help from reliever Ron Perranoski to become the winningest pitcher in the American League this season. Perry has seven losses.

Jim Merritt of the National League Cincinnati Reds also has 15 wins.

CHICAGO — Ernie Banks was placed on the disabled list for the first time in his 17 year career Wednesday because of a chronic aggravation in his left knee.

The veteran first baseman injured the knee six weeks ago, and has played sporadically since then, aggravating the knee each time.

Boxing

NEW YORK — Floyd Patterson, former two-time heavyweight champion, has agreed to meet Charlie "Devil" Green of New York in a 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden Sept. 15.

Patterson, who holds the distinction of being the only heavyweight to lose and regain his crown, has been inactive since Sept. 14, 1968, when he lost a bout to Jimmy Ellis in Stockholm, Sweden.

Bowling

AKRON — Akronite Don Johnson's 11th place finish in the Houston Sertoma Open has increased his lead in the weekly money winnings of the Professional Bowling Association.

Johnson received an $800 check for his finish in the Houston Open to give him $37,265 this season. Nelson Burton Jr., who thus far has earned $31,750, is in second place.

BOWLING TIPS

In the course of the natural backswing, the ball should reach shoulder-height. This happens as the third step (with right foot in four-step delivery) is completed. For most women this length of a backswing will produce sufficient speed and balance.

Bueler Hurls Three-Hitter At Vallejo

Novato's American Legion baseball team has clinched at least a tie for the second half of its league season by blanking Vallejo 5-0 yesterday behind the three-hit pitching of Dennis Bueler.

Novato finished the regular season with an overall record of 11 wins and 5 losses. In the second half Novato was 6-2. Napa, now 5-2, plays Vacaville Saturday and if Napa wins will play Novato in a playoff game Sunday in Vallejo. A Napa loss will give the Novato nine sole possession of the second half title.

Bueler struck out 15 batters and walked none yesterday in coasting to the victory at Vallejo's Wilson Park. Novato was led at the plate by left fielder Tom Zechlin and right fielder Jim Thompson, each with two hits.

Unknown Leads 49er Sprint

GOLETA (UPI)—When the San Francisco 49ers ran their traditional 40-yard training camp race a few days back, an unknown from San Jose State College led the field.

He is Walt Blackledge, a 6-3 wide received who clocked 4.65 in the 40-yard sprint. He's hoping to make the squad as a free agent, to fulfill one of two ambitions.

This is his third pro football camp, and he has yet to stick on a regular season roster. In addition, he still has one semester left before receiving his degree from San Jose State.

"I'm going back to school, whether I make the team or not," Blackledge said Wednesday.

A Packed Program For British Games

EDINBURGH, Scotland (UPI)—It's gala day for track and field fans today at the ninth British Commonwealth Games with no fewer than 10 gold medal events included on a packed and varied program.

The Meadowbank Stadium schedule on the sixth day of the Games, playing so far to packed houses with attendances way above the most optimistic expectations, is rivaled only by the windup program Saturday which is capped by the colorful and spectacular closing ceremony.

But for track purists, today's menu takes some beating. And the highlight of all is that supreme test of fitness and sheer guts, the incomparable marathon in which men drive themselves to the limits of physical endurance.

Pre-event favorite in a very strong field was Eddie Clayton of Australia, the 6-foot-2 draftsman from Victoria who has the world's best marathon time of two hours, eight minutes, 33.6 seconds to his credit.

Ben Hogan Plans To Play In Westchester Classic

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI)—Ben Hogan, who made a two-week reappearance on the golf tour in May, plans to play again next week at the $250,000 Westchester Classic in New York.

Hogan flew to New York today to present a portrait of himself to Golf House—the headquarters of the United States Golf Association.

Following that Hogan said he would play several practice rounds over the Westchester Country Club course in preparation for the tournament.

"I'm putting better," Hogan said Wednesday. "Maybe because I moved the ball forward. It was a nerves thing with me. They're better now. I guess I don't have the same problems I used to have."

Hogan said the knee problem which kept him out of active golf for two years is still with him, but has improved slightly.

Amateur Skiing Status Clearer

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Coach Wally Schaeffler says the nebulous definition of amateur status has been clarified in relation to the United States ski team.

Schaeffler and his skiers, who stopped off here Wednesday en route to a July 30-31 meet in Australia, said several safeguards have been instituted by the U.S. Ski Association to assure that skiers get no personal reward from endorsement of commercial ski equipment.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Divide Capital Outlay For Retirement Fund

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am nearing retirement age and need good safe income. I will have a sizable cash sum from my company, built up over the years. How can I best invest this? — P.W.

A I would favor dividing investment capital — 50 per cent in high-grade bonds for conservation of principal and high yield and 50 per cent in good quality common stocks for possible inflation protection as well as generous income.

In the first category, I would select either five-year notes or five-to-10 year call-protected bonds. Five-year notes such as General Foods 8¾s or RCA 9s sell to yield about 8.1 per cent to maturity. Longer-term issues such as the American Telephone 8¾ per cent debenture or Dow Chemical 8⅞s with 10-year refunding protection are suitable.

For remaining capital, you can select from a broad list of low-multiple, high-yield conservative common stocks. Industries such as utilities, petroleum, telephone, food packaging and distilling offer growth prospects, with (at this time) limited downside risk. I would include American Brands, American Telephone, National Distillers, Pacific Lighting and Standard Oil of California.

Q Recently I overheard the word congenerics when some bankers were talking. What does it mean? — J.C.

A Bankers, I understand, have coined this word to cover the one-bank holding companies which had reached a nationwide total of 890 as of December, 1969, up from 550 at the end of 1965 and 117 at the end of 1955. How soon this new word gets into public usage will probably depend on the stock market's recovery and the extent of public participation therein.

As a corporate innovation, congenerics are evidently here to stay and expand so long as their diversification moves remain "generic" in character. According to legislation now in process, acquisitions must be either related to banking operations or designed to meet some specific need of the bank's customers, if federal regulation of these new holding companies is to be avoided.

Kiel Ship Canal Is Busiest In World

BONN (UPI) — Already handling four times as many ships as the Suez at its peak, the Kiel ship canal, world's busiest, is to be widened and reopened at a cost of 600 million marks ($162 million) to carry still more vessels between the North Sea and the Baltic.

In 1969, an estimated 87,000 ships from 50 countries carrying about 60 million tons of cargo used the canal, the administration reported.

Rail Signals Awarded

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — L.M. Ericsson Telephone Co. has obtained a $10 million contract from the Danish state railways to install automatic and remote control signalling equipment in the Copenhagen area.

ADDITION TO SAN FRANCISCO SKYLINE

This new 600-room tower addition to the St. Francis Hotel will rise 441 feet above street level. It will feature five outside elevators, a huge sky bar and a block-long Japanese garden on the roof of the connecting hotel building. Bethlehem Steel Corp. ironworkers have begun erection of the steel. William L. Pereira and Associates is the architectural firm and Chin and Hensolt are the structural engineers. Dinwiddie Construction Co. is the general contractor.

Leading Banks Said Ready To Help Lockheed

NEW YORK (UPI) — A group of the nation's major banks were reported to have agreed in principle to a big financial package to rescue troubled Lockheed Aircraft Corp.

The New York Times said it had learned the proposed financial aid package is big enough to keep Lockheed in business in substantially its present form. Lockheed presently is the nation's largest single defense contractor.

A spokesman for Lockheed in New York said the Times story "appears to be very close to the banks' attitudes as we know them." He said the company would comment officially later.

The Times said the financial package would run from $300 million to $430 million and that it would have to be guaranteed by the federal government. The Times also said the package will include a controversial $200 million contingency fund to help cover cost overruns on the giant C5A cargo plane program.

New List Published

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Reserve Board has posted a revised list of 390 over-the-counter stocks to which it is applying stock credit or margin rules. Generally the required margin that must be put up by the buyer is 65 per cent.

Peace Hopes For Mideast Lift Stocks

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market got a strong lift near the final bell today from a statement by President Gamal Abdel Nasser that Egypt has accepted the U. S. proposals for a peaceful settlement of the Middle East conflict.

The UPI Marketwide Indicator showed a gain of 0.56 per cent on 1,526 issues crossing the tape. Of these, 679 advanced and 483 declined.

The Dow Jones Industrial Average of 30 selected blue chips was ahead 8.01 at 732.68.

A turnover of over 11 million shares compared with 12,460,000 shares Wednesday.

Some early enthusiasm was provided by a new Viet Cong appeal for U.S. backing of a new coalition government in Saigon.

Analysts described the initial advance was a repetition of Wednesday's "peace rally."

In the latest development, the Viet Cong—with North Vietnam's approval—appealed for U. S. backing of a new coalition government in Saigon.

The newest appeal was regarded as the most optimistic since the deadlocked Paris peace talks began Jan. 19, 1969.

A remark by Arthur F. Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, also provided early support.

Burns told the House-Senate Economic Committee that long-term interest rates have declined in recent weeks, equity prices have made some recovery, and a much calmer atmosphere has come to prevail in financial markets.

Eastman Kodak, which reported lower earnings for the June quarter, was a major feature. It traded a block of 262,900 shares at 65, off 2 1-2, for institutional investors.

Closing quotations included IBM up 3 at 257, Du Pont up 3 1-4 at 122 3-8, Jersey Standard up 1 1-4 at 59 7-8 and General Electric up 1 3-8 at 76.
